We understand arrangements are being perfected for Decoration Day services, but we have not learned what the program is to be, save the one fact that Hon. John W. Long will deliver the address to our people on that occasion, but that one feature will be sufficient to enlist the interest of our people and cause a large turnout, as we have not a more vigorous speaker, nor more earnest, enthusiastic supporter of that greatest day of all days in the history of this greatest of all republics. We are promised a full program of exercises at an early date.

Hon. Theo. Ojendyk of Ashton was doing business in this city last Saturday morning. The Brotherhood banquet last Friday night was a very successful affair, some seventy plates being laid, and the fact that the three-course dinner was served by the wives, sisters and sweethearts of the members, made it as a matter of course a splendid feast. The thanks of the Brotherhood are due in an especial manner to the young ladies of the church for their clarifying and gracious help in waiting on the tables during the hour. Rev. Montgomery acted as toastmaster in a very efficient and pleasing manner, while the toasts delivered by J. S. Pedler and R. J. Nightingale, and several sweet solos by Mrs. Tekla McKinnie, gave splendid finishing touches to the most pleasant evening of the season.

Miss Pearl Keeler arrived home from Seattle, Wash., last Friday evening, accompanied by two of her sisters, Mrs. A. N. Lemonds and Mrs. G. E. Hartford, both of that city, the ladies being called by the quite serious condition of their father, Mr. Geo. Keeler, whose health has been seriously impaired for some months. Miss Keeler is in much better health than when she went to that country about two years since, and shows that the ocean air agrees with her immensely. She, with her sisters, will continue their visit home some months, or until the father's health is improved. Mrs. T. P. Bishop, another sister, who has been here for some time, returned to her home in Boyd county Monday.

Rev. Nels Wickell, a Swedish minister from Hamilton county, and a graduate of the Congregational Theological school of Chicago, gave an address to our Swedish friends at the Baptist church last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and although he only arrived in the city Friday evening, with no previous announcement except by word of mouth, some fifty people were present and listened to a most able address by the eminent divine. Although handicapped by not being up-to-date in knowledge of the Swedish language, in which Rev. Wickell gave his address, the Northwestern was well pleased with the vigorous manner in which he gave the scriptures to his people, and the earnest and undivided attention of his hearers gave evidence of the depth of thought and clear enunciation of the Word of God given to them. Rev. Wickell is a most pleasant gentleman, well educated in ecclesiastical lore and will return here periodically hereafter to hold services, notice of which will be given through the columns of the Northwestern.

The Northwestern calls attention this week to the big advertisement of the Hayhurst-Galloway Hardware Co. By their announcement it will be found that the price of Cream Separators has been cut practically in half to farmers. Heretofore the price of separators has been abnormal, costing in the neighborhood of $75. By their advertisement we see that they have one of the finest cream separators ever placed on the market, which will be delivered free on board cars at Loup City for $45.50, several dollars below the price of any placed before the public by any house in that line of business, to which would have to be added the freight on the same from the headquarters of any such company, thus giving purchasers of separators from Messrs. Hayhurst & Galloway the benefit of not less than $10 to $15 over a machine not nearly so good, and besides have the guarantee of this splendid firm that this is one of the very best and most satisfactory of any before the public eye at the present time. Call in and see these fine separators, and our word for it, proof is ready to support the contention that there never has been a finer separator nor nearly so cheap in price as well as best in quality offered to you anywhere or at any time.

Last week Wednesday evening an empty box car standing on the side-tracks in the U. P. yards here got tired of withstanding the buffeting of old Boreas and took French leave for the east. It transferred itself onto the main track and headed for St. Paul without asking any fool questions as to the right-of-way, and tried to keep ahead of the wind as it were. Reaching Rockville, it did not even whistle for slow-down, but increased its speed, passing through the yards at a mile-a-minute clip, according to advices from the operator, nor did it till it came to the suburbs of Boelus, where it seemed to get that "tired feeling," and having beaten the wind too it came to a stop, making the 22 miles at a speed calculated to make the Overland Motor ill with envy. Another item of interest in connection with this engineering, conductorless, wind-jamming, enterprising box car jaunt is the fact that to the best of the belief of those who are in a position to know, is that at least three Weary Willies, who had encased themselves in the no-scheduled affair, were therein at the time of the almost aeroplane flight, and therefore got a free ride not anticipated nor anxiously sought for, but if so did not stop to give a history of it. Anyway, the Willies were here before, were not here after it was over, and were seen to take sleeping accommodations in the car previous to its involuntary trip.
