

Our Loans.

The loans of this bank amount to about $160,000, which is being used by good, responsible business men and farmers of this community.

This entire sum is only a part of nearly $200,000 of money that belongs to our depositors, $35,000 of capital stock and surplus besides undivided profits, and private resources of stockholders.

In this way, our bank serves the community in a two-fold purpose; safe-guarding their wealth and loaning it out to produce more wealth for the community. This bank has never failed to take care of the needs and interests of its customers, whether depositors or borrowers.

Fatally Kicked by a Colt
W. F. Jenkins, father of Mrs. H. M. Mathew of this city, was kicked in the abdomen by a colt on Tuesday noon of this week, and as we go to press we are informed that he is in a comatose state, and his death is only a matter of a short time. Last night Dr. Longacre of this city was called to the home in the suburbs of Arcadia, for consultation, the physicians agreeing the injury would prove fatal. Mrs. Mathew went to her father's bedside yesterday and R. H. Mathew was up last evening, being up all night with his suffering grandfather, returning this morning. To the many friends of Mrs. Jenkins and R. H. Mathew, the sad news brings sorrow and the hope that the accident will yet be found not fatal.
Last Saturday evening a wrestling match was held at Society hall, which for whirlwind work has not before been equalled in this city. A match had been scheduled for that afternoon between Hans Thiesen, the Dane, and Lee Scott of Ansley, who failed for fourteen minutes the evening was then made between the Dane and Bob Bly, a healthy mat artist from Greeley. There was a preliminary contest between a couple of young scions of the game, Charley May and a young son of Peter Rowe, which was decided for May in a few minutes. The event of the evening was then on, Bly to throw the Dane twice within sixty minutes, the purse being 60 and 40 per cent. At the call of time, the wrestlers sprang to the center of the mat and for fourteen minutes the mix-up was terrific, not a dull second nor let-up in the cyclonic action of each, at the end of which Bly managed to pin the Dane down. The second act was nearly as active, but lasted only eight minutes, the Dane being placed in the same position at the close. There was not a moment when it was not a certainty that Bly would best the Dane, but the slippery Danish lad managed to give the big fellow all he wanted so do while he was at it. Bly was 12 pounds heavier two inches taller and a regular giant in strength, hitting the Dane with the air, swinging him around by one leg as he would a ball bat, but when the Dane reached the mat he cleverly evaded being caught, slipped from his grasp and was ready for another aerial voyage, which he got repeatedly with the same result, till a sudden wrench to one of his legs gave Bly the advantage and it was only a matter of time when the powerful strength of the Greeley man laid him low. At the close of the second fall the Greeley artist was not seemingly winded in the least, while the wily Dane was clearly ready for artificial air. Had Bly been as active as the Dane, with the advantage of his wonderful strength, Thiesen could not have lasted but a few rushes. That Bly is a powerful fellow may be realized when it is known that in a recent wrestling bout he threw a giant of Aurora 25 minutes to throw him. We would like to see Bly tackle one of his equals in strength and science.
The Gibson case last week in the district court resulted in the verdict of a jury that he was not guilty of libeling Nightingale, Minshull and Beushausen, by calling them grafters and fleehers, his attorney insisting the defendant did not for one moment intend such terms to mean as defined by Webster. It is reported that this week Mr. Gibson published a statement purported to be written by Mr. Prince, his attorney, to the effect that he will stop his abuse of certain citizens, and that the war of words which has been carried on through the newspapers of Loup City was ended so far as he is concerned. If this becomes a fact, there will be general rejoicing, and the case will have proved a blessing in that it stops a controversy and useless tirade that has given Sherman county an unenviable notoriety throughout the length and breadth of the state. So far as the Northwestern is concerned, it cut out all part and parcel it may have had in the unpleasant affair over two years since, and does not intend to be provoked in the future to engage in such disreputable stuff. Now if the other papers also cut it out, the evil that has been brought on the county in the past by insinuation, innuendo and accusation calculated to ruin the reputation of our best citizens will become a thing of the past and to a certain extent be forgotten or relegated to the rear, while all work in unison for the upbuilding of the county and her entire citizenship.
Little Frances Hansel is quarantined at the home of J. T. Hale for scarlet fever. The school rooms have been fumigated and the children taken to prevent the spread of the disease. As we go to press this morning, we learn that there are five or six cases reported and that Miss Sullivan's room, where the fever got its start, has been closed for the present.

Death of Pioneer.

Mr. August Schuman, one of the pioneer settlers of Sherman county, died Saturday, the 9th day of April, 1910, at the home of his brother, Emil Schuman, near Ashton, the funeral occurring Monday from the home, Rev. D. W. Montgomery of Loup City officiating, a large number of friends and acquaintances of deceased being present to pay their last respects. Mr. Schuman had been a sufferer for years with dropsy, and had been lingering between life and death a long time. He was born at Liepiz, Germany, Dec. 21, 1816, being aged 93 years, 4 months and 10 days. He came to Sterling, Ills., in 1852, and to Ashton in 1885, in which vicinity he has resided ever since. He leaves to mourn his loss a brother and family in Sherman county and two brothers and a sister in Germany.

Dr. Wilson of New York, a former college chum of Rev. D. W. Montgomery of the Presbyterian church, accompanied the latter home from the church conference at Gibson last Friday and that evening spoke to the congregation along church lines, which was most interesting. He left the following morning for Kansas City, where he had an engagement to lecture.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt P. McKinnie are in Lincoln visiting their cousins, Maes Martha and Lida Turner, and with Mr. H. B. Messer, both Mr. and Mrs. McKinnie are musicians, and were soloists with the Savage grand opera company a few years ago. Mrs. McKinnie was with Madam Schumann-Heink as the leading soprano of the opera company, during the season a few years ago when her company presented "Love's Lottery."—State Journal, April 14.

It was suggested yesterday that injunctions be issued against a few of our citizens who were so nery as to be seen on the street in their shirt sleeves, the alarm being felt they were unnecessarily running the risk of scaring the weather into a return of the unpleasant conditions of the past week. A. Frank was one of the offenders, and even recklessly proposed to hunt up his old straw hat to show his independence. Later—Sure enough: we told you so. The cyclonic wind and prospective storm this morning is undoubtedly due to the rashness of the aforesaid gentleman.

"Who's poisoning the dogs in Loup City by the wholesale?" is a mooted question. Last Friday night the fiend, fiendess, fiends or fiendesses poisoned perhaps a half dozen canines, including Biemond's, Stewart Conger's and Ike McDonald's four-footed friends, and the following night by continuing their heinous work by putting several more out of commission, so that it is reported about twenty canines have been made away with. This is the fourth session of the dog poisoner congress here in the past month, and it seems instead of getting the most worthless curs, the poison has taken the most useful and valuable. It is too bad that the operator could not be discovered and be induced to take at least enough of his own medicine to give him some idea of the suffering he is inflicting on dumb brutes.

One week ago last Saturday, the ladies of the Unity Club and others met in Society hall and organized a society to be known as the "Ladies Aid to the Evergreen Cemetery Association," some forty or fifty of our best women becoming members. Mrs. W. O. Brown was elected president, Mrs. B. T. Snyder vice president, and Mrs. E. B. Corning secretary-treasurer. Mrs. J. S. Pedler and Mrs. L. Hansen were made flower committee and the new association presented the committee with $5 to purchase geraniums and bulbs, and a flag to be put in the center of the cemetery, with piping from the windmill that the same may be properly irrigated. This society is independent of the Unity Club, although the ladies of the latter are and will be members of the same and invitation is extended to all ladies of Loup City to become members. The association, the membership fee to be 50 cents, which will go toward beautifying the cemetery.

The annals of Colonial days contain many tales of the devotion and courage of women, and during the Revolutionary War there were many instances of sacrifices and sufferings. The most interesting of these is the well authenticated story of Virginia Preston, a Colonial belle who, having repelled the suit of Lord Henry Carterton, is arrested and imprisoned as a traitor because of her love for an officer in Washington's forces. This is the theme of William L. Roberts' great play "At Valley Forge," which will be the offering at the opera house, Saturday, April 23, by a carefully selected company headed by Miss Anna Cleaveland, an actress who is already a favorite with the theatrical public. The scenery to be used is all new and specially attractive. The play is staged and costumed with every care as to detail and the period. "At Valley Forge" is a play of Colonial days and of the devotion and courage of a Virginia belle, who suffers much for her country's cause. Her story is well known in history, but it has never been better told than by William L. Roberts in this one of the greatest war dramas ever written. Anna Cleaveland is under the direction of Spofford & Dunworth, who have surrounded her with a capable company of artists.
