

ANOTHER SKEPTIC CONVERTED

The United Doctors Daily Convince Hundreds of Their Great Power in Curing Disease.

Are you a skeptic—has disease fastened his terrible hold on you—have you tried so many doctors that you come to the conclusion that none of them know how to cure a real disease?

If so, you are in a bad way. But don't let your doubts keep you from going to these really great specialists—is the advice of all who know of the great work being done by the United Doctors in their Omaha Institute on the second floor of the Neville Block, corner of Sixteenth and Harney streets.

Here is a letter from Mr. John Neff of 1918 Vinton street, Omaha, Neb., who had given up all hope of ever being well, but he cast aside doubts and went to the United Doctors and now he writes:

Omaha, Neb., March 27, 1916. Dear Doctors: "When I came to the United Doctors I was a complete wreck from asthma. For years I had been so that I could not rest at night, and if I walked a short distance against a moderate wind I would have to sit down and rest to regain my breath. I was scarcely ever able to breathe without great labor, and life was a burden to me. I have been under treatment now with the United Doctors for five months and I must say they have done me worlds of good. It will be some time before I can regain my entire strength, although I can do a fair day's work, right now at the carpenter's trade, and eat and sleep good every day. As for the asthma, that is entirely gone, and I feel that with treatment for a little while longer it will never return.

I am always ready to tell what I know about the United Doctors and their methods, and there is nothing I would not do to help any other sufferer from the affliction of asthma to find the right place for relief."

JOHN NEFF. If you are a skeptic, how are you to be convinced? If testimonials from your friends and neighbors won't convince you, what will? Would you be convinced if you saw the wonderful cures made, saw it with your own eyes? If so, go to the United Doctors, whose Omaha Institute is on the second floor of the Neville Block, corner of Sixteenth and Harney streets, and see it. Their waiting rooms are always crowded with patients from all over the country, who are being quickly cured. A visit to the Institute will convince any skeptic.

Too Much of a Target. Brown—How did you feel, Jones, when the burglar had you covered with his revolver—pretty small, eh? Jones—Small! Great Scott, no! I felt as big as the side of a house.

They Surely Would. A little American boy with his father was visiting a market in a Mexican city. He saw a little native girl with a small basketful of red peppers of which she was eating one. His father was about to say: "She thinks she is very smart," as the son called his attention to it. The boy spoke up quickly, knowing what was to be said. "Pa, would those red peppers make you smart if you eat all of them?" His father replied: "Yes, son."

Willing to Pay for Rammer. When the British square at the battle of Abu Klea, in the Nubian desert, was penetrated by the dervishes, one of them attempted to spear a gunner who was in the act of ramming home a charge. The Briton brained the Sudanese, but the rammer head split on the man's hard skull. Next day the gunner was sent for. Mistaking the reason, and knowing from experience that soldiers are charged for government property which they break, he led off with: "Please, sir, I'm very sorry I broke the rammer, but I never thought the fellow's head could be so hard. I'll pay for the rammer so as to hear no more of the case."

For the Critics. Creston Clark, whose untimely death at Asheville robbed America of a serious and capable actor, was somewhat impatient of criticism. To a Philadelphia critic he once said: "You chaps are unwilling to accept a man for what he is. You want to change him to your own taste. But each of you has a different taste. To whose inclination, then, is he to bend? "No, no! Take the artist for what he is. That is the right critical attitude. Don't be like the farm urchin I once saw—an urchin who, as he stoned a frog to death, repeated severely: "I'll farn ye to be a toad."

FOR USE ON SEA AS WELL AS IN THE AIR

COMBINATION MOTORBOAT AND AEROPLANE

CHIEF among the novelties exhibited at the recent motor boat show at Monaco was the craft here illustrated—a combination motor boat and aeroplane. It is fitted with a 50 horsepower motor and three cylinders, and its inventor claims that it is practicable for use either on the water or in the air, and is capable of developing great speed. His claims were fairly borne out by the performances of the machine at Monaco.

POSTOFFICE IS ODD

Mail Travels 290 Miles to Cross 10-Foot Hall.

After Being Carried in Railroad Car for 24 Hours Letter From Beebe Plain, Vt., Returns to Same Structure.

Beebe Plain, Vt.—The queerest postoffice in North America is probably located here, where a simple wooden building shelters the offices of two countries. The structure is cut diagonally by the Canada line, being almost equally divided by the imaginary boundary. The northern half contains the postoffice of Beebe Plain, Quebec, and the southern half the office of Beebe Plain, Vt. They are separated only by a ten foot corridor, using this passageway and the same door in common. George H. House, postmaster, looks after the mail of the two offices. As a result of red tape in the postal regulations regarding the transfer of mails, a letter mailed at the Vermont office for the Canadian office across the hall travels 290 miles before delivery.

Previous to 1899 the United States postoffice was located in a dwelling house and the Canadian office in a store. In neither case was the service wholly satisfactory, but it seemed to be the best arrangement that could be made. However, in 1899 the idea was conceived of utilizing the old store, located right on the line, for both offices, and finally the present arrangement was perfected so that a most satisfactory service has been provided.

Patrons of the double postoffice can do their postoffice business by making one call. Two doors, one on each side of the line, open into the lobby. The distance between the postoffice boxes of the two countries is ten feet, the international boundary line running through the space between the two sets of boxes. If a letter is by mistake dropped into the wrong letter box it is passed to the right office and sent on its way. A letter posted at Beebe Plain, Vt., for Beebe Plain, Canada, will go north on the Boston & Maine railroad from Beebe Junction, Vt., to White River.

Onions for Sweet People

Negative Food for Positive Persons is Creed of Chicago Vegetarian—Cause of Diseases.

Chicago—If you are a sweet dispositioned person of positive character you can eat onions without the least fear of a tainted breath, because that vegetable, being negative, is your dietetic affinity. By the same token, if you are a strawberry blonde, or a peachy summer girl, you'd better let strawberries and peaches alone. If you don't you are apt to collide with nature's selective law, which makes only opposites attractive.

All this was explained by George J. Drows, A. D. (Doctor of Alimentarism) in a lecture before the Vegetarian society. "People should eat food that agrees with their character," he said. "Persons of positive character should eat negative food, and vice versa. Sour apples don't go well with persons with that sort of a disposition. In like manner, those of sunny character should not eat the sweet fruits."

Dr. Drows painted a word picture of what he called an ideal salad. It consisted of a few leaves of cabbage and lettuce, combined with a few chopped carrots and sweet potatoes, the whole garnished over with a layer of ground nuts and honey.

BOY ACTS AS PASTOR AT 15 Connecticut Youth Licensed to Preach by Methodist Episcopal Church—Refuses Salary.

Waterbury, Conn.—Francis Rollins, fifteen years old, who trudges ten miles every day back and forth from his studies at Torrington high school, has been licensed to preach by the quarterly conference of the New Haven district of the Methodist Episcopal church. Probably the youngest parson in the United States, he is a son of Rev. Edward Rollins, pastor of the Methodist church at Bakersville, and has frequently filled his father's pulpit. "I don't know much about theology," said the boy preacher, "but I believe I know what God wants us to do and what he'll do to us if we don't do it." The Bakersville church has had difficulty in getting a pastor as the small salary it is able to pay—$300 a year. "They needn't pay me anything until I am out of school," says young Rollins.

BRUIN LANDS TROUT

Big Black Bear Arrives at Stream Ahead of Angler.

Old Whipper of Pools in Wilds of Pennsylvania Gets the Surprise of His Life During His Last Angling Expedition.

Cammal, Pa.—The men folk who fished the trout streams of the Pine creek regions during the past few days may boast of their great luck and their fine catches, but a fisherman whom Harvey Splan saw on Spring run, about three miles from this place, the other day made a record all his own. Splan had gone to the head of Spring run before daylight so as to be in at the early cast. He fished for about an hour with indifferent success, as the water was so very clear and so low that it was only in the biggest pools that any results were to be obtained. He finally decided to give up fishing, save for a trial at a big spring that is formed by the head of one of the tributaries of Spring run, a spring that is known to few of the fishermen, as it is nearly 100 yards up a ravine from the main stream, while the creek that tumbles down over the big rocks from it doesn't appear big enough to be worth investigating; hence its infrequent visitations. Splan has always caught trout there, some of the largest ever taken in this region, for the spring is 10 feet across and fully four feet in the pool, so that trout have an excellent opportunity to thrive there.

The other morning he took a cross-cut route to reach the coveted water, going through the woods for a half mile or more, and approaching it from the woods side. He was considerably disconcerted when he crept within sight of the pool to find that somebody had preceded him, and was standing knee deep in the water. He looked again, and to his dismay he discerned that the angler was not a man, as he had thought, but a big black bear, that stood almost as high as a man. The animal was standing as quietly as if he were made of stone, and intent in studying the depths of the pool to one side of him. As Splan watched him he saw the bear's paw shoot out and into the water, and the next instant a fine trout was whisked out of the pool and went flying on to the bank. Without so much as looking where the captured fish had alighted, the bear resumed his stately pose, and remained in that fixed position for several minutes, when he repeated the diving process and another trout as large as the first was landed on the bank.

Splan determined that the bear should not deplete the favorite pool, yelled at the animal and flung a stick toward him, which sent Bruin scurrying into the bushes without even so much as stopping to find his caught fish. But once the bear was out of sight Splan hurried to where the fish were flapping themselves to death in the leaves and confiscated the prizes.

Then, fearing that the bear might return and put up a fight, Splan concluded to scoot. But he played fair with Bruin. Taking the lunch of sandwiches and cookies that his wife had placed in a bundle for him that morning, he placed the food on the edge of a rock just where the bear had thrown his trout far out upon the ground, thus assuring to the bear, if he returned, a more delicious and appetizing meal than the trout would have been.

IN HIGH SOCIETY.

The Valuable Match.

There was a loud splash, and a moment later a dripping head appeared above the waves. On the end of the dock was a stevedore nonchalantly lighting his pipe.

"Help, man!" cried the chap in the water. "Can't you see I am overboard? I can't swim."

"How often have you been down?" asked the stevedore, shielding the flickering match from the wind.

"Once, I believe, but hurry up, man! Give me a hand!"

"You wait! You have two more times yet to go down, and I have only one match. I'll catch you on the last trip."—Exchange.

A Quick Cat. Some years ago the proprietor of a hotel in southern New Hampshire told the following story: He said that when he was a boy he had occasion to go into the garret of his house one morning and that the family cat followed him up the stairs. One of the windows was open, and when they entered the garret a frightened mouse jumped out of the window, and the cat, jumping after it, caught it in mid-air and, whirling round, jumped back again into the same window.

Wedding Fee Counterfeit. A well-dressed stranger entered the office of Justice William B. Williams, Montclair, N. Two years ago I called on you with my girl and two witnesses and you married us. I handed you a $10 bill. I had a counterfeit in my pocketbook that I'd carried for several years. I never missed it until yesterday. Then I remembered that I'd accidentally handed you the bill." The caller produced a good $10 bill, but the justice refused to take it. "Don't let that worry you, my dear fellow," he laughed. "I never knew it was a counterfeit. No kind of money sticks to me over night. I'm married, myself."

AFRAID OF GHOSTS

Many people are afraid of ghosts. Few people are afraid of germs. Yet the ghost is a fancy and the germ is a fact. If the germ could be magnified to a size equal to its terrors it would appear more terrible than any fire-breathing dragon. Germs can't be avoided. They are in the air we breathe, and in the water we drink.

The germ can only prosper when the condition of the system gives it free scope to establish itself and develop. When there is a deficiency of vital force, languor, restlessness, a sallow cheek, a hollow eye, when the appetite is poor and the sleep is broken, it is time to guard against the germ. You can fortify the body against all germs by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It increases the vital power, cleanses the system of clogging impurities, enriches the blood, puts the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition in working condition, so that the germ finds no weak or tainted spot in which to breed.

"Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients printed on its outside wrapper. It is not a secret nostrum but a medicine of known composition and with a record of 40 years of cure. Accept no substitute—there is nothing "just as good." Ask your neighbors.
