

Something New!

The FIRST NATIONAL BANK of Loup City hereby gives notice that they have purchased one of the world famous "TISCO" Manganese Steel Sales, recently tested at Canton, Ohio, in the presence of one of their officers by experts cunning in the art of Burglary.

Also, that they have ordered a new system of SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES to be placed in their strictly fire proof vaults as soon as received from the factory.

Further notice will be published in this space within a few weeks that this new equipment has arrived and we then promise to show our friends and the public one of the best protected banks in the state of Nebraska.

Yours respectfully,

L. HANSEN, Cashier.

Rockville Items

Prof. Currier and Banker Dwehous and families Sunday at H. Bush-house. After a few days' lay-off on account of shortage of material, the masons are again at work on the new brick block. T. H. Lay had business at Ravenna Wednesday.

H. W. Wilson is now nicely located in the Ed Gray mansion and is at home to old and new friends.

C. Nielsen's little son, Howard, had a serious accident last Saturday during the progress of Mr. Nielsen's auction. He was playing with some children, when their cow, which was picketed nearby got loose, and in attempting to tie her up Howard got the rope twisted around his arms and neck and was dragged around the yard several times before he was rescued. He is doing finely, and will soon be his jolly self again.

Dr. Dickerson has purchased a fine auto. Next.

Ask Prof. Currier how it feels to be fastened in a dark cave, with "spooks."

Clyde Wilson was in town Saturday and Monday, accompanied by Will Henskens, moving Mr. Wilson over from Ashton.

Mrs. T. D. Wilson returned from Iowa Tuesday, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Carns, who will spend the winter with her.

Tom Lev says to fill up your coal bins early and avoid the rush.

Mrs. Lambert is supplying Rockville ladies with up-to-date hats, and judging by the crowd, the prices and styles are O. K.

Hans Helkne threshed last week, his wheat being good for 33 bushels to the acre. How is that?

Will Miller has his auto on the road every day, and twice a day some days.

Our postmaster is very obliging, but says pay up your box rent.

Mrs. Mathew can provide you with new and stylish coats, skirts and hats. Prices reasonable; quality and fit the very best.

Mrs. Fred Pritchard returned last Thursday from Carter county, where she was called by the shooting of a younger brother a few weeks' since, and who is now recovering.

We received a pleasant call yesterday from A. G. Youngquist, formerly of Aurora, but now a great and good real estate magnate of Water- town, S. D., who is here for a few days visiting his relatives and friends.

Ed was accompanied by an old chum, C. O. Anderson of Denver, who is with the Pioneer Irrigation Co. of that splendid mountain city.

J. W. Conger, past chief patriarch, and Rev. W. C. Harper, past chief priest of our local I. O. O. F. Encampment, are the accredited delegates to the grand Encampment to be held at Lincoln next Tuesday and leave Monday morning to be in attendance. We understand Bert Flebig and W. J. Fisher are the delegates to the Grand Lodge I. O. O. F., which meets in Lincoln on the same dates.

Stewart Conger wishes the Northwestern to extend for him his earnest thanks to the people of Loup City for the very generous patronage they have accorded him during the time he has been engaged in the transfer business in this city and trusts they will extend the same courtesies to Messrs. Bradford & Hendrickson, who have purchased the transfer outfit and will give our people the best of service.

Saturday she will leave there for Custer d'Alene, Idaho, to visit her daughter, Mrs. Frank Hiler, and family, where she expects to remain over the winter, and from there will go to Los Angeles, Cal., to visit with a sister and other relatives. She may be absent a year. May the little old lady have the most pleasant time of her life.

If you want to see some of the finest corn ever grown in Sherman county, call and see the collection at Conchiser's from the farm of Adolph Bettenmayer, a few miles south of town. They are average samples of corn Adolph is raising and shows what can be raised on Sherman county land by proper seeding and careful cultivation, the ears being large, full and firm, and the kernels large and closely knit. Adolph may well be proud of the showing.

Edgar Draper went to Palmer Monday morning and that evening brought home with him Mrs. Draper, who met with the fearful accident in an auto some three weeks since, whereby her left forearm was so badly broken in three places that the bones came through the flesh and penetrated the ground, when she was thrown from the machine when it ran off a culvert. J. P. Leininger with his auto brought the injured woman from the depot to her home, she being in an exhausted state from the ride home in the cars. Her back also being injured in the accident, she is unable to sit up, but a little while at a time. It is sincerely hoped she may speedily recover.

In Memoriam

Mrs. J. M. Young died at her home in Loup City last Friday morning, Oct. 7, 1914, aged 72 years, 10 months and 10 days. Funeral services were held at the Presbyterian church Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Montgomery officiating, after which her remains were interred in Evergreen cemetery.

Birch S. McKinley was born Nov. 27, 1837, and married John Madison Young Feb. 22, 1858, at Nashville, Tenn., to this union there were born two sons, James and Robert, and one daughter, Miss Henry. The son James died about 25 years ago and the husband something over five years ago, Robert and Miss Henry survive to mourn the loss of a kind, indulgent and affectionate father and mother. Mr. and Mrs. Young were pioneers, coming to this county about 12 years ago, settling on a claim about nine miles up the valley, where they resided until some time after moving up on the claim, then moving to Loup City, where they resided during the remainder of their lives. About 12 years ago Mrs. Young was the victim of an accident, as a result of which she was a constant sufferer, until death removed her from the cares of this transitory existence.

In those pioneer days the names of Colonel and Mrs. Young were familiar in many of the homes in Sherman and adjoining counties, their home being a convenient stopping place for the inhabitants on their long and tiresome journey to and from market, and no weary traveler ever came to their home without a word late to be welcomed and cheered by the comical, and congenial originality of the Colonel and the kindly ministrations of Mrs. Young, and their memory will ever be green in the minds of those who participated in their generous hospitality. The neighbors and friends all join with the pioneer, in that, as their hospitality was as boundless as the wants of their fellow creatures, so shall be their reward. The surviving and only daughter was named out of respect to Henry Clay, who was a warm friend of the Young and McKinley families, and Mr. Young one day in recalling an instance in which the southern statesman befriended him when a mere boy, and like the knights of old believed gratitude to be the noblest virtue that warms the heart of man, said to his wife, "Mama, in case our next child is a boy, let us name him Henry Clay," to which his wife replied, "Young we will name it Henry Clay, whether it is a boy or not," which resulted in the daughter being named Henry Clay Young, "Uncle Troy" and "Auntie" Hale, as Miss Henry calls them, have watched the daily life of this girl in caring for her father and invalid mother for fifteen years, and have made up their minds that she is worthy of their warmest friendship and have invited her to share their commodious home at her pleasure. Robert and Miss Henry desire to thank all who so kindly assisted them in caring for their dear mother during her years of patient suffering.
