Bad Case of Catarrh and Other Complications. Fully Restored by Peruna.

Mr. Chas. L. Sauer.

Mr. Chas. L. Sauer, Grand Scribe, Grand Encampment 1, O. O. F. of Texas, writes from San Antonio, Texas: "Nearly two years ago I accepted a position as secretary and treasurer of one of the leading dry goods establishments of Galveston, Texas. The sudden change from a high and dry altitude to sea level proved too much for me and I became afflicted with catarrh and cold in the head, and general debility to such an extent as to almost incapacitate me for attending to my duties."

"I was induced to try Peruna, and after taking several bottles in small doses I am pleased to say I was entirely restored to my former normal condition and have ever since recommended the use of Peruna to my friends."

LOVE AND THE AEROPLANE

Some Good Advice for Those Daring Mortals Who Would Do Their Courting Aloft.

Secure a nice roomy aeroplane, and place in it an old-fashioned sofa or armchair. Then put the girl in, get in yourself and turn on the power.

Do not be in any hurry. Get far enough up so that you can be preoccupied for a few moments without landing.

It is just as well to strap the girl in. She can't get away, of course, but you can kiss a girl in an aeroplane much easier if she is firmly secured.

Always keep one hand on the steering apparatus and the other on the girl, but if worst comes to worst, let go the steering apparatus.

The following schedule, if adhered to, will prevent ordinary accidents:

Five hundred feet up, hold girl's hand.

Six hundred feet up, arm around her waist.

Seven hundred feet, drop everything and hold girl, working steering apparatus with both feet.

Be careful, when you alight, not to come down near a church. In the excitement of the occasion you may forget yourself and marry the girl. Many fatal accidents have resulted in this manner—Puck.

A Little Mixed.
Admiral Evans, at a luncheon in San Francisco, said of a naval policy he disliked:

"It is mixed and illogical. It reminds me of Bob Backstay, who became engineer on a submarine."

"Bob," said a friend, "don't you find it dangerous work, this knocking about in a submarine deep beneath the sea?"

"Yes, very dangerous," Backstay admitted, "but a man's got to do something, you know, to keep his head above water."

A Poultry Problem.
"Which is correct," ask the summer boarder who wished to air his knowledge, "to speak of a sitting hen or a setting hen?"

"I don't know," replied the farmer's wife, "and what's more, I don't care. But there's one thing I would like to know: when a hen cackles, has she been laying, or is she lying?"

"I do management of a laundry."

Taskent, Russian Turkey—Further reports from the earthquake zone indicate that the damage to Przhevalsk, in the territory of Semirechensk, was comparatively slight, but that many lives were lost through landslides on the roads to that place.

Some Silk Statistics.
Washington—Milady of the United States seems to evince a particular desire for silk, and from figures cited by the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor her wardrobe is evidently well stocked. The importations of silk in 1910 exceeded those of any earlier year, amounting in round figures, according to the report, to 25,000,000 pounds, valued at $79,000,000. From this report, says the mills of the United States will turn out more than $150,000,000 worth of finished products.

Carried in Diplomatic Bill.
Washington—Between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000 will be carried in the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill, which the house committee on foreign affairs will report this week. The measure will be taken up for the first time at a meeting of the committee Monday when Secretary of State Knox will appear to explain the estimates he has submitted for the state department, and Miss Mabel Boardman, of the National Red Cross society, will discuss the financial assistance to that organization.

THE PANAMA CANAL

IT MAY BE FORTIFIED SAYS MR. FORAKER.

RIGHT TO POLICE WAS GIVEN

Ex-Senator Describes How Treaty Was Made and What Understanding Was Reached.

Washington—A contribution designed to clarify the confused situation which has arisen over the right of the United States to fortify the Panama canal was submitted by former Senator Foraker of Ohio to President Taft, who made it public.

Throughout the period in which the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was negotiated and ratified Senator Foraker advised with John Hay, then secretary of state, and made many of the suggestions which were incorporated in the treaty preserving to this government the right to take such means as it deemed necessary to protect the canal property and shipping without specifically authorizing fortifications.

Senator Foraker's letter to President Taft reviews the acts of the senate in connection with treaty making with England and laws passed subsequently to the ratification of the existing Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The letter tells of the ratification of a treaty by the senate Dec. 20, 1900, which was rejected by the British government.

When it was presented to the senate it contained a provision against fortification and there was much criticism of Secretary Hay because of that fact. The convention was amended in accordance with public sentiment and after severe criticism of Mr. Hay were renewed.

Mr. Hay was greatly disturbed by the attitude of newspapers, and Senator Foraker said he received a call from him one Sunday morning and the seemed distressed and discouraged. He showed Senator Foraker a letter from Lord Lansdowne indicating that it would not be worth while to make an effort to negotiate another canal treaty unless provision was made therein for the settlement of the pending controversy between the United States and Canada. Mr. Hay regarded such a treaty as impossible and thought it barred further progress with respect to the canal.

Drifting into a general discussion of the whole subject, Senator Foraker and Secretary Hay, it appears, agreed that it would be idle to undertake to secure the ratification of any treaty that daily prohibited fortification by the United States or involved the government in any obligation to consult any other power regarding protection of its own property. Senator Foraker suggested several changes from the convention which had been rejected by Great Britain, among them new matter, and some transpositions that would soften the effect.

Honduran Rebellion Has Not Yet Reached Mainland.

Washington—The island of Ruatan, off the coast of Honduras, is held by the Honduran revolutionists, according to cable advice received at the state department from American Consul Dawson at Puerto Cortez. The United States gunboat Tacoma is investigating. It is evident from the dispatch that the revolutionists have not begun their work on the mainland. The Hornet is reported at Ruatan.

Chevalley had been ill for some time and Saturday his condition became worse. His mother was called on the telephone in Albany and was told her son was dying. Mrs. Chevalley, misunderstanding the message, thought her son was dead and sent the undertaker to the house.

MANY DEATHS IN 1910 IN PRIZE RING

Owen Moran, English Lightweight.

The year 1910 saw more fatalities in the prize ring than any other year in the history of fistfights from the days of Jim Figg, the founder of pugilism, down. The list of deaths reaches the unusually high number of 16.

The death at Presque Isle, Me., recently of Billy Dunningham made the sixteenth fatality of the prize ring in 1910, while there are at least two other boxers now lying at death's point in hospitals, one being the veteran Andy Daly, famous ten years ago.

These fatalities of the prize ring have extended from the eastern coast of Maine to the Pacific ocean and as far south as Bluefields, Nicaragua, where a corporal in Uncle Sam's service met his death in a friendly contest with the gloves. In the past two or three deaths in a season from boxing have been sufficient to attract general attention, while many years not a single prize ring fatality has been reported.

George Sutton, the Chicago billiardist, has challenged Willie Hoppe for the championship, and these two cue experts are expected to meet before long and fight for mastery. Sutton had not been in good health for some time. He is noted for the long brilliant runs which he executes on the green cloth table. He has defeated Hoppe, Slosson, Cutler and all of the other cue stars in matches and has held the title of world's champion. He is Hoppe's strongest rival in the game today. Billiard lovers will await his match with Hoppe with keen interest.

Cy Falkenburg, the tallest human being in the American league, is to quit smoking in order to put on weight.

These days of trials are often given to us to test our moral strength in order to fit us for future responsibilities, and if we could but realize their significance at the time, and the part they are destined to play in rounding out the rough edges of our character, the lessons they teach would not seem so unnecessary or the pain they cause so needless. Each heart knows its own sorrow, each life its own regrets, and we were to try and measure the woes of this world by the same standard our calculations would prove nothing for the simple reason that a rule of conduct which applies to one individual cannot always govern another.

The trials which others have to endure sometimes seem rather trivial when contrasted with our own weighty cares, and yet it is not possible for us from the far-removed heights of our observations to have any clear conception of what those trials may really mean.

Swimming Popular at Yale.

Swimming is the most popular form of athletics at Yale, according to the report of Prof. William G. Anderson, director of the university gymnasium. Of the thirty-three hundred students enrolled at Yale nearly two thousand take part in some branch of athletics.

The men are divided among the various sports as follows: Swimming, 600; squash, 150; lawn tennis, 115; handball, 100; rowing, 80; football, 30; cross-country running, 75; track athletics, 65; basketball, 40; baseball, 25; soccer football, 35; golf, 20; gymnastics, 25; fencing, 15; boxing, 40; wrestling, 40; bowling, 70; and trap shooting, 25.

Cornell Plans Better Football.

In making plans for the next football season the Cornell athletic officers are considering a football game with Syracuse. Athletic relations were broken by the two institutions many years ago. It is thought that it would be a good plan to substitute Syracuse for Harvard, and some people here believe Harvard would play Princeton in such an event.

REAL START WAS AT OMAHA

By JOHN PFIESTER.

(Copyright, 1910, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The way I got my start in professional baseball was funny. A manager saw me make three base hits in a game and tempted me to go out into the minor leagues. He informed me he didn't think much of my pitching, but wanted me for my hitting. Those who do not understand the joke please refer to the batting averages.

I was pitching in the "bottoms" at Cincinnati and working at my trade. I preferred pitching to working at the trade in those days. In fact as I was born and raised within a short distance of the National League park I had the "baseball bug" by the time I was old enough to go to school, and school and baseball conflicted for a long time. I landed finally with the Shamrocks, one of the star semi-professional teams of the city, and after hopping in and out of the minors and up and down from the big league I finally landed at Omaha, where I made what I regard as my real start. Before that I had been failing more through lack of experience than anything else and under Bill Rourke I got about all the experience and work anyone needed. I worked every other day and in a lot of double headers.

It was at Omaha that I began to see the big possibilities of pitching and I realized that if I was going to get along in the game I would have to do a lot of work and studying. I found I had been using myself and my arm up uselessly and altered my pitching style so as to get the most on the ball at the least expense to the "salary whip." In other words, I began to make my head help my arm—and from that time on I was a much better pitcher.

I had been tried so many places that a lot of the scouts and others who were seeking pitchers began to pass me over without a thought, assuming I wouldn't do because I hadn't done.

At any rate I was in a funny position. I had a non-reserve contract so that at the end of the season I would be at liberty to sign with any team I chose—providing it wanted me. The Chicago team scouts had noticed the change in my pitching style and came after me. I did not know it, because I was not told, for some time. Finally I was brought to Chicago by my manager, and sold myself to the Chicago club. I had wanted to join Chicago for some time and was ready to sell myself cheap to get there.

Weak Heart

Many people suffer from weak hearts. They may experience shortness of breath on exertion, pain over the heart or dizzy feelings, oppressed breathing after meals or their eyes become blurred, their heart is not sufficiently strong to pump blood to the extremities, and they have cold hands and feet, or poor appetite because of weakened blood supply to the stomach. A heart tonic and alterative should be taken to the stomach. Such is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which contains no dangerous narcotics nor alcohol.

The ingredients, as attested under oath, are Stone root (Collinsonia canadensis), Bloodroot (Sanguinaria canadensis), Golden Seal root (Hydrastis canadensis), Queen's root (Siliqua Syriaca), Black Cherry bark (Prunus virginiana), Mandrake root (Podophyllum peltatum), with triple refined glycerine, prepared in a scientific laboratory in a way that no druggist could imitate.

This tonic contains no alcohol to shrink up the red blood corpuscles; but, on the other hand, it increases their number and they become round and healthy. It helps the human system in the constant manufacture of rich, red blood. It helps the stomach to assimilate or take up the proper elements from the food, thereby helping digestion and curing dyspepsia, heart-burn and many uncomfortable symptoms, stops excessive tissue waste in convalescence from fevers; for the run-down, anemic, thin-blooded people, the "Discovery" is refreshing and vitalizing. Stick to this safe and sane remedy, and refuse all "just as good" medicines offered by the druggist who is looking for a larger profit. Nothing but Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do you half as much good.

Funds to Fight Tuberculosis.

Based on reports from all parts of the United States the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis has issued a statement which shows that in 1910 nearly $15,000,000 was spent in the fight against tuberculosis, as opposed to $8,000,000 spent in 1909. The largest item of expense in 1910 was for treatment in sanatoria and hospitals, $11,376,500 being expended for that purpose, or more than double the amount for 1909.

The anti-tuberculosis associations spent $760,500, and the tuberculosis dispensaries $889,000. The special municipal and state expenditures aggregated $1,750,000.

The statement declares that the most significant fact in the survey of the year's work is the increase in the percentage of public money spent. While in 1909 53.5 per cent of the total expenditure was from federal, state, municipal or county funds, 62.6 per cent came from public appropriations in 1910. The actual amount of public money spent in tuberculosis work this past year was $9,267,900, or more than double the amount from the same source in 1909. This fact indicates the national association declares, that anti-tuberculosis associations are gaining ground, by securing increased appropriations from public money.
