The senate last week killed the bill of pardons bill, one of the best bills so far offered in that body.

The mayor of Seattle has been ousted from office for promoting the kind of a town advocated by Dahlman. The women, who have lately been given the privilege of the ballot, did the ousting.

Mayor Dahlman has a proposed bill to introduce in the legislature changing the 8 o'clock hour law making it optional with saloon towns when the hour for closing shall be any hour before midnight, as they shall elect. Will he get a Prince to introduce it?

A bill has been introduced in the legislature to prohibit candidates from hiring vehicles on election days to take voters to the polls. Let it pass and then make a law compelling all voters to exercise their right of franchise, excusing only such voters as are not able to get to the voting places, either through sickness or absence from any other unavoidable causes.

One of the last acts of Gov. Shallenger was to parole a murderer named Stout, who was sent up from Hall county some months since for brutally beating to death an elderly farm hand who was working for him. Such a commotion was raised over it and the unfitness of the parole of the brute was so evident that Gov. Aldrich last week revoked the Shallenger act and placed Stout back where he belongs.

The people of Kearney and especially The Hub of that city, have had seventeen kinds of fits the past week, because Representative Bassett, from that county voted against the one-sided and manifestly unfair bill for capital removal, and The Hub even went so far as to valorously call upon Mr. Bassett to resign his place in the legislature, in which it claimed he had proved a traitor to his constituents. On the other hand, Representative Bassett found no sentiment in favor of removal outside of Kearney, and the bill being unfair, anyway, shot a hole in it. But why does Kearney want to be a suburb of the capital city, as it sure would be in event of its removal, which would undoubtedly be to Grand Island.

Big "dollar" dinners are all the rage nowadays by worshippers at the shrine of some "big man" for whom they are little lickspittles and want to stand in with. Another of these "grand" functions is advertised for the evening of March 20, at Lincoln, in honor of William Jennings Bryan, and papers throughout the state have received letters asking them to give the event gratis editorial notice, and here's our answer. The many admirers of Bryan throughout the state are asked to pay their own fare to Lincoln and a dollar of their hard-earned money for a plate, that they may sit at a table and enjoy gazing on their hero, who has coined into a handsome fortune the same fool worship. But then, what's the use? There's plenty of fellows who like to get into the game. But really, isn't it ridiculous.

Last week Wednesday the senate passed the capital removal bill by a small margin and the house on Friday threw it over the transom by a vote of 58 to 38. Our Sherman county representative, W. S. Waite, evidently got a hunch from home that there was no perceptible sentiment for the bill for which he had been one of the 27 sponsors, and voted against the bill, sending up the explanation that after a consideration of its merits he considered it an unfair proposition, as did several other sponsors of the Dahlman affair. Even Bassett of Buffalo denounced the "wet" attempt and stated outside of Kearney he had found no sentiment for capital removal. Prince of Grand Island immediately announced another removal bill would be forthcoming eliminating some of the objectionable features and allowing the entire state to compete. The anything-to-beat-Lincoln combine are a hot bunch.

Gee-whiz, but the present house has some brave(?) legislators. The other day, Grossman of Douglas wanted to pulverize Poulson, the anti-saloon league chief, because the latter dared to send him a circular letter, and while he was sticking the missile under the Poulson proboscis and making the air redolent with "big" stuff, laden with choicest "hell's half acre" language, "Me-too Leighton" of Otoe, desiring to play Platt to Grossman's Roscoe Conkling, jumped around the two like a flea, urging Grossman to "punch him one, just for luck," and trying to imitate the rage of his Douglas county master. Finally peace was proclaimed by the sergeant-at-arms of the house removing the anti-saloon speaker from the war zone. Later Poulson had a warrant issued for the arrest of Grossman and his "Me-too" for the great danger(?) he had luckily escaped from, but when the valiant constable arrived at the house the two proposed legislative thugs hid behind their legislative barrier, which insulates members of that wonderful body for arrest during the session and for fifteen days thereafter, and Frank Harrison's pet friend(?) was persuaded to drop the accusation for the present. The whole incident cannot be looked upon with pride as an historic occurrence. The house may have to put manacles on some of its bloodthirsty members or place a platoon of police around the sacred person of Poulson. But the above bloodless war was only a first-ouster of Grossman and "Me-too." A Douglas member of that committee meeting wanted to make hash out of Taylor of Merrick, who is a beloved newspaper man of Central City, when at home, but who descended from that high pedestal for three months to serve his people in the Nebraska house, and all because Taylor took issue with the bruiser-duet over the Scheele-Wertman contest from York county, but Taylor's "shooting-stick" and "make-up" saved him from getting his "form pied," and now an entire state is waiting in breathless suspense as to whom they will yell, "you're next."

Route No. 1

Mrs. S. S. Reynolds is recovering from an attack of la grippe. Mrs. F. A. Pinckney has been ill with la grippe the past two weeks. Miss Jennie Henriksen is working in town now. Chris Jwink shipped a car of fat cattle to the South Omaha markets last week. L. Domgard will have a sale Feb. 24th, after which he intends to move to town and start a laundry, if he can find a suitable location. Frank Zwick is putting a furnace in his new house. J. A. Summers expects to leave for his new home at Almeria about the 1st of March. Miss Elma Corning is teaching again this week, after a week's absence on account of illness. Vergil Weller is going to farm the place formerly farmed by Joe Krouse. Art Kowalewski started to work for Dr. Chase Tuesday. E. B. Corning finished picking his corn Tuesday. John Foy is helping Joe Blaschke haul hay this week. Ross Hager is doing quite a little trapping over on Clear Creek this winter. Joe Tuzcek is erecting new buildings on his place southwest of John Warrick's.

Austin Scribbles

Will Hadcock is on the sick list. Orin Goodell is preparing to move to Alma, Neb., soon. Raymond Oltman is going around on crutches, a horse having fallen on his foot and hurting it badly. Homer Ogle intends to buy an auto soon. We suppose he will take all the girls riding then. Mr. Hill's and Mr. Daddow's families are nearly all down with gripe. Paul Gilmore has purchased a DeLaval cream separator. Miss Wilma Foss called on Rhea Rentrow Saturday, and found her much better. Mrs. Carl Keeier and family are staying with her sister, Mrs. Ida Ogle, for a while. George Jackson lost a very valuable horse last Monday. Miss Rhea Rentrow was compelled on account of la grippe to close her school the latter part of last week. A very pleasant time was had at Mrs. John Gilmore's last Friday, some 20 neighbors helping her quilt almost two quilts. A very nice dinner was served. S. Foss and son took a wild goose trip over on Wiggie Creek Tuesday, and ended up at Loup City. Mrs. Chas. Barnes is again able to be out, and was over and took dinner Sunday with Pa and Ma Foss.

Moon Creek Items

Miss Cora Fross returned home last Wednesday evening from her visit in Hamilton county. Some farmers from our neighborhood are expecting to attend the Farmer's Institute today (Wednesday). Watch next week's news items for the announcement of our next W. C. T. U. medal contest, which will be both oratorical and musical. Roy Fross made a short trip to Hamilton county last week. Edith Ward started to school last Monday. We are preparing for a program and box social to be held soon. We enjoyed a Valentine box. Representative Quackenbush has introduced a bill in the lower house making it unlawful for a minor under 18 years of age to use tobacco. Quack!

Farmers' Institute

The Farmers' Institute met at the court house yesterday afternoon and had quite an interesting session, continuing the same at the Methodist church last evening, a goodly number of farmers being present at both sessions. The ladies' department of the institute had a session at the M. E. church in the afternoon. The Tingley (Ia.) Vindicator in a recent issue advertised big loads of cobs at 25c per load. That looks cheap besides the $2 and $2.25 per load asked here.

Farmers' Elevator

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Sherman County Grain, Coal, Lumber and Livestock Association, will be held at the court house in Loup City, on Saturday, Feb. 25th, at 2 o'clock p. m., at which time all general business will be transacted, officers elected, and the adjustment of the indebtedness and disposal of the elevator will be made a special order of business. R. D. HENDRICKSON, Secretary.

'NOT?' The Mutual Supply Co. NOR SEARS - ROEBUCK BUT One of Your Home Merchants

We are going to show you what what we are going to do. Now watch and compare prices with any of your Mail Order houses, and add freight from where you buy, and see if we cannot save you money on most any article mentioned below, and besides we guarantee every article we send out.

Now let us work together. First, we save you freight on your goods; next, we help you in paying taxes. On which one of these things does the mail order house help you?

You may not like your merchant, but without the home merchant, what would your town be? No, friends; to make a good town and a good, prosperous county, we must work together, and when you buy your goods at home, you are doing your part, and then the merchants must do their part, which helps to raise the price on your land.
