Doctors Disagree

on Dread Disease

Last Friday evening, Bessie, the ten year old son of C. B. Haines, living in the northeast part of town died after a short illness and was given a private burial Monday morning. Saturday morning a second son of Mr. Haines was found very ill, with the same symptoms as that of the deceased boy. The case was diagnosed by one of our leading physicians as a case of poliomyelitis, or infantile paralysis, the sick child recovering. On his advice, the remaining children were sent to the home of relatives near Rockville as a preventive of their also being taken with the disease. Wednesday morning word was received from Dr.
Dickinson of that village, that one of the children, the eldest girl, was ill with what he diagnosed as infantile paralysis, thus corroborating the diagnosis of our local physician.
Still later, it is reported on the streets that the mother is also ill with the same disease. It is but fair to state that the puzzled physician confesses he is puzzled over the peculiar symptoms of the disease, but is not willing to concede it to be poliomyelitis, and Dr. Lee of Arcadia, who was called here to diagnose the illness of the second boy, also refused to concede it to be that disease, which had prevailed to an alarming extent in and around Arcadia a year ago last summer. Thus it will be seen that there is an honest difference of opinion among the medical practitioners, and our people, with one accord can only hope it may not be the dread disease above noted.

All you had to say the past week was "Who got the short-arm jolt?" to cause an appreciative grin to spread over the face of the listener.

The Wyoming governor voted the law passed by the Legislature allowing prize fighting. In Washington also, the women set their dainty slippers down on a law of the same kind.

It is stated that Carrie Nation of hatchet fame who is in a sanitarium in Kansas has lost her mind. And some people will be unkind enough to suggest she could not have lost what she never had.

City election comes one week from next Tuesday, April 4th. The question of saloons or no saloons will be threshed over again, with the same probable results, as the "wets" have a big working majority.

Down in Kentucky a bill has been introduced in the legislature to abolish the hip pockets of the male population, which a legislator insists is never used by a Kentuckian except for a gun or bottle. The idea!

and it begins to look like spring was here, as the grass and wheat are killed in places and needs rain badly.
