The fact that both of board instructed the principal to stop the great political parties are divided is no longer denied and the leaders appear to have little hope of restoring anything more than surface harmony.

There are virtually four parties each with a large representation working at odds in the present session. The republican minority of the house is divided between regulars and insurgents as was evidenced by the vote in the speakership contest The breach between these two factions is even wider in the republican majority of the senate.

A sharp line has been drawn be tween the conservative democrats of the senate, who are opposed to any attempt at dictation by William Jennings Bryan and the progressive dem ocrats, including practically all of the new members and several veterans like Senator Stone of Missouri, who are Bryan adherents. The house dem ocratic majority seems to have escaped a break, but the leaders fear the party contest in the senate may at any time spread to the other branch. The situation has interfered with the selection of committees and the beginning of legislative work. Probably there never has been a

So far as the administration pro gram is concerned there is no room now technically in effect, the mandate for speculation. President Taft has recommended the enactment of legislation to carry out provisions of the Canadian reciprocity agreement, and it is no secret he would be glad to have congress stop at that and defer the question of further revision until the regular session assembles next all. winter. President Tells of Negotiations Leading to the Canadian Agreement, and Asks Early Action Confirming the Pact.

Washington, April 5.-President Taft's message to the 62nd congress in extraordinary session was transmitted to both branches of congress today. The message in full was as Iollows:

To the senate and house of tepresentatives: I transmitted to the sixty-first congress on January 6th, last, the text of the reciprocity trade igreement which had been negotiated under my direction by the secretary of state with the representatives of the Dominion of Canada. This agreement was the consummation of earnest efforts extending over a period of nearly a year, on the part of both governments to effect a trade arrangement which, supplementing as It did the amicable settlement of various questions of a diplomatic and political character that had been reached, would mutually promote commerce and would strengthen the friendly relations now existing.

The agreement in its intent and in its terms was purely economic and commercial. While the general subject was under discussion by the commissioners, I felt assured that the sentiment of the people of the United States was such that they would welcome a measure which would result In the increase of trade on both sides of the boundary line, would open up Canada to the great mass of our own broader outlet for the excess products of the agreement with the accomplaining both its purpose and its scope became known to the people through the message transmitted to
