The following good story on Earl Harper comes from Cedar Rapids where he seems to have bumped up against a startling proposition: "A good looking young clerk in a Cedar Rapids music store got the surprise of his life yesterday when a dainty bit of lace and white approached the counter and timidly asked: 'Have you kissed me in the moonlight?'" The clerk blushed, hesitated and replied: "It must have been the man at the other counter; I've only been here a week." Oh! Earl! Earl!

K. of P. Picnic

The K. of P. picnic at Jenner's Park last Thursday afternoon and evening was one of the most enjoyable events ever celebrated by this splendid organization. They had full control of the park, concessions and all, and everything was free. Prizes were given to all entering the games, and of course winning, while about everybody competed. The ocean wave had kept busy those who wished had their full of that pleasure, the shooting gallery, the bowling alley, and in fact all the concessions were well patronized. The early part of the afternoon was given over to a hot game of base ball, in which partisans of either nine yelled themselves hoarse in spelling for their favorites, while "Happy Hooligan" the accommodating umpire tried to the best of his ability to make both sides win, much to the pleasure and roasting of the grandstand as the game proceeded. A grand banquet was spread in the pavilion in the early hour of evening, plates being laid for nearly two hundred guests, who did ample justice to the splendid spread provided. It was estimated that easily two hundred and fifty Sir Knights from home and abroad, with their families, were present at the festivities and all were more than satisfied with every feature of the entertainment. The evening closed with a dance in the pavilion, said to be a most pleasant ending of the first of the enjoyable occasions days in the history of Jenner's pleasure resort.

Danger in Dirty Ice-Boxes
In the August Women's Home Companion, on "The Doctor's Page," the author talks with great good sense about home sanitation in summer. Following is some good advice about the ice-box: "It seems scarcely necessary to say that a dirty, ill-kept ice-box is a grave danger to health. Of course, the modern porcelain or glass-lined cabinets are most desirable and very easily kept clean. Unfortunately, these are, as yet, not for the majority. However, a sanitary ice-box is possible to every housewife who demands it. Be careful not to spill food on the shelves; cover closely all eatables to be put away; insist upon clean ice; scrub and scald the interior of the ice-box with strong soda water once week, completing the operation by pouring down the drain a solution of Platts' Chlorides, an odorless disinfectant. An ice-box drain should never be closely connected with the general sewerage system unless this has been done in a perfectly sanitary way, by a responsible plumber. To save the constant emptying of the waste water, a rubber tube may be fitted over the small drain-pipe, in the bottom of the ice-box, and led out of doors through a small hole in the floor and other necessary out-lets, being finally carried away as surface-water."

Theodora Sekutera Drowned

Word came to Loup City last Friday evening that Theodora Sekutera known better as "Gibson's Sekutera judgment," had been drowned that afternoon in Davis Creek, near the mouth of the creek, where it empties into the Loup river, just across the line in Valley county. Saturday, County Attorney Starr, who had been called over to the east side in regard thereto, phoned County Coroner Main to come over and hold an inquest, taking Miss Needham, Starr's stenographer along to take notes in the inquest ordered over the remains. The inquest took place at Ashton Saturday afternoon, and developed the facts as related by the witnesses to the drowning, that Sekutera and some six or eight men were camping at the mouth of the creek for a day or two, and Sekutera was taken with cramps when in the middle of the creek, where the water was claimed to be about twelve feet deep, and the body could not be recovered for some two hours. Deceased left a widow and three or four children, and the inquest was at her request, believing her husband had drowned as the result of too much booze, and was intoxicated at the time of drowning. The witnesses with one accord testified that there was not nor had been any booze in the party, and that it was a strictly prohibition crowd.

Boyd Burrowes' Show

Boyd Burrowes and his merry company of first class theatrical artists which were here with their big tent show the first three days of this week were greeted with overflowing crowds each night, and gave the people more than the worth of their money at each entertainment. Besides the regular plays given, there were a series of vaudeville acts which were pie, cake and ice cream, following hearty meals of solid dramatic foods, and well kept up Boyd Burrowes' reputation as the prince of entertainers, and make our people feel proud to speak of him as "Our Own Boyd." Among the vaudeville acts were the educated pony, educated dogs, songs, sleight of hand artists and excellent jugglers, etc., all of which shows that Boyd knows what is good entertaining and provides his patrons with the best going. We owe no apology for speaking highly of Boyd Burrowes and his company, and class the entire company as worthy of the patronage of all. The trouble with Boyd is that he does not come to Loup City often enough to suit his amusement loving friends.

Letter from Ward Ver Vallin

We received an interesting letter from Ward Ver Vallin at Mitchell, S. D., under date of July 21. He said "It looks very much like rain this morning. South Dakota is very spotted as far as crops go. This county and the one west of us have splendid crops. Potatoes have felt the effects of dry weather, for they are 75c a peck. Wheat is threshing out better than it looked like it was going to when it was harvested. Oats, though, are not very much good. Corn is very green and is earing well. We do not like the water here at Mitchell. The well water, excepting a few wells, is very hard and has a very strong saline taste. We use rain water. Boil it and put in ice box, and it is then very good. Have bought two cases of distilled water, but that is very flat. The corn palace committee met last night to perfect plans for the annual show. It is reported that the corn palace is one of a drawing card than the state fair. We expect President Taft here this September. Business is very fair and prospect is very good for a large trade. Sorry that Susie and I can't go out to "Hawk's Nest" to that party. Breakfast is called. Goodby."
