Judge Hamer is getting the benefit of more advertising to the square inch than ever Barnum did, and if the great showman were alive he would perhaps die of envy. Hamer won at the primaries as candidate for supreme judge on the republican ticket and did more advertising than any half dozen candidates up for the same office, yet his expense account shows that he must have gotten greatly reduced rates from the brethren of the press, or did some tall forgetting as to the expenses he incurred thereby. We are not specially interested in the fight on the judge nor were we interested in his candidacy enough to put in the number of free puff balls he sent us with the courtesy of his thanks—no cash—so we are not in position to know how much free advertising he received nor how many "easy" editors he won over with his cheap thanks but if he paid anywhere near advertising rates for the great amount he received, his expense account published must necessarily be revised very materially upwards.

According to Champ Clark and other democratic optimists, democracy has ceased wandering in the wilderness of defeat and are sure of electing a president and gaining full sway in this nation. Of all parties under the sun the democratic is the most optimistic and rainbow chaser kind ever. No matter how often defeat comes to it, no matter how often it has to eat its own words; no matter how often crushing defeat; it always sees looming in the future success and political manna. Just now, with reciprocity defeated in Canada, and President Taft facing the dilemma brought on him by the democratic congress and aided by the so-called progressives they make of the occasion a rainbow of democratic success. For decaying and ever defeated democracy its optimism is one of the wonders of all wonders.

A single page in a single issue of the Century taken for advertising purposes costs $500; in Harper's $400; in other prominent magazines from $350 down to $100. A yearly advertisement of one column in the Chicago Tribune costs $26,000 in the New York Tribune $29,000, for the lowest and $85,000 for the highest rates in the New York Herald $36,203 for the lowest and $349,000 for the highest priced column. These papers are never at a loss for advertising to fill their columns. These figures will doubtless be of interest to the man who invests ten dollars and flatters himself with the idea that he is a liberal advertiser.—Aurora News.

There are strong indications that the state campaign this fall will resolve itself into a "wet" and "dry" fight almost as pronounced as the one pulled off last year. Both Hamer, republican, and Oldham, democrat, have been marked for the slaughter by the anti-saloon league. A number of republican newspapers throughout the state have also tabooed Hamer, declaring their intention of giving editorial support to Rose and Letton, republicans and Dean democrat. The democrats who cannot stand for Oldham will no doubt support Dean and Stark democrats, and Rose, republican. It will be quite an interesting mixup.—Aurora Republican.

With sugar the first of the week at $8.25 per hundred pounds and prospect of going up to $10, and with the promise of another raise in coffee of 5c per pound, the average householder and family will have to eat hay, straw or stubble or go to the poor house. But, honestly, isn't these advances in human provender getting to be appalling?

When the democratic party has finally killed Bryan for the twentieth time why won't the peerless leader stay kill? With one element of the demos killing Bryan and another element of the republican party slaying Taft, it is found they represent two of the liveliest corpses ever supposed to be dead.

About the toughest blow given to prohibition yet, according to the wet believer, is in the fact that Maine, the father of all dry commonwealths, has repealed her prohibitory constitutional amendment and gone over to the damp element. And by the overwhelming majority of 26 at that. Whew!

By the recent elections in Canada, it is shown in the defeat of Laurier and the liberal element that the dominion wants no reciprocity with the United States. That is smashing the pact with Uncle Sam to fare ye well.

About a year ago pork was soaring around the $10 mark. Sugar saw the aerial flight and got so worked up that it proposes to beat that record, and is on a fair way to do it, from present evidence.

And while the democrats claim the republican party is broken in pieces, will it not admit that the democratic donkey is a little lame and knock-down along the same lines?

BORING FOR OIL

Down 600 Feet and Flowing Water Reached Already.

The prospect well which a number of Mason City and Litchfield citizens and farmers are having drilled has already reached a depth of 600 feet and workmen are operating the machinery night and day. Flowing water has been reached but nothing found so far indicates the presence of gas coal or oil. The backers expect to drill to a depth of at least 2,000 feet possibly more depending on circumstances. It will not be long until it is determined whether there are any oils or minerals in the neighborhood. Surface indications were favorable for oil. The prospect well is on the Dickson farm between Mason City and Litchfield.—Broken Bow Republican.

The Saloon Case

The attention of the village board was occupied last Monday evening and Tuesday forenoon in hearing the petition of W. A. Odendahl for a license to sell intoxicating liquors in the village of Comstock and the remonstrance against same. Attorney Starr of Loup City appeared for the petitioner and Attorneys Al Johnson and C. L. Gutterson of Broken Bow for the remonstrators. After hearing the evidence the village board granted the license as petitioned and the remonstrator appealed the case to the District Court and the legal battle goes merrily on. What the final outcome will be we cannot at present predict.—Comstock News.

AS TO TEMPORARY FILLINGS

Certain Conditions May Render Them Advisable, but Usually Permanent Work is Preferable.

There are often times when it is not advisable to fill the teeth with the durable, permanent fillings, and in these cases the plastics, cement and gutta-percha, are generally used as temporary fillings. Sometimes the operator will use a durable filling in a tooth knowing that for some reason the filling cannot last, and this also is called a temporary filling.

One of the great fields for temporary filling is in the teeth of children, for it is a common thing for the parent to bring the child to the dentist with its teeth in bad shape. The dentist is supposed to take the child in this condition, insert temporary fillings, and thus relieve the pain and restore the teeth to usefulness. Although this is a common occurrence, it is a hardship to both the child and to the dentist, and it is a wonder that there is as much success as there is in this direction.

If the parents only knew that the proper time to take the child to the dentist was at the age of two, that at this age little metallic fillings could be inserted without pain, and the fillings would last, usually until the teeth were lost, that the expense and trouble that this early visit to the dentist would be as nothing to the expense and trouble coming from its neglect, then certainly there would come a time when very few temporary fillings would be inserted in children's teeth.

People in ill health often have temporary work done until such time as they are able to have permanent fillings inserted. At such times, indeed, it often happens that the plastic temporary fillings preserve the teeth better than the durable metallic permanent ones. This is due to the abnormal condition of health.

When possible, permanent work is to be preferred, as the dentist will trim the margins of the cavity a little larger each time he replaces the filling, until he has so enlarged the cavity that it cannot longer be filled.

In sensitive teeth it is often advisable to insert a temporary filling for a short period in order to discover whether the tooth will stand filling without disturbance, as in case of trouble the temporary filling is easily removed.

When through lack of time, as in case of a sudden journey, it is necessary for one to have temporary relief a plastic filling is also advisable.

The great difficulty in temporary work is that the patient soon forgets that it is only intended for a short time, and neglects to return as soon as he should. By such neglect the teeth are often ruined, and therefore it is a safe rule to go by "to never resort to temporary work unless conditions oblige us to."

PAT CROWE IS LOCKED UP

Kidnaper-Evangelist Suffers another fall from grace

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Pat Crowe, sometime kidnap, sometime preacher of the gospel last night attacked a woman in Wells street. He was angered because the woman resented his attempt to flirt. The woman, hysterical and bearing on her face the imprint of the man's fist, hurried home before the police learned her name. Crowe beaten by men who did not sympathize with his "strong arm flirtation," was taken to a hospital and later to a police station. Crowe achieved notoriety several years ago as the kidnap of the son of Edward Cudahy, wealthy Omaha packer. Some time ago Crowe became a temperance evangelist under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., but has several times fallen from grace.

And now comes the news that whiskey has advanced 3 cents per gallon owing to high price in raw materials. Gee Whiz! What is a man to do? Coffee going up, sugar soaring and now whiskey following suit. It's enough to drive a man to drinking water.
