Silo Talk

A Little Early in the Season, but if you are in the least interested it will be to your Advantage to investigate The Common sense plan. If given the opportunity we will convince you, that it is the only Silo for this climate.

Keystone Lbr. Co.

C. A. Clark was up from Ravenna for a few days the first of the week looking after creamery matters and putting in some needed work.

Mrs. Ray Hoagland of Beloit, Kas., is visiting Mrs. Lou Williams.

Pure Bred Barred Plymouth Rock eggs for setting $1.00 per 12. $4.00 per 100. Mrs. H. J. JOHANSEN.

Lost—Yellow shepherd dog, black back. $5 reward. Finder call 15-107. J. H. Brown, Litchfield, Neb.

Jess Marvel was down from his Custer county ranch last week meeting his friends, which means everybody who knows him.

Two large silos for sale. Prices right. ROBERT DINSDALE, Loup City.

Mrs. Stanley Shachta, formerly Miss Katie Olewski, returned to her home at Elba yesterday, after a few days' visit here.

5000 different samples and stock of wall paper to pick from. 8 cents and up per double roll. East side of the square. Jones the painter.

Rev. Henry French came up from Elm Creek Monday noon for a few days' visit, intending to return to his charge tomorrow or Saturday. Mrs. French expects to return with him.

Reynolds' is the place to get home cured Bacon and Hams.

Grandma Gilbert lately returned from a fortnight's visit with a second cousin near Pleasanton. No one is entitled to such an outing more than the dear little old lady, who is everybody's friend.

Evidently Ben P'ageler has not intends returning to Idaho, as he writes to have the Northwestern changed from his Idaho address to Cedar Bluffs, this state, his home before he came to Loup City.

The county court was busy Tuesday with hearing in the contested will case of the Frank Olewski estate. At the close of the hearing, his honor took the matter under advisement till Saturday.

Mrs. Geo. W. Marvel, who has been visiting at the home of T. D. Wilson left last week Friday morning to visit in Wisconsin, before again joining her husband at Hot Springs, S. D., where they have been for a few months taking the benefit of the baths.

On our first page will be found full particulars of the murder in Mexico of the murder of Wm. H. Waite, brother of our Wilber S. Waite, and a former citizen of Loup City and Sherman county. It is to be hoped the matter will be taken up and our government probe the murder to the bottom.

The city council has granted a permit to Vic Swanson to place an underground gasoline tank in front of his store for the filling of autos and Vic will put it in the last of this week. This is a mighty convenient thing for the auto people. Only the filling pipe will be above ground and but a few inches in length of that, so it will not in the least interfere with the public thoroughfare.

T. L. Pilger on Monday of this week disposed of his fine town property to Jos. Daddow, not giving possession till the first of September. Mr. Pilger had one of the finest residence properties in the city. Mr. Daddow expects to move to town this fall, we understand, and become a resident of the city. Mr. Pilger will leave this fall with his family for either Idaho or Montana, he is undecided which. As he has been a resident of Loup City for the past 24 years he and his good family are an integral figure in the history of our town and will be greatly missed when they tear themselves away from old associations.

Grandpa Tom Caddy was in town the other day with such an ecstatic smile on his face that we could not pass without asking why this thusly and he looked scornfully at us for exposing our ignorance of the fact that he was now most emphatically labelled "grandpa," as a fine baby boy arrived last Thursday, April 11, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Garner, and he was in town to celebrate the happy event. Mrs. Garner was formerly Miss Caddy.

If you were going about to solicit the town and to note the neatly dressed men, where would you expect to find them. Naturally you would look for the business men, clerks, bankers, doctors, lawyers and men holding public office. You never notice your own clothes and if they look as neat as they should for a man in your position, then send them down and have Dorsey clean and press them. It will pay you. Satisfaction guaranteed.

A card from Loren Gee, at Cortez, Colo., under date of April 8th, advises us that they were to start for California the 14th instant, but had no definite point in view where they were to stop. They go there in hopes of benefiting Mr. Gee's health. Later they will undoubtedly return to Loup City. The Northwestern wishes the very best in health and prosperity for both our old-time friends.

It seems the Northwestern was mis informed last week when it stated that the administration sale of the late T. M. Reed's stock of goods would continue at private sale for a month, to be followed by a big auction sale of goods sold at that time. Mr. P. O. Reed claims such is not the case and that no later auction sale will take place. Our item would have a tendency to hold back buying by some until alleged auction took place, and in that much retard private sales. We are glad to make the correction of our former statement.

HYMENEAL

Hendrickson-Burrowes

Monday evening of this week, April 15, 1912, at 8 p. m. Mr. R. D. Hendrickson and Mrs. Katie Burrowes were united in the bonds of matrimony by his honor, County Judge E. A. Smith, at the residence of the bride in East Loup City, the couple immediately thereafter going to the groom's farm in Webster township, where they will make their home. We understand. While the marriage of this worthy couple has been expected for some time, yet came as a surprise in that no announcement of their intentions was given their friends in advance. Mr. Hendrickson has been a resident of Sherman county for near a quarter of a century, and has been honored in the past with the office of sheriff and county superintendent of schools for a number years in all of which he made good, and probably by his friendly ways and hearty good fellowship is one of the best liked men in the county. The bride has also lived here for many years, is a prime favorite with all who are favored with her friendship and acquaintance, and universally esteemed by all. The Northwestern, with the hosts of friends of both bride and groom, will follow them with best wishes for their future success and happiness.

Rossa-Bartunek

At St. Joseph church Tuesday morning, April 16, 1912, occurred the nuptials of Frank A. Rossa of Oak Creek township and Miss Anna Bartunek, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bartunek of this city. The ceremony was held at 8 o'clock in the morning before a number of near relatives and friends of the happy couple. The bride is a bright, attractive girl and is one of Sherman county's successful teachers. The groom is one of the enterprising young farmers of his section of the county. We understand they will make their home in Oak Creek township, where the groom will engage in farming. May kind fortune follow them all along the pathway of life.

Razin-Hellebrant

Married, Tuesday, April 16, 1912, at the county judge's office, his honor tying the nuptial knot, Mr. Frank J. Hellebrant and Miss Rosie May Razin, both of Bristol township, this county.

Brammer-Kuticka

At the county judge's office, Tuesday, April 16th, 1912, his genial judgment united in wedlock Mr. Fred R. Brammer and Miss Mollie Kuticka, the contracting parties being from Bristol township.

The lack of gasoline, causing a dead auto, was the not funny luck that happened to a couple of our handsome bachelors last Sunday evening. They were spinning along some eight or ten miles north of this city when their horseless carriage refused to budge further and no amount of coaxing could make the blasted thing go. Examination of the various joints in the animal's make-up disclosed it was short of feed, hence the balk. After trying at the different farm houses for sufficient lene-o-gas to put the four-wheeled thing in good humor and without success, they were compelled to put up with a farmer for the night and next morning send to town for sufficient speed stuff to get home. It is unnecessary to tell who the rig is on, or who were on the rig, as every one is next. A message over the phone in the morning cancelled all dental work for the forenoon, while no prescriptions were forthcoming for the sick from another quarter for the same period.

Editor of the Northwestern:—I notice that Mr. Welty, acting, as I understand, under the direction of J. S. Pedler, has published a statement in your paper, and in the Sherman County Times-Independent, purporting to contain a copy of the order of the county board touching the appointment of a county judge to act during Judge Smith's absence from the county. This statement, while appearing to be fair upon its face, is really misleading to the public. Both of these men now know that Mr. Welty appointed J. S. Pedler county judge without any authority of law, as the statute plainly shows, and that J. S. Pedler exercised the functions and powers of the county judge without any authority of law. The statute authorizes the county board to make the appointment and does not give them any authority to delegate or turn over their powers to J. H. Welty or any other person. The order of the county board, therefore, absolutely without jurisdiction, and void. If the county board can authorize J. H. Welty to make this appointment, then at the same meeting they could have authorized him to transact all the business of the county during the present year, and so have relieved themselves from the labor of attending to the public business themselves. Of course every citizen, although he may not be a lawyer, know that the county board cannot do this. I am personally satisfied in my own mind that the members of the county board acted innocently and in perfect good faith when they made this void order. It was doubtless done in haste and without due consideration. However, J. H. Welty was certainly not a very careful officer in assuming to make this appointment without first consulting the county attorney. If he had consulted him, the county attorney would have advised him correctly. As a matter of fact, the county attorney was the first person who discovered that J. S. Pedler was unlawfully exercising the powers of the county judge, and he refused to bring any criminal proceedings before him.

As for J. S. Pedler, himself, there is no excuse whatever for his conduct. He was county attorney for four years and ought to know the law, and if, in so simple a matter as this, he does not know the law, he surely ought not to ask the people of this county to elect him as their county attorney, because he will have much more difficult legal questions to determine in connection with the duties of the office than the above question.

E. J. NIGHTHALE.

Death of Will Betts

Last Thursday afternoon, April 11, 1912, occurred the funeral of Will Betts whose death at Litchfield was given to the Northwestern last week. The body was brought over from Litchfield that day in charge of the Odd Fellows, under whose auspices the funeral was held. The services were conducted by Rev. Tourtelot and the body was laid to rest in our cemetery by the side of his mother, who was buried just two weeks previous. William Ernest Betts was born at North Wolcott, N. Y., April 18, 1876, and with his parents moved to Sherman county, Nebraska, in 1881, settling on a farm about four miles south of Loup City, where they lived until he had grown to manhood. For several years he resided in Loup City and about four years ago he moved to Litchfield and became manager of the Sherman County Telephone Co.'s exchange at that place, which he held until his death. August 12, 1909 Mr. Betts was united in marriage to Miss Ida Benson of Litchfield, who still survives him, together with two brothers living near Litchfield and two sisters, one living in New York and one in St. Louis.

Monday afternoon the Halcyon club was entertained by Mrs. Ver Valin, when a fine program was given, in charge of Mrs. E. B. Mather. The program was of an Easter character and consisted of Easter stories and poems and a story of the Easter egg origin. Another feature was the New York Easter parade, which characterized the dress parade affair given in New York City. The hostess served some fine refreshments. The club will next be entertained by Mrs. E. R. Storer.

The members of the Halcyon club and their husbands arranged a surprise party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ver Valin, who expect to leave shortly for their new home at Loup City, Neb. The affair was held on Friday evening of last week. The evening was spent in many social ways that brought pleasure to all. The club members showed their deep appreciation of the efforts of Mrs. Ver Valin to make the club work a success by presenting her with a souvenir spoon. The ladies brought along a good supply of refreshments and at a seasonable hour these were served. On taking their departure many kind expressions were made over the departure of the family.—Mitchell, [S. D.] Daily Republican.
