The Gees in California.

We have received a letter from our good friend, Loren Gee out in California, where he and Mrs. G. have gone for the benefit of the failing health of Mr. Gee. He writes entertainingly as follows:

San Francisco, Calif., April 28, 1912. Friend Burleigh: We are now in the great city of San Francisco. Have had a pleasant trip but are very tired. Will move on down the coast to Ventura tomorrow. We took a sight seeing car today out to the Cliff House, the Golden Gate and back to the bay to see the boats come in, unload and reload and push away again for another voyage across the Pacific, and not the least of the sights being the great ferry boats between this city and Oakland, over which we came to the big coast town. It is four miles across the bay. California, so far as we have seen it, is certainly a fine country. The day we started from Cortez, Colo., and between Dolores and Telluride, we went through snow drifts that were way higher than the tops of the windows and for many miles were higher than the bottom of the windows. That was on the 14th of April and still on the 15th nearly as bad. We saw a great many little cabins along the route almost entirely buried in snow, with just the roofs peeping above, with narrow paths therefrom dug through the whiteness. It may be strange to our Nebraska friends, but we had not been out of the sight of snow from the time we left Loup City on Jan. 16 till last Tuesday, April 22nd. When we left Cortez, the grass was just beginning to show in little places, while here in California everything is in full bloom, with grass as high as it generally is in Nebraska in June and some grain fields all heading out, while garden vegetables are ready for the markets, which are full to overflowing now. Flowers of all kinds and colors to be seen anywhere makes the change nice to one who has been frozen up in icebergs all winter. While the weather is quite chilly here today, we do not see any snow or ice, save that which is given with cooling drinks.

Please forward the Northwestern and all back numbers to us at Ventura, Calif., as we are getting anxious to hear from our Loup City friends again, as it has been over three weeks since we have heard or read a word from home.

LOREN GEE.

New Law Office.

R. H. Mathews has completed arrangements for the erection of a fine law office just south of the State Bank building, the front to be of pressed brick. The store room occupied by Pratt's pool hall will also be given a front of plate glass windows and otherwise put in up-to-date shape just north of Mr. Mathews' proposed new office.

Trouble With Vault Door

Treasurer Henry has been submitting to a good deal of "chaffing" the past few days, to all of which he accepts good naturedly, of course. For some time past, the door of the vault in his office has been causing a good deal of trouble, the combination having a disinclination to accept the manipulations of the tumbler. Saturday evening he closed the door with much difficulty, but thought nothing especially of it, but a short time after, having occasion to get into the vault to accommodate a belated taxpayer, the combination would not work and in spite of any amount of coaxing remained obdurate. That evening and the better part of Sunday, efforts were put forth to invite, plead, pound, thresh, maltreat and in every manner make the door to yield to the pressure and skill brought to bear upon it, but in vain. Monday morning, as a last resort, Cashier Hansen, who can almost prove an X-ray optical vision, took the matter in hand and with his expert knowledge of such matters correctly diagnosed it a case of internal disorder from too close association of two of the tumblers, which would not separate and take their respective stations. With the aid of J. I. Dewey with a small drill and Wes Pedler later with a larger drill, our expert cashier friend almost immediately separated the combatants and swung open the door. Laying aside levity, it is a fact that Mr. Hansen, with his knowledge of safe combination locks, seems to have almost a prescience of where the trouble lies, and has heretofore many times come to the aid of those who get into trouble with the pesky critters, and Treasurer Henry has reason to feel very grateful we have one among us who is able to relieve exasperating situations of the kind. It is believed also that the settling of the vault work has to a more or less extent settled, binding the door gradually till it finally refused to perform further service. Had Mr. Hansen not been on hand, it would have necessitated sending for an expert at not a little expense to the county.

Rev. Powers to Gibbon.

Rev. Powers, who for some time past has been in charge of the pastorate of the Baptist church in this city, has accepted a call to Gibbon, this state, and will preach his farewell sermon here next Sunday evening, the other churches giving over their evening services that all may hear the farewell address of the Baptist pastor. Rev. Powers and wife have made many friends in the city and all who have met the estimable couple will sincerely regret their leaving for another field of labor, while their best wishes will follow them. They will probably move to Gibbon about the middle of next week.

Business Change.

On Monday morning of this week, the business deal whereby Dr. W. T. Chase sold his drug store to Messrs. A. D. Hinman, of St. Edwards, and J. C. Vaughn, of this city, was completed, invoice now taking place and the new men will re-open for business as soon as the invoicing is concluded, at least by the 20th instant. Mr. Hinman invests not with the intention of moving here, but to place his son, Harry Hinman, in a business in the city, and may later transfer his interest to the son. Mr. Vaughn is well and favorably known to our people as a traveling man who has made this his headquarters for the past two years or more, while Mr. Hinman, junior, has been with us for several years and also well known to our people. The new druggists have the best wishes of all for their successful business venture.

Base Ball

Ashton 3, Dannebrog 0.
Ashton won its first game of the season by defeating Dannebrog 3 to 0. The game was a pitcher's battle from start to finish, no runs being made by either side until the 5th inning when a home run by S. Polski gave the first run for Ashton. Jezewski pitched fine ball, striking out 16 men, walking one and allowing only two hits, while Christensen of Dannebrog struck out 11 men and allowed 6 hits. Both teams gave good support to their pitchers but Ashton got two more runs, one in the 6th inning and one in the 9th inning by well placed and bunched balls.

Wedding Bells Are Ringing

Swanson-Lofholm.
Tuesday evening of this week, May 7, 1912, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lofholm, in this city, occurred the nuptials of Mr. Oscar L. Swanson and Miss Etta M. Lofholm, the Rev. J. C. Tourtellot, of the First Presbyterian church, officiating, and a goodly number of friends of the contracting parties being present to express their felicitations over the joyous event which united in the holy bonds of wedlock two of our popular young people. Shortly after 8 o'clock, to the sweet strains of a wedding march given at the piano by Miss Ernestine Odendahl, the bridal party, preceded by the officiating clergyman, took their places on the south side of the parlor, where with the beautiful ring ceremony and in a few words they were made man and wife, followed by the warmest congratulations of the assembled friends. The guests were then invited to a sumptuous dinner served by the mother and sisters of the bride, and the evening was given over to conversation and music. As the evening passed, numerous companies of young people called bride and groom forth to tender congratulations while our silver cornet band gave a number of fine pieces on the lawn, their coming being a most welcome surprise and thoroughly appreciated by the bridal couple and guests as well. Mr. Swanson and his bride left the following morning for Omaha and other points for a short visit, when they will return and occupy the Swanson cottage in the north part of the city. The groom is the senior member of our popular drug firm of Swanson & Lofholm, and is proving one of our most successful business men, and popular with our people in their entirety. The bride is a charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lofholm, and has lived all her young life in Sherman county, and the most of it in Loup City. Shortly after her graduation from our city schools she accepted a position in the Northwestern office, remaining with us for a number of years and proving a most efficient and helpful assistant, not only in the mechanical departments, but in the editorial department as well, most heartily appreciated by the writer of this and by the patrons of the paper. She is one of Loup City's most popular girls and, with her companion, have the best wishes of all for their future prosperity and happiness. The Northwestern, especially, asks the choicest blessing on these worthy young people. They were the recipients of many beautiful, costly and useful tokens of esteem from friends present and absent.

Chamberlain-Gordon.

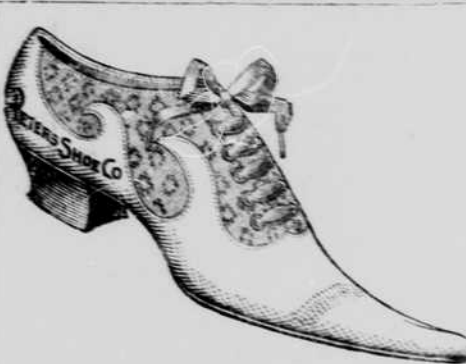

Married, Sunday evening, May 5, at 5 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Shetler, in this city, Mr. Chester Chamberlain and Miss Della Gordon, both of the west side of the county, Rev. Dr. Leeper, of the M. E. church of this city, officiating. The happy couple will reside on the groom's farm in Elm township. The Northwestern extends warmest wishes for their future prosperity and happiness.

Galka-Lonowski.

From the St. Joseph church, Monday, May 6th, at 9 o'clock a. m. occurred the marriage of Mr. James Galka and Miss Eleonora Lonowski, both of Oak Creek township. At the close of the ceremony the happy couple attended by an automobile party went to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lonowski in Oak Creek, where the afternoon and evening was given over to the usual joyous wedding reception to the young people by their Polish friends. They will go to housekeeping in Valley county, where the groom has a fine home prepared for the chosen companionship of his life and where he has a large farm. Their many friends will follow them with best wishes.

Costello-Mulick.

Invitations have been printed at this office for the approaching nuptials of Mr. Lawrence Costello, a popular young railroad man of Grand Island and Miss Rose Mulick, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Mulick, of this city, which is to take place from St. Joseph church at 9 o'clock on the morning of May 22nd, followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents in the evening, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, the happy young people to be at home to their friends after June first at their fine little home in Grand Island, prepared by Mr. Costello for his bride. Miss Mulick is one of Loup City's choicest girls and very popular with her large circle of friends, who will miss her pleasant personality from among us. The groom is highly spoken of by his large circle of friends and acquaintances in Grand Island and in railroad circles. The Northwestern is pleased to extend pre-nuptial congratulations and best wishes for their happy and prosperous married life.
