In spite of the bucking disposition of the finger, Mike, however, has not missed a day from work or business.

OBITUARIES

Death of A. H. Hansel

Word was received here last Saturday that Mr. A. H. Hansel, who was lying very ill at the home of his brother-in-law, J. T. Hale, in Ogden, Utah, had died at six o'clock that morning, and that his body would arrive here the following Monday evening for burial. Mr. Hansel some weeks ago left for the mountains in quest of health, he having been suffering from throat trouble for a long period, and so serious had it become that he had nearly lost his power of speech. By the time he had reached Denver his condition had become serious and he was hurried on to Ogden to the home of his sister. Later word came that he was improving, but that he would be obliged to remain where he was for possibly six months. About two weeks since, Mrs. Hansel hurried to his bedside and was with him to the last. The body, accompanied by the wife and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hale, the latter being a sister and only surviving member of his father's family, arrived via the U. P. motor on Monday evening, as above announced, and was met at the depot by a body of the A. F. & A. M., of which Mr. Hansel was an honored member for many years, and was escorted to the home north of the city. The funeral occurred from the Presbyterian church Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Bishop Beecher of the Episcopal church, of which deceased was a communicant, preaching the
