Never in the political history of this country has the situation been so tense as in the present campaign. It is all very pretty and amusing on the surface and well enough to quiz over, and furnishes a fund of small talk, but what about results? There is no denying the fact that Roosevelt has the greatest following, the biggest men, and the most powerful and potential influences working in his behalf ever developed by a new party movement. The fact that the leader is one who has been president, has a powerful personality, is one of the most forceful men in the nation, and has almost hypnotic control of those with whom he comes in contact, makes of the bull moose affair a force to be reckoned with beside which former political outbreaks are mere pigmies, so to speak. But while he has the utmost ascendancy over his followers, he perforce has to contend with a much greater element against him. It is agreed that the Roosevelt deflection will for the most part come from the republican ranks, proving that the Roosevelt candidacy is very material aid to democracy, and tends toward the election of Wilson. This being the case, the Roosevelt movement is simply a movement of the country toward democratic ascendancy, whether the admirers and followers of the expresident are willing to admit or it not, Roosevelt claims the election of Wilson means panic, industrial disturbances and consequent hard times, yet he knows his candidacy will have that result, and will have brought that upon the people in event of Wilson's election, if his prophecy be true. No one sincerely believes Roosevelt will be elected, not even the most sanguine, hence republicans who vote Roosevelt do so under the plea of progressiveism, and that if they are not successful this year they will sweep the country four years hence, and "turn the rascals out," who have been "turned in" by their practical half vote. The only wail of our Roosevelt friends and plausible excuse for helping place democracy next to the "pie counter" is that Taftites stole the nomination Roosevelt would have stolen if they had been the smoothest, proposing to throw the country over into the hungry "maw" of the free traders who will pay them therefor in the diet of "soup houses" and industrial distress. That is the situation at present. Will it continue and insure democratic success? Can our friends who believe in the doctrines advocated by McKinley risk the rainbow chasing of Bryanism, by even tacit encouragement?

The Northwestern is willing to admit, so far as the primary results show, that it is in a hopeless minority in this county in its advocacy of the regular republican national ticket. It acknowledges that Roosevelt had five to one over Taft. It acknowledges that it is talking to a large majority of its republican readers who believe honestly they are in the right, while the paper is just as surely in the wrong. We will not try to read each other out of the party, neither will we consent to the theory that they are any the less republican in principle or less believers in the truths advocated by the party because of a difference of opinion as to the method of working out those principles. We all make mistakes and we may be pardoned in classing ourself with the lone jurymen who sat in the trial with eleven of the "contrarist criters" on earth,

Elsewhere in this issue will be found more or less history and facts regarding the epidemic among horses in this state and Kansas. So far all veterinarians and authorities on diseases of animals are up in the air regarding the epidemic and whether it will be possible to stamp it out at an early date is very questionable.

Two years ago, Maine went over eight thousand democratic. This year it returns to the republican fold. Even Maine could not help sinning once, but repented.

The elephant and bull moose join in electing the republican state ticket. Whoa, you democratic mule; back up.

The Nebraska electoral candidate tangle is still in a tangle. When will the tangle untangle?

Mr. Fossman was hauling wheat to Loup City last Friday.

Robert Dinsdale filled his silos south of Loup City this week.

E. J. Pugley sold hay on the Loup City market last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter Curry were trading at Loup City last Friday.

Henry Goodwin and son were helping Jim Roush put up hay last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McMullen were trading at Loup City last Friday.

Will Knoepfel threshed last week.

Miss Bogseth is teaching in the Fred Johnson district this fall.

Art Reed was repairing wells on Route 2 last week. Art is getting up quite a reputation as a well repairer.

Jim McBeth sold Geo. McFadden's head of young cattle last Friday.

Geo. Brill drove Route 3 while Carrier Williams took his vacation last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wagner attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Obermiller last week.

Several people on Route 1 are fording the river instead of going around by the south bridge.

R. D. Hendrickson was hauling out household goods to the farm last Friday.

F. A. Pinckney sold some thirty head of cattle to Clint Outhouse and M. Blemond last week.

Henry Obermiller was hauling out lumber for a new granary Monday. Ralph Teeters was helping him.

Will Engle has bought twelve acres west of Mr. George's and is putting up some building on same.

Miss Agnes Lynne returned to her home at Boelus, Neb., after a month's visit at her brother's home on Route 2.

Lost—Between Wilber Curry's and the church, the end-gate to a wagon. Finder please notify Fred Johnson.

Miss Baird from Hastings, Neb., is visiting at the home of F. G. Snyder this week.

Will Shuman took Oliver Mason's man out to Mike Klimek's to start a new corn binder, last Saturday.

The patrons in the Hawk district did some grading around their school house last week. Some time ago they also added an addition on the south side.

Mr. Gunn has had another sick spell at his home in Kearney. He was taken sick on his trip east this summer and at this writing is getting along fair.

The base ball nine from Loup City beat the Divide nine on their home ground some time since. This is the first time they have been defeated this summer.

A heavy rain, from one-half to an inch, covered Route 2 Monday night. The first rain since about the 4th of July. This will help fall plowing, also corn by making it more firm on the cob.

The Carrier found a box filled with pie, cake, fruit and cigars at Friz Bichel's mail box. It was left there by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Obermiller and was a treat from their wedding supper.

Rev. and Mrs. D. J. Poynter of Albion, Neb., visited several days at the home of Alfred Jorgenson. While here the reverend held services at the Wiggle Creek church Sunday. They returned home Monday morning. Mrs. Jorgenson accompanied them for a few days' visit at her old home in Albion.

Grover Huston was taken to the Tubercular Hospital at Kearney, Neb., last week for examination for consumption and the state examiner found him to be recovering from typhoid fever, not having any symptoms of tubercular trouble at all. All will be glad to know of Grover's good luck in escaping this dreaded disease.

Miss Mable Shipley, who has been working at Homer Hughes', was taken suddenly ill with a pain in the right side. She was hurried to her home at Hazard and it was found that she was suffering from an attack of appendicitis. She was operated on last week and is getting along as well as could be expected.

While Mrs. N. P. Derkson's mother and other relatives were on their way here from Polk, Neb., in their auto, they struck a bad place in the road at the bottom of a steep hill, which threw her mother up against the top, striking her forehead a hard blow. At the time not much was thought of it until she was taken suddenly ill Saturday. Two doctors were called and for a time it looked as if she could not live the day out. She was some better Monday.

R. P. Ratslaff rented a farm in Hamilton county for next year and took three horses down to do the fall plowing. He came home ten days ago on the train, leaving the horses in a pasture and on Saturday he got a phone message saying all three had died of the strange disease that is going around and for him to come down and bury them. This is a hard blow for they were brood mares and the best horses he had. One man north of Litchfield lost seven head last week.

The patrons on Route 2 that donated on the claying of the badsandy piece of road along Hans Obermiller's line deserve a lot of praise for the good work accomplished. I understand only one or two refused to donate to the good cause. The claying of this piece of road helps everyone in the neighborhood. The Carrier appreciates it as much or more than anyone for he has to travel it every day.

The Death Angel

DIED—Sunday, September 8, 1912, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Bone, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Henderson. The little babe, only a few months old being ailing, was brought Saturday to the home of Mrs. Henderson's parents to be near the family physician, but medical skill could not save it and it passed away as above. The funeral was held from the Methodist church Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the little form laid to rest in Evergreen cemetery. The deepest sympathy of their large circle of friends is with the bereaved young parents in their sore affliction. The afflicted young parents wish the Northwestern to express their heartfelt thanks for the assistance and sympathy extended to them in the illness and death of their darling baby girl.

Musical sands have been known for 1,000 years and it is believed that there is a reference to them in one of the tales of the "Arabian Nights." But nature produces much finer results. There is the Mountain of the Bell on the shores of the Red sea, which makes extraordinary sounds and boomings when the winds set the countless millions of particles rubbing against each other and vibrating.
