

FEBRUARY ASSORTMENT SALE

Why do people send away for groceries? Because we do not quote the price that we can sell goods at on the same condition. They get the cash in advance. They don't help pay your taxes. They show goods only on paper. When you are in hard luck ask one of the mail order houses for help and see what they will give you. But after all we are here for business and must have it and will appreciate your patronage, below we will quote a few items which we will sell on the same terms as any mail order house—FOR CASH

Saturday and Sunday. The people were glad to meet him at Bethany Sunday school.

Carrier's son Clinton dragged the roads Saturday from the Bank to the south bridge. It is to bad there is not a law compelling the road boss to drag the roads whenever needed.

Henry Neisner died at his home on route two, Saturday. The funeral was held at the Wiggle creek church. The carrier and all on the creek sympathize with Mrs. Neisner and children in their great sorrow.

The pupils in District 12, who were neither absent nor tardy during January, were Louisa, Sophia and Fritz Schwaderer, Helen, Miriam and Cecil Draper, Judith Johnson, Alvina Blaschke, Bessie and Viola Kilpatrick

Those neither absent nor tardy in 46 during January: Viva Wilkie, Bessie Johnson, Hattie Johnson, Maggie Paulson, Buella Wilkie, Fern Wilkie, Grover Hansen, Clara Johnson, Niels Paulsen, Annie and Helen Czarnek.

The old timers remember the big grove Simpson Criss set out southeast of Loup City some 36 years ago. The grove is now being cut up into lumber by Mr. Lewis the owner. This grove has for years been used as a land mark and will be greatly missed.

The ladies aid on Wiggle Creek gave their play entitled "Old Maids Convention" last Friday night to a full house. The crowd was so large that they decided to have it in the church and even then their was only standing room. Frank Daddow was declared the star of the evening.

After Bethany Sunday school closed on Feb. 1, about forty of the neighbors and relatives of Harry Shipley and wife gathered to eat dinner with that worthy couple and spend a few hours in their company. The guests came to celebrate their wedding anniversary and brought a pair of portieres for the new home, which they will soon move into. Those from out of the vicinity were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rowe, Sr., of Loup City, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Jung of Wiggle Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Shipley and Mrs. Ed. Coley of Cleoria, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson of Hazard.

Two auto loads of Odd Fellows went to Rockville last week Wednesday evening to install the officers of that lodge. Some 26 of the boys were going, but in the face of the reported big storm, but two cars were necessary to carry the bunch that went. The trip down was made by one car without mishap, but from the looks of the other car and occupants, their journey was not altogether pleasant. It was expected the trip home would be bucking snow, but instead it was mud, mud, mud the entire distance, at times almost knee deep, and all kinds of trouble to match, but the material composed of the bunch that went, knew no fall and would not let such a little thing as a blizzard knock them out. The Rockville boys, after installation did as they always do, fed us well. Any one wanting to know more about the trip, ask A. R. Jack.

Terms, 8 months at 10 per cent, Col. Pageier, auctioneer and C. C. Carlsen, clerk.

HAD SOMETHING TO LEARN
 Young Binks "Knew Much, But Found That His Knowledge Couldn't Have an Advantage"

Young Chas. Binks was an erudite youth and a regular demon for knowledge for such. At his studies he "swotted" to tell you the truth, a sight or ten hours every day. To give you some little idea of his worth, I knew to a fraction the age of the earth, the actual weight of the moon and its orbit, and how far all the stars were away.

He could tell you the reason why eggs are not meat, why leadstod and hedgehogs are not good to eat also why there can never be col without heat, and why bumblebees don't make honey. He could analyze whisky and black currant tart, repeat Shakespeare's plays if you gave him a start. In fact, he was crammed full of science and art, knowing even why Robey is funny.

"One can never learn too much," with a smile he would say. But he altered his mind, overhearing one day two friends, who imagined him out of the way, stating facts new to Binks without doubt.

"What an ugly old beggar that Binks is!" said one. Said the other, "The biggest ass under the sun." And the knowledge Binks learned by the time they had done, he'd have been much more happy without.—Cleveland Leader.

EVIDENTLY HAD A CAPACITY
 Appetite of "Egg King" Something for the Ordinary Man to Regard With Wonder.

A tall, gaunt young man entered the office of the Globe Museum and Family theater and asked for the manager. "What can I do for you?" inquired a pudgy man in a checked suit.

"I want an engagement as a freak in the curio hall."

"Who are you?"

"I am Enoch, the egg king."

"What is your specialty?"

"I eat three dozen hen eggs, two dozen duck eggs and one dozen goose eggs at a single sitting."

"I suppose you know our policy?"

"What's that?"

"We give four shows every day."

"I understand that."

"And do you think you can do it?"

"I know I can."

"On Saturdays we give as many as six shows."

"And on some holidays we give a performance every hour."

The young man hesitated.

"In that case," he finally said, "I must have one thing understood before I sign a contract."

"What's that?" asked the manager.

"No matter how rushing business is at the museum, the egg king replied "you gotta gimme time enough to eat my regular meals at the hotel."—Lippincott's.

Life With Depth.
 Many a life that seems most exposed to the heat of the day has abundant refreshing for other lives. It is not always the outwardly sheltered soul that can offer to others the help of the deepest experiences. Close by a dusty mountain road, in a hot and swampy meadow, with no shade near it, is a little spring among the grasses. There is a stick in the ground beside it, with a cup thereon, and a sign, "Cold Spring." You hardly believe in the sign until, tired traveler that you are, you set your lips to a cup of that water. It is the coldest spring in the region, bubbling up among the grasses of the hot meadow, not gushing from moss-grown rock on the mountainside. The little meadow-spring has depth and abler known to itself. Is this not also the secret of the life of that friend whose refreshing presence has often meant so much to you?—Sunday School Times.
