Water power legislation as a meastire of relief for the people of the west and south is urged by Senator Jones of Washington, who spoke in favor of his bill granting water power sites on the public domain to municipalities or public service corporations under state or federal regulations with the power of the government to purchase after fifty years.

Felix Diaz has arrived here and will attempt to get a hearing before the senate foreign relations committee and give his views on the Mexican situation. Pedro Del Vilar and Cecillio Ocon, who represented themselves as his supporters, appeared before the committee to ask what attitude this government would take toward a revolution headed by Diaz.

Advocating his bill to recognize state primary laws for the selection of delegates to national conventions and election of national committeemen, Senator Sherman, republican of Illinois, declared a national primary law was the remedy for party dangers. He assailed the proposal for a nation-wide presidential primary, on the ground it would result in a few states absolutely controlling presidential nominations.

In the senate the committee on interoceanic canals decided to meet to consider the appeal of the president for a reversal of policy in the controversy which involves the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, and, in the opinion of the president, the general foreign relations policy of the administration.

While the house is debating the issue the senate committee will consider whether to recommend a flat repeal bill or to urge the compromise bill offered by Senator Chilton of West Virginia, a member of the committee which would authorize the president to regulate tolls and assess charges at his discretion wherever exemption is provided in the canal

Thinks His Plan Best, "I believe that more senators would vote for my amendment than will support a flat repeal measure," said Senator Shilton. Although the amendment would accomplish repeal of toll exemption it would not repudiate the democratic platform plank indorsing toll exemption and senators who flatly refuse to go back on that plank

Washington, D. C .- Initial steps to Western Newspaper Union News Service. Count of the university location petition names by counties has just been completed by the secretary of gress when the house committee on state. Of the 23,386 names allowed to remain on the petition-which is now short just 781 names-there are 3,164 names from Douglas county. The required 5 per cent of that county is only 1,462, as the total vote, according to the secretary's records, was 29,247 at the 1912 election.

The colectors of names will have until ninety days before the general election to file additional names and this will be taken up at once, according to the staff connected with the work. The names ruled out by the secretary number 2,877 and were collected at the state fair and one or two other places where large crowds were present. The fact that the petitioners signed the documents without regard to the fact that names from many counties appeared on each petition was held by Secretary Wait to be contrary to the apparent intention of the Counties in which the required 5 per cent of names has not been collected are Adams, Banner, Blaine, Burt, Cheyenne, Dawes, Deuel, Gage, Garfield, Greeley, Grant, Holt, Hooker, Howard, Keya Paha, Knox, Logan, Loup, McPherson, Morrill, Perkins Red Willow and York. Under the law the 10 per cent petition is required to contain names of 5 per cent of the total legal voters in each of only twofifths, or thirty-seven counties, of the state, so this action of the law has been complied with in substance.

Business Methods on the Farm.

"The farmer who uses business methods is coming to the front. The other fellows are being weeded out." according to F. A. Sherzinger of Nel son, who is both an editor and a farmer. For twenty-five years he has been a close student of agricultural conditions in Nuckolls county. After admitting that he was a "crank on businesslike farming." Mr. Sherzinger continued:

"Men who use their heads make money in the farming game and this state cannot be beaten. The shiftless the unobserving and the unprogressive are being lost in the shuffle. This applies to both landowners and tenants. "When a tenant does not get results nowadays he is soon informed that the owner wants possession on the first day of March. Land has increased in value from the old fixed price of $20 an acre to $100 and over. It is hard to set a limit for new methods, and new markets and new crops will increase values."

Treasurer's Monthly Report.
