Having been doing repair work the past five months and doing no advertising, I find that there are people here in town as well as country, that do not know I am engaged in the repair business. So I believe it pays to advertise. If your shoes, gas or oil stoves, tinware, guns, etc., need repairs, I am located at The Second hand and Variety Store, first door east of Hayhurst & Galloway Hardware. Yours Respectfully, P. O. Reed.

To Breeders—My two imported stallions will be at McLaughlin's barn in Loup City on Monday, Tuesday, Friday and Saturday of each week, and on Wednesdays and Thursdays at my home place. James W. Johnson.

Who Will Pay For the Treats

A happy joke, practical or otherwise, that hurts no one's feelings, is heartily appreciated by all concerned, as well as by those hearing of it. Loup City has a number of immortal jokers, who never let an opportunity pass to get one on their fellows. Last Saturday evening, Skip Thrasher purchased a new lawn mower of Otto Petersen, on trial and approval and as he wanted to take in the picture show left the same in front of Otto's till after the show. Some of the boys aware of the purchase and seeing the mower in front of the store, took it to Graefe's drug store and soaked it for plenty of ice cream and soft drinks. When Skip looked for the mower it was gone, of course. Monday, on applying to Otto for the plaything, it was found, but as Skip had purchased it on trial and approval and had not been given a chance to Missouri it, Otto was perforce obliged to take it out of soak, pay the damages and Skip went away chuckling over the outcome. And now the friends who wanted to soak Skip and soaked Otto instead, are puzzling over the back-action affair. Now, will Otto add the cost of the joke onto Skip when he pays for the mower; will Skip pay, if so; will Otto otherwise go after the jokers for the rhino, or as a last resort charge himself with loss of profit on the sale?

Court House Bonds Defeated

Sherman county defeated the court house bonds last Tuesday by a majority of twelve votes. It was planned to build a courthouse similar to the fine fire proof county building now being erected at St. Paul, but they turned it down. They had a mighty pretty building planned, one that would have been an ornament and a credit to the county, and one that would have provided for the needs of the county for all time to come. It is to be hoped that they make some kind of a provision before they have an experience like that of Hamilton county, when the old ramshackle court house went up in flames one night, about twenty years ago, and the courts haven't yet got through quieting titles that were impaired by the destruction of records in that fire. After the horse was stolen Hamilton county got busy and locked the stable by voting bonds to the amount of $100,000, during the hard years, along about 1894 and no one has regretted it since, as far as we know.—Ravenna News.

Rapid Work of Supervisors

As will be seen by the legal notice in another column in this paper calling for a special election for a bond issue to erect a new court house, the county board in session Tuesday promptly acted upon a petition praying for a new election and in so doing have shown a business spirit most commendable. They finished their regular duties yesterday afternoon on routine business and adjourned. The board kills no time in rapid action work on all county affairs coming under their control.

A Valuable Graduation Present

Miss Fay Galloway is one of the happiest girls in the city. Her grandfather, W. T. Gibson, last week presented her with a fine cedar chest, upon which he has expended his skill as a cabinet maker for the past three months at odd moments, to give her as his present upon her graduation. It is a very beauty and represents much work and artistic ability. No wonder Miss Fay is proud and happy over it.

Hazard Boy Hit By B. & M. Train

While driving across the Burlington track in the cut one mile west of Hazard, Ervin Olsen, a 17 year old boy, had his horse and buggy struck by a passenger train, the horse was killed and the buggy completely demolished. The accident occurred Sunday night, and it was a miracle that Olson escaped. He received many bruises, but no fractures.

Essay on the Human Hair. Under the microscope human hair is a more or less complex and very variable tissue. In size, shape and mass (it is a sort of concrete structure) as well as color there is more or less variation of detail. Architecturally curly hair differs from the straight variety; kinky hair has a special construction of its own which explains the kinks; there's a reason apparent under the revealing eye of the microscope, for the black, red, silky, and all other varieties.

Trees and Lightning. The electrical resistance of trees is quite great, a quality which protects them to a considerable degree from lightning stroke. This resistance varies greatly with the character of the tissues and also with the temperature. This fact results in an annual and daily period of resistance. The cambium layer shows the least electrical resistance, followed by the pith and sapwood.

Entirely a Personal Matter. Mark Twain and his peculiarities were being discussed by an English class in a western high school. One youthful orator had very eloquently described Mark's personal appearance and had laid unusual stress on the author's fondness for wearing white flannel. "Gee!" said one much interested youth. "I don't see how the public knows whether his flannels was red or white."—Everybody's Magazine.

Evidently Knew His Townsman. A somewhat personal reference was that of an old Lanarkshire minister who read out for his text the verse in the psalms, "I said in my haste, 'all men are liars';" and then proceeded to give his sermon in the form of an apostrophe, thus: "Ay, David, ye said it in your haste, did ye? If ye had lived in this parish, ye might have said it at your leisure."

Various Thermometers in Use. English-speaking peoples use a thermometer invented by Fahrenheit, a German; many Germans and Scandinavians use one invented by Reaumur, a Frenchman, while the French and most of the other Europeans of the continent use the centigrade thermometer invented by a Swede.
