Business Success

contains no black art. There is nothing mysterious about it. Men do not make fortunes by what is called luck. It is obtainable by legitimate methods, at the command of every one.

The successful business men are invariably men who started depositing their savings in the days of their youth and who made a habit of doing business with the bank. Without the bank's service and help, man remains small in a business way.

If you are not a customer of this bank, let this be your invitation to become one, for your banking business is most respectfully solicited.

All the State Fair people have returned from Lincoln, the latest reaching home by Saturday evening last. The attendance this year exceeded last year by some ten thousand, in spite of the bad weather conditions.

Washouts on the U. P. tracks on either side of Dannebrog and Boelus last Wednesday night caused the moror to be late in its trips the next day. The washouts, however, were not very large nor extended.

Found—A watch. Owner can have same by calling at this office, proving property and paying for this notice.

The latter part of last week, with the high winds, rains and all-round bad weather conditions made haying practically impossible to any general extent. And the big rains of Sunday night did not improve the conditions very much.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Mathew went to Chicago last Thursday, taking with them their infant son, who was to be operated upon Tuesday of this week. They expect to be absent some two or more weeks.

Mrs. J. W. Burrell left Monday morning for a few weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Iowa and Omaha, where she expects to attend the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities in the latter city before returning home. The best mother-in-law a man ever had will look after the welfare of the editor and children during her absence.

The many friends of Joe O'Bryan will be pleased to know that he and his good wife moved back to Loup City from Ord the first of this week, occupying one of their cottages west of the First Presbyterian church. Joe is about as well pleased in returning to make his home in Loup City as the people are to have them as permanent residents once more.

We have received a letter from W. H. Kennedy of Marengo, Ohio, under date of Sept. 8, asking us to change his address to 147 Martin ave., Columbus, Ohio, and in which he adds the following postscript: "Will write you a letter soon. Your old friend, Will." The legion of old time friends of Bill Kennedy will be glad to hear from the good old scout.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Carter and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Archer, all of Rockwell City, Iowa, arrived in Loup City last Friday for a few days' visit at the home of J. A. McIlvray of Webster township. Mr. Archer and Mrs. Carter are cousins of Mrs. McIlvray.

World-Wide Peace World-Wide Demand

The most serious phase of war is the killing and maiming of men with the resulting and prolonged deprivation of their dependent ones. What intolerance took these warriors from their homes? What so unbearable that they must leave all and wage a battle of death, injury and devastation? What made peace so ranking that such grim risks to be taken, such a dear price paid for a change? And after the conflict is ended and maps are revised what better conditions will prevail when again people strive to maintain homes in these self same places.

Here is a country and running through it are some lines separating it into several parts. Each part has a flag, but all depend on industry. There are no new fields, within is all occupied and each part being worked in its own peculiar manner. What change will be brought by altering these dividing lines?

Men who fill the ranks of armies pay only a part of the cost of war when they die for many are left to mourn and survive cruel poverty thrust upon them. Some return to the place whence they came, crippled, and attempt to take up life under pressure of country wide disjointed industry.

Who is the aggressor and just what special difference does it make who it is. Finding the aggressor, tracing the blame to the first or beginning cause, will not remove condemnation from those who fanned the spark another placed.

Defense, true defense, is right, but the aggressor, if for lust, must perish.

Man's law punishes two men who fight and disturb the peace. Is this mob violence justifiable in the eyes of God? Can one civilized nation through murder wrest from another like nation its homes and keepers of homes and gracefully call upon God for His blessing?

Seemingly for many years the triumph of civilization over barbarity had grown and progress toward happiness based on the higher intelligence was over the world.

How long must interruptions by war need to weigh against science, art and literature? Do rulers pray to God for help with love in their hearts, or do they pray to awe and inspire subversive troops?

Here we are seeing nations contending with the battle ax and each one refusing to extend to its neighbor that same spirit which it exercises for its own unity.

Greed of rulers and the reflection of their spirit in people breeds conquest and brute effort. How many times must these thorns pierce our hearts ere love of mankind is true and universal?—A Lover of Justice.

State Fair Attendance Larger Than in 1914

But comparatively few attended the State Fair from here last week on account of the cloudy, rainy and generally bad weather of the week. And the loss was their own exclusively, as the fair this year was many times better than at any past time. While the weather conditions prevented the race programs from being called most of the days, yet the exhibits of all kinds were better than at any preceding year and gave the people more time to visit and examine that same. One of the greatest improvements noted at the fair was the magnificent new and mammoth steel structure which contained the agricultural and horticultural exhibits. We are confident that it is one of the finest buildings of the kind in any state of the union and one cannot conceive of its magnificence and beauty and grandness only by seeing it. The fair this year is acknowledged by all as being better in all respects than any previous year in the matter of exhibits in live stock, grains, fruits, machinery, etc., and the wonderful air achievements of Lincoln Beachy, the aerial acrobat, in his flights were thrilling and we doubt will ever be greater by any wizard of the air. All in all, the State Fair this year was greater than ever before and those who failed to attend missed the greatest fair in the history of Nebraska.
