We understand that George E. Benschöter has purchased a job printing plant and expects to install the same by the first of this coming January in the old Benschöter frame building just south of the State Bank, and become a business indicator in Loup City. Eleven years ago the first of next January, Mr. Benschöter sold the Northwestern to the present owner, and now he comes back to Loup City to again engage in the printing business in competition with us. There's an unwritten law which, if followed, would seem to indicate that George is not following out the precepts of the golden rule, "Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you," as it is seldom that a man sells out a business and then again goes into the same line in the same town in competition, but as there was nothing in the bill of sale, nor any writing to the effect that he was not to do so, there is nothing to prevent his so doing, if he chooses. In fact, from a financial standpoint, we do not personally know of any better opportunity for George to get rich and prosperous than right here where Bro. Benschöter and the editor of this paper have become plutocrats in the newspaper line.

We see that the postoffice fight at Lincoln, the home of Mr. Bryan, and the postoffice fight at Grand Island, the home of national committeeman W. H. Thompson, have been declared settled and the new postmasters are the selections made by Mr. Bryan and by Mr. Thompson respectively. The rabble was not permitted to name these public officials. No primary elections were called to permit the patrons of those post-offices to say whom they (the rabble) wanted. In all probability when a new postmaster is to be selected for Omaha, Mr. Hitchcock's home, he will personally make the selection and the Omaha rabble will not be called upon to make the selections, but are not willing to permit the rabble to make similar selections at their own homes. A man who will not be willing to take his chances with the rabble is unfair, if not absolutely dishonest in his motives when he exacts the rabble to make the selections in the localities where they are not personally concerned.—Kearney Democrat.

Sammons, the ex-sheriff of Buffalo county, who has been on trial in Omaha on charge of stealing a $5,000 package of money from the Kearney postoffice, got a nice Thanksgiving present from the jury on the case. Up to date he has not returned thanks. Of course, he takes exception, asks a retrial, and in event of refusal will take his case up to the higher courts. The probabilities are that the last guess will be many months hence.

At the Omaha motorcycle races Thanksgiving, one of the contestants was killed, and in a number of other cities, according to the dispatches, several were likewise killed. It is not necessary for this country to get into the European war to kill the people off; just get up plenty of race meetings like the above and the cemeteries can be kept full.

And now it is claimed that Bryan is to leave the Wilson cabinet and go into training for a seat in the United States senate from Nebraska. Or, maybe, as he has concluded to put Gambrius out of business, he will take leadership in eliminating the saloon evil from this country. Great is Bryan and the only simon-pure prophet of the 20th century.

Richard Croker, the former great Tamany chieftain, aged 73 years, was married Thanksgiving day to a half-breed Indian girl aged 23 years. It is evidently a case of spring lingering in the lap of winter.
