Been trying to save an amount sufficient to "make a good start?"

You doubtless know from your own experience that the money which you can lay your hands on at any moment never lasts

So don't wait for a "start," but begin now. We earnestly solicit your banking business.

Santa Claus Time

Is Christmas time-the holiday season, when all the world is imbued with that spirit of good cheer and good will to men. Christmas was not meant for children only. The inner-most feelings of all man and woman-kind are touched by the spirit of good fellowship that prevails. We are all happier when we see others happy. This paper wishes every man, woman and child all the happiness and every blessing that may possibly R. H. MATHEW come to them, and in keeping with our usual custom, we are printing in our paper this week several columns of Christmas matter to assist in spreading the Holiday feeling. Read it. It will do you good. There's not a spot of grouch in the entire assortment.

Flowers and Birds In Factories. The time may come when ferns and canary birds will be considered a necessary part of every factory's equipment. In at least one workshop they have been found to serve a most use ful purpose-in a somewhat negative sense, perhaps. In any event, it is susceptible of proof that where flowers and birds do not flourish the conditions are not what they should be for human beings. Flowers are regarded as a good test of the humidity RO ERT H.MATHEW of the air. If the air is too dry, as is often the case in steam heated interiors, plants will wither and die. like human beings, demand oxygen. If there be a deficiency of Only set of Abstract books in county this element, the fact is speedily evident in the drooping spirits of the birds, their reduced activity and their unusual silence.

The Cheetul. The axis, or cheetul deer of the In dian jungle can claim to be the most ornamental of all the 36 races of deer to be seen gathered together at Woburn, England. In the early summer, when all the other deer except the wapiti are either shedding their horns or "in the velvet," the axis are in perfection, both of color and antlers. The large herd of this species looks as if carved out of ivory and red gold in the sunshine and verdure of English scenery. Their horns are almost white, their eyes and muzzles of jet black, their throats white and their sides and backs a brilliant golden tan, spotted with round dots of purest

Secret of His Success. His character was good, his references were excellent and his ability was undoubted. He was a first favorwhat side you support, only for the smooth working of my business I find it necessary often to know the political complexion of some of my employes." A hard look came into the candidate's eyes. "Politics?" he said, "what are my pointies? The question can be very easily and briefly answered. I'm against politics." He was engaged

Tests for Drunkenness. In a recent court of inquiry in an Indiana town a former bartender was called to the stand as an expert in the matter of what constitutes drunken ness. "Of course, when a man can't track right, he's drunk," said the for mer bartender, "but outside of that I'm always sure he's 'tight' if he cries and tells what a good wife and family he has; tells me in confidence he is making $5,000 a year, or preaches a sermon to all his fellow-bar-flies on the evils of drink."

Battle Field Statistics.

The result of careful observations made at battle-field hospitals by one of the leading surgical authorities of the French gives the relative frequency of wounds not instantaneously mortal as: Slight, 60 per cent; serious, 15 per cent; very serious, 25 per cent. The experience of recent wars shows the head and the right arm as the most ferquent lodging places of Siberian Squirrels.

More than four million five hundred thousand gray squirrels were killed last year in Siberia for their fur. The tails alone weighed more than twenty one tons. The animal figuring next in the fur trade of Asiatic Russia, in point of numbers, was the white hare, which contributed 1,500,000 skins.

Mason and Dixon's Line. For a long time there was a bitter dispute between Pennsylvania and Maryland as to the boundary line be tween them. The dispute was settled ty two surveyors, Mason and Dixon, who, in 1763-7, ran the line as it now is between the two states. "Mason and Dixon's Line"-the southern boundary of Pennsylvania-afterward became famous as the division between freedom and slavery.

Some Club Suggestions.

The members of a Manchester club were using the "suggestion" book for Builder & Contractor grumbles rather than for the purpose which its name implied, and the committee, says the Manchester Guardian sarcastically put up a notice giving the dictionary meaning of the word "suggestion." Swiftly two of the grumblers got back at them. One suggested "that beans and their strings be served in separate dishes" and another "that smaller egg spoons be provided or larger eggs."
