The many friends of Will Ohlsen, have prevailed upon him to allow his name to go before the electors at the polls next Tuesday as a candidate for city engineer. It is too late for his name to go on by petition, and will have to be written in, which is a serious handicap, but he is so well known and well liked that it looks pretty certain a sufficient number will yield the pencil in fashioning his name to the blank space provided that no surprise may be entertained if he is a winner. Will is one of our most popular young men and has a legion of friends who have only to know that he is up for city engineer to enlist in his cause.

Will open up with a new line of millinery, one door west of Ideal Bakery, Friday, April 2. Come in and see my line of hats, and your patronage will be greatly appreciated. Miss Hattie Froehlich.

A letter received Monday from our good friends, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Pilger, at their home, 1124 E. Broadway, Butte, Montana, enclosing a year's advance subscription to the Northwestern, shows what they think of the measly weather conditions which have confronted us here for the past four months; They say: "We are amazed at your reports of the stormy weather you have had. We were very much interested in Jimmy Conger's description of his trips and his trials. You must have had piles of snow. Why, even up in Alaska, where our son, Newton, is, the weather was very much better behaved, and here we have had fine, balmy days without number. Kindest regards to all," etc.

V. E. Cunningham went to Ravenna and Hazard Monday morning on business returning Wednesday.

ANNOUNCEMENT
At the earnest solicitation of men representing almost every political creed of our community, I have become a candidate for mayor of Loup City.

I ask the support of voters and can hereby claim that I will be able to carry out the desires of the people, without influence from any ring, organization or institution whatsoever. I believe in Loup City and have that interest which goes with one engaged in business and trying for better things.

Home-town interest can hardly be said to be whole-hearted, if one favors non-resident competition, and I am in favor of encouraging the business of Loup City in every possible way.

Too much has been said about the wet and dry proposition in connection with the office of mayor. The question of wet and dry is apart from the mayorship, and each has its proper place on the ballot, and the people decide for themselves for wet or dry. If for instance the town goes wet, it is the mayor's duty to carry out the will of the people and sign the saloon permits. He could not do right and do otherwise.

The question of sewers is also one for the people to elect to do at the polls, when such time comes that they bring up the matter. The people decide such matters for themselves.

I believe in public improvements and favor the community as a whole keeping pace with improvements like our hotel, opera house, office buildings, creamery, bakery, stores and homes built by individuals. I believe that the town should encourage these and others by doing as well. I believe in the equal distribution of labor among the workers of our town.

I am interested in the growth of Loup City, have my home established here, maintain an active business here and stand for a square deal for every man who wants to do business in our town.

S. A. ALLEN.

Miss Dorothy Hansen of Hastings, who had been here several days visiting with her brother and sister of the Hansen Lumber Co., returned home last Saturday.
