The name of Judge B. O. Hostetler of Kearney is brought forward as just about the right material from which to make the next governor of Nebraska, from the republican point It will take a lot of scheming to study of view. Having published a newspaper in Judge Hostetler's judicial district for nearly twelve years, where he is known as the business judge, and where he is so popular that no one can be found to run against him, and where following his name on the ballot will be found all the party cognomens, we wish to be plainly understood as being for Bruno O. Hostetler first, last and all the time, in event he can be persuaded to give up his life-lease as judge of his district to become governor. And if he were as well and favorably known over the state as he is in his own judicial district, all (the home of Billy Sunday's arch enemy) couldn't Governor Hostetler would beat him. ideal executive.-Crawford make an Courier.

In 1916 the democratic national committee is without a secretary and a considerable number of its members want to discharge the chairman. But the committee does not lack a He is the gentleman who composed the official comment of the committee on this year's election results. They mean merely, said this document, that the progressives and the republicans are reunited. Nothing more is needed to assure republican victory in 1916. Wilson received the electoral vote of forty-one states in 1912 and had 435 votes in the electoral college. He had a majority support in only fourteen states, with 152 electoral votes. In the other thirty-four states the combined republican and progressive strength far outnumbered the democracy, and Wilson won by a plurality. The reunion of the progressives and republicans in 1916 is made certain by the elections of 1914 and 1915, and means that Wilson will have his fourteen states-the solid south-

Twice since he has been at the head of the treasury department, Secretary McAdoo has changed the method of making the daily tresasury Big Run of Cattle and Prices statement so that it shows a larger net balance than it would show under methods previously in use. But even this has not proven a sufficient tadpole. But then again, that's their business, and they are experts in remedy for the depleting effects of democratic legislation. Mr. McAdoo's own statements show that during the week ending November 12, the net balance dropped almost $10,000,000. out bookkeeping stunts that will cover up a record like that.

The New York "Times" sees from the elections a reunited opposition to the democratic party, and warns Mr. Wilson that "it will not do to repeat such perilous blunders as that of the seamen's act, or to persist in such adventures as a government-owned merchant marine." It also counsels him to take counsel of men of experience, not excluding republicans. These admonitions will fall on deaf ears.

After discussing the partial restoraion of prosperity, a democratic paper says: "Time heals all wounds." Perhaps, but there is an old saying that 'a burned child avoids the fire." The wounds suffered by American industry will undoubtedly be healed by time, though many a scar will remain. But he injured will not forget.

A news dispatch from Helena, Montana, quoted Secretary McAdoo as saying, "we have not had any real prosperity in the United States for en years." This is evidently an error in transmission. Assuming the Secretary to have been trying to tell the truth, he must have said "two years" instead of "ten years," as is reported.

Governor Fielder, the democratic executive of New Jersey, has no illusions. The election this year means, he says, that "New Jersey is still a republican state."

Union Stock Yards, South Omaha, Nov. 23 .- A very large run of cattle arrived yesterday, nearly 13,000 head. Choice corn fed cattle were scarce, but there was a raft of short fed and warmed up grades and . the market was rather dull, with prices weak to 10@15c lower than the close of last week. The demand from dressed beet men was good for anything good enough to attract attention in the western beef line and prices held up very nearly as well as last week.
