FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

A. C. Longnecker, of St. Paul, was instantly killed at 9:30 Monday morning on the road three miles northwest of Ashton, near the school house in District No. 30, when the car he was driving turned turtle, pinning him underneath and breaking his neck.

Mr. Longnecker was collector for the International Harvester Co. and made his home at St. Paul, moving out from Omaha about six months ago. He is survived by a wife and one child.

The accident was witnessed by Henry Dethlefs, who hurried to the scene, and finding that life was extinct, notified Coroner Main at once. In all probability the accident was caused by Mr. Longnecker trying to avoid a mud hole in the center of the road. It appeared that he had turned to the side of the road and in doing so had lost control of the car. The road was soft and slippery, rain falling the night before. A coroner's inquest was held at the scene of the tragedy, the jury bringing in a verdict about as the facts are stated above.

In this accident, like several others that have occurred near here during the past year, it occurred on a level piece of road at a place that it would appear to be perfectly safe.

THE CHURCHES.

Presbyterian.

Next Sabbath morning at 10:30 the quarterly communion service, which was postponed because of the meetings will be observed. At the same service the doors of the church will be opened to receive new members. All those who wish to be received at this service will please meet the session at the church at 10:00 o'clock.

We want to urge all those who made a profession during the meetings to get into the church, and we also urge all those who are willing to accept Christ, even though you did not come out in the meeting, to get into the church.

In the evening the pastor will preach. There will be special music at both services. We want a big chorus choir. Come and help.

The annual meeting and Fellowship Supper and also reception for new members will be held at the church on Thursday evening, May 4th. Let every member keep this date open without fail. This is the greatest church meeting of the year.

Baptist.

Sunday morning and evening an opportunity will be given all those who signed cards for the Baptist church during the Erwin Brothers evangelistic campaign, to unite with us in church fellowship. Baptismal services one week later.

B. Y. P. U. will meet at 6:30 as formerly at which time we will begin the delayed trip to Palestine. Let every one desiring to take first ship be on time as no further delay is anticipated.

Mrs. Kenneth Leach, of Perry, Iowa, arrived the first of the week for a visit at the P. E. Hansen home.

Last Sunday evening rain suddenly commenced falling and while the deluge lasted only a few minutes, over half an inch of water fell.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

The delay in securing returns from the primary election over Dawes and every other county in the state shows the necessity of one important amendment to the primary law, and that would be to have a double number of judges and clerks of election—one set to take in and record the vote and the other to count the ballots every hour during the day. This would shorten the duties and enable the returns to be counted and finished within a few minutes after the last vote is polled. The cost would be no greater than at present and the tedious hours of one set of clerks and judges cut squarely in two, and the satisfaction of the voters greatly enhanced. This method is employed in a great many states and why it has not been incorporated into the election laws of Nebraska would be difficult to determine, unless by oversight and unthoughtfulness. The matter should be remedied at the next session of the legislature.—Crawford Courier.

WHO KILLED CHARLES?

Who killed Charles Bryan? "I," said John Maher: "I killed the bar, easy as flyin'." Who'll dig his grave? "I," said Neville: "on yonder hill I'll dig his grave." Who'll toss him in? "I," said Art Mullen, sober and sullen: "I'll toss him in." Who will forget? "I," said Dick Met., "I will forget: none will forgive him."—Bixby.

A RECEIPT NECESSARY.

Among the delinquent subscribers of a certain country weekly was an Irishman who becoming tired of repeated requests to pay up, finally walked into the office with a $5.00 bill which he planked down and insisted on having a receipt.

For some reason it was not either convenient or feasible to so accommodate him and an argument ensued.

The climax came when the Irishman exclaimed: "It may be all right for yez, but how about me? Supposin' I die; when I reach the gate of Hivven, old St. Peter will say, 'Pat, have you paid all your debts, includin' your subscription to the newspaper?' 'I have.' 'Where's your receipt?' 'And here I am chargin' around all over Hell to find yez!'"
