The Value of Thrift

We believe if the children of the present generation were taught in the schools and in the homes the methods and principles of economy; were taught that if they do not save their pennies they will not save their dollars, and that if they ever expect to acquire a fortune or enough to keep them in old age, they must spend less than they make, and that it is disgraceful to live beyond their means—when they come to manhood and womanhood they would realize come to manhood and womanhood they would realize to a far greater extent than they do now what economy means.
