The Value of Thrift

This last August at the International Congress for "Thrift," held at the Panama Exposition in San Francisco, a movement was started by the American Society for Thrift to have this subject inaugurated in the common school curriculum.

The men and women who are wasteful and extravagant today will continue so unless actual misfortune and disaster overtake them. It is impossible to change their mode of life, and unless this is taken up with the children in the schools and in the homes they will grow to manhood and womanhood with little realization of thrift and economy. Our boys and girls of today will be our men and women tomorrow.

Victor Hugo says: "Above all, teach the children to save. Economy is the sure foundation for all virtue."

Last Thursday seven golf players autoed over from Ord and played a matched game with the Loup City club. Every one of the home players defeated his opponent and won out by a decisive score. The Senior class play "The Co-Ed" was presented by the class at the opera house last night. Every part was played in a fitting manner and the large audience was well pleased with the evening's entertainment. The stage settings and costumes left nothing to be desired. Every member of the cast is worthy of individual mention though lack of space forbids us going into detail at this time. It has been again demonstrated that our local talent is equal to any in the entertainment line. Now don't forget the Junior play to be given on Friday evening, June 2.

There is still time before the hot days come to pack eggs for winter use. One of the ways for preserving eggs suggested by the College of Agriculture is to add one pound of air-slaked lime to five gallons of cooled, boiled water and stir well. Only clean fresh eggs with sound shells should be used. Enough of the solution should be left over the eggs to allow for evaporation. The jar should be kept in a cool place. Eggs may be "put down" as gathered. Those laid in the spring and early summer, however, are more likely to be of good quality than those laid after.
