PURCHASES WITHOUT SERVICE.

"Going farther and farther worse." How truly this trite old phrase applies in buying home supplies. People will pay car fare to some distant city, exhaust themselves with a day of shopping, waste valuable time, and return with goods they could have bought better at home. And they admit it.

Making a wise purchase is not simply handing over your money to a machine. You want some personal service. You don't get that out of a mail order house shipment, or from some stranger clerk in a distant department store.

On the contrary, the home merchant and his clerks try to make a sale that will fit your needs. They give you the benefit of their intelligence and experience. They speak of defects to be avoided and give information about goods. In making this kind of purchase, you get service, something more than the mere goods handed over the counter. And if they don't fit, you get satisfaction.

THE GREAT INFIDEL.

While Robert G. Ingersol made for himself a legion of enemies by his attacks on Christianity, all must admire his eloquence. No man in America could more beautifully frame a sentence, and his eloquent remarks at the grave of his brother lead one to doubt if the great infidel was half so bad as his own words, at times pictured him to be. A man who uttered so many beautiful things had but little room in his heart for atheism with its cold, revolting, heathenish teachings. In a symposium on woman, Col. Robert G. Ingersol was asked to contribute his views. He replied as follows:

"It takes a hundred men to make an encampment, but one woman can make a home. I not only admire woman as the most beautiful object ever created, but I reverence her as the redeemed glory of humanity, the sanctuary of all virtues, the pledge of all perfect qualities of heart and head. It is because women are so much better than men that their faults are considered greater. The one thing in this world that is constant, the only peak that rises above the clouds, the one window, in which the light burns forever, the one star that darkness cannot quench, is woman's love. It rises to the greatest heights, it sinks to the lowest depths, it forgives the most cruel injuries. A woman's love is the perfume of the earth. This is the real love that subdues the earth; the love that has wrought all miracles of art; that gives us music all the way from the cradle song to the grand closing symphony that bears the soul away on wings of fire. A love that is greater than power, sweeter than life and stronger than death."

A BILL WE CAN'T PAY.

A ten year old boy overheard a conversation about certain bills to be paid, and conceived the idea of making out a bill for his own services. So the next morning he laid this statement of account on his mother's breakfast plate:

"Mother owes Willie for carrying coal six times, twenty cents; for bringing water lots of times, thirty cents; for going ten errands, fifteen cents." His mother read the bill but said nothing about it. That evening Willie found on his plate the sixty-five cents and also another bill which read as follows: "Willie owes his mother for his happy home for ten years, nothing; for his food and clothing, nothing; for nursing him through a long illness, nothing; total, nothing." When Willie saw the sixty-five cents he was pleased. But when he read his mother's bill his eyes grew dim and his lips quivered. Then he took the money to his mother, threw his arms about her neck and begged that she would let him do lots of things for her.

Mother's bill is rarely presented but it will pay each person to think it out and over for himself and then pay it in love and service.—Exchange.

SMITHS IN THE LEAD.

Washington, Feb. 21.—Do you belong to the Smith family? If you do your prolific kindred are the most widely represented family in the ranks of Uncle Sam's fighting men, according to statistics recently compiled by the United States marines.

Of the 1932 Smiths who have recently enlisted in the United States marine corps there are 181 Franks, 165 Johns and 160 each of Charlie and Williams. Murphys take the lead among those of Irish descent with 322, and among the Hebrews, who contrary to general belief are first class fighting men, 122 Cohens stand bravely to the fore.

The term "Tommy Atkins" applied to the English soldier gained its popularity by the large number of that name in the British Army, and the United States mariner point to "Frank Smith" as being the logical sobriquet of the American military man.

Moline Heat
 In Your Building is the First Step

Your building may be absolutely tight—with storm windows throughout—and fine draft in the chimney. Yet, if your heating plant is not built on scientific principles (of today) you can't have a real warm, comfortable building.

Many Moline Heat Users Claim a Saving of from 20 to 60% in Fuel

It Does this simply because it takes less coal (and time) to get the heat into the radiators and less coal to keep it there.

No Air Vents—Moline Heat expels the air thru one valve, in the basement, and keeps it out. Vapor immediately takes its place.

Quick Heat is available, even in the farthest room, because vapor always awaits at each radiator, ready to be admitted instantly at a turn of the valve.

Any Amount of Heat without noise or risk. You can turn off or on any quantity of heat and the radiator won't fill up with water and squirt all over the floor, or charge and whistle. It's absolutely noiseless.

Holds the Heat long after the pressure drops in the boiler. That means a big reduction in fuel and pleasant atmosphere in the room.

Quickly Revived—When you poke up the fire, fresh vapor enters the radiators at once; because, as the whole plant is in partial vacuum, it is pulled, not forced into them.

No Water in Radiators. As the radiators contain no water—they are very responsive. Not slow like hot water or steam. No danger of flooding. All the water—very little at the most—is in the basement, in the boiler.

Costs Little—No more than any good heating plant.

Moline Heat is going into thousands of buildings each year. Every feature about it is unquestionably guaranteed.

The Moline Heat Catalog will tell you all about Moline Heat and a lot of things about heating in general that perhaps you don't know.

Send the request and bring it or mail it to us and we will see that you get a catalog without any obligation on your part. Send today before your plans are too far along or it may be too late to receive any benefit from the catalog, or 12 cents in face.
