Good Sense and Good Luck Go Hand in Hand

In fact, the terms are synonymous. Good Sense is the honest, strong handled spade that unearths Good Luck.

Good Luck is often confounded with Fool's Luck which may happen once in a while, but the Good Luck which is the result of Good Sense brings you returns every day.

Don't waste any time wishing for haphazard Fool's Luck, but go ahead and dig out your own substantial Good Luck in a way that will make you wish to shake hands with yourself.

And all the time bank with the First National Bank of Loup City. That in itself, is an evidence of Good Sense that will aid you in your quest for Good Luck.

To reduce expenses, inspectors will go through the country in the next few months and examine all roads which the rural carriers travel and whenever the condition of the roads is found bad routes will be discontinued. Roads which show neglect will be more apt to be condemned than those which have been put in first class condition. One careless road overseer in a township may be responsible for the loss of a route.—Ex. Gladys Brockwell is a double star in her first starring vehicle for William Fox, "Sins of Her Parent." Miss Brockwell plays two parts, that of the mother, and that of the daughter who suffers through her mother's wrongs. The photoplay will be at the Daddow Opera House Saturday, September 1. The story of "Sins of Her Parent" tells how a girl learns that her mother is a worthless dance-hall woman of Alaska. The discovery almost brings unhappiness in its path but all is righted through the final sacrifice of the mother.

Miss Marcia Ver Valin went to Imperial Saturday and is attending the teacher's institute there this week. She will teach in the Imperial schools the coming year. The company of National Guard reserves that is being recruited here by H. E. Willis now has over forty members and more than twenty others are going to sign up before the end of the week. Mr. Willis is entitled to great credit for the manner in which John Leininger recently visited with relatives in Ohio and when he started home was taken to the train by a brother-in-law who was apparently in the best of health. When Mr. Leininger arrived home he received word that the brother-in-law had died suddenly. It was indeed a sad ending of a pleasant visit. Ben Ackerman had an arm broken Tuesday evening at Schaupp when a railroad motor car used by section men hit a wagon he was on while crossing the track. Mr. Ackerman was driving four horses to the wagon and when the motor car hit the wagon the wagon box was thrown about twenty feet and Mr. Ackerman was thrown onto a pile of telephone poles near the track with the above result. The injured arm was dressed by the doctor and he is getting along nicely. None of the section men were hurt. The postoffice department has decided to cut out a large number of rural routes in the next few months he has taken hold of this proposition and pushed it to a successful termination. The company will be sworn in in the very near future and there is no doubt but that it will start in with 75 men at least. Brigadier General Steele will be here the last of the week to meet the boys and assist in organizing the company. F. S. Reynolds had a bad fall Monday evening and is at his home in a serious condition. Mr. Reynolds was repairing one of the windmills at the city pumping station and in some manner fell from the tower, a distance of eighteen feet, to the roof of the reservoir. One leg was broken and he was badly hurt internally. Mr. Thrasher was at the plant at the time and he immediately summoned a doctor and got Mr. Reynolds home as quick as possible. Everything that can be done for the injured man is being done to ease his pain and it is hoped that his life may be saved. Herschel Mayall whose splendid vigorous portrayal of the father in "The Beast" won him commendation wherever the film was shown, is once more with the Wm. Fox forces. Mr. Mayall appears in the new Gladys Brockwell photoplay, "Sins of Her Parent" and he has the role of the "heavy" who almost brings sorrow to the heroine in the last reel. Mayall's part is that of boss of a gang of Alaskan miners, and in several of the scenes for the production, he had to show his authority in a decided manner. That was why a negro stage hand, who stood nearby, remarked when he saw the big actor pass his way: "There goes the Empire of all them Romans." See it at the opera house Saturday night. Mrs. John Turrentine returned to her home at Central City last Thursday after spending a few days here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Galloway, and taking in the chautauqua. Mrs. Turrentine was on the train that was run into by another train on the siding at St. Paul that day. She suffered a severe shaking up and the sides of her face were somewhat bruised but came out of the accident very luckily, as several persons were severely hurt. The passenger train was going onto the siding to clear the track for a freight train and before a switch could be turned the freight rushed down upon them. The passenger engineer stopped his engine before the crash, otherwise the smashup might have been much worse. No one was killed in the accident, several were badly injured and the passenger coaches and engine were badly damaged. The blame for the accident, we are informed, rests upon the passenger crew, because they were switching on the freight's time.
