The Cosy Corner

FROM THE WISE

Child: "Mother what is a waif?"
Mother: "A waif is a girl with no home."
Child: "Where does she walk after an automobile ride?"

The young wife baked her first pumpkin pie for her husband.
Later at dinner he asked: "Who spilled the mustard in that pie?"

First Girl: "Who was that man I saw you with yesterday?"
Second Girl: "That was no man, it was my brother."

Betty Loren: "Ernestine, don't you think I'm rather brilliant?"
Ernestine Taylor: "You're so dumb you think the Mexican boarding house is on the Mexican border."

Colored Parson: "For de benefit of doze contributin' cough drops, de minister's cold am cured."

Friend: "You will soon forget her and be happy again."
Jilted Lover: "Oh no, I shan't. I've bought too much for her on the installment plan!"

OUT OF GAS

We were breezing along in our new Pontiac, with yellow pools of sunlight bathing the dusty road before us. Spring was apparently just around the corner. A little bird, merely a sparrow, sat on an old stump chirping its glad song to us. Everything seemed quite cheerful indeed.

Everyone was chatting noisily, when all of a sudden the car gave a lurch and came to a dead standstill. The noise ceased, and did we stare! The driver couldn't imagine what the trouble was. Of course he wouldn't with a new Pontiac. Someone suggested that we all get out and examine the auto. We did. The first thing we did was to look blank, then all together—
"We're out of gas!"

Mother: "Dorothy, you disobeyed and you can't have your candy now."

Dorothy's Father: "You've been quiet for twenty minutes. What's wrong?"

Dorothy: "I've been fined for speeding."

Young Child: "Mama, come suiek. I'm falling to pieces. My tooth just dropped out!"

Student No. 1: "What are senators?"

Student No. 2: "God made these men out of clay and stood them against a wall; when he returned with the brains they were gone."

LITERATURE LORE

My Mother

My mother is most dear to me,
Without her I don't know where I'd be;

For it is she who every day
Makes me happy in some way.

When I'm feeling cross and blue,
And with my lessons I'm not thru,
Who but that dear mother of mine,
Comforts and pleases every time.

My mother always understands
My cares and hardships new,
So I give her all the love
That I know she is due.

increase each Sunday and we hope to make next Sunday's attendance a record.

Sunday being Quarterly Conference, the Rev. W. B. Brooks, presiding elder of the Omaha District, filled the pulpit both morning and evening and brought a wonderful message to a large and appreciative congregation. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock the Rev. Winchester of Mt. Zion Baptist Church was guest speaker.

Last Thursday evening Dr. Burbridge called a business meeting for eight o'clock and expressed himself as being very pleased at the large attendance. Dr. Burbridge is doing splendid work here and we feel sure he will be of great assistance to the church and its members. Let us all get together and as members of this beautiful church give Dr. Burbridge and the members of his official board our full cooperation and see if we can't get somewhere.

The Ladies Aid with Mrs. Sara Walker as president served a most delicious repast of chicken noodles and crackers and coffee.

THIRD CHURCH

Sarah J. McWilliams, Pastor

Sunday morning services were well attended, several visitors present. The singing of the Tarpley children was a very pleasant feature of the morning services.

Brother Jeff Stepney who has been convalescing for the past few weeks had a relapse and was unable to attend Sunday services.

Mrs. Jessie Bell, who was in Lincoln attending the funeral of her brother-in-law, Mr. Gustus Hardin, returned to her home in Omaha, Sunday evening.

If this beautiful weather continues there is no doubt that we will resume work on the basement of the church.

The Third Church Boosters Club will meet Thursday evening at the home of Miss Hellen McWilliams.

Sister Phannie Corneal has been having trouble with her hands of late but is much improved at present.

AS OTHERS SEE IT

Conducted by Mr. Gaitha Pegg, 1942

Vine Street, Lincoln

Dear Sir:

On the first floor of Bessey Hall, on the university campus, is a placard advertising meals at the Temple Cafeteria. This placard has on it a black faced waiter carrying a tray.

I am calling attention to this because it seems strange to me that the Temple Cafeteria uses a black face in its advertisements but does not deem it necessary to have one in its employ. I don't think any Negro would object to the caricature if he were on the job, but as it is, it looks like gross misrepresentation of the facts to me; since no Negro is working there nor has worked there, unless in medieval times.

But is the cafeteria the only department of the university which does not hire colored help? I don't think so. There may be some Negroes on the university payroll but I have never seen them. What is the matter with the Negro taxpayers of Nebraska? I read a letter in the last printing of your column, Mr. Pegg, in which something was said about a Negro voting league which once existed. It seems to me that if ever such an organization was needed, it is now.

Maybe Rep. Owens could help the state employment situation a little.

A. STUDENT

RICHMOND TURNS

OVER NEW LEAF

It is said that the word "nigger" was temporarily dropped; chairs provided for Negro women as well as white women in the court room; the word "Mr." was used in addressing colored witnesses; and the court was forced to accept the bond of a colored man for a white man last week in Richmond, Virginia.

This was all for the first time in history of the Richmond courts, when Abe Thompson, white, organizer of that branch of the Unemployed Council was tried on a charge of "vagrancy" for leading a hunger march of white and Negro.
