LEVI JACKSON TOPS GLENN DAVIS?

CAMBRIDGE, MASS.— (ANP) —Harry Jacunski, assistant coach at Harvard who has scouted Yale football this season, believes Levi Jackson, Yale's colored star, better than Army's Glenn Davis in some respects.

"It as open field," Jacunski said, "Jackson is harder to bring down than Davis. One man can't stop him. It takes one to knock him off his stride and a second to bring him down."

Jacunski speaks with authority because as Notre Dam's end coach last season he watched Davis in action several times.

"Davis may be a little faster," he conceded, "though Jackson is a sprint champion in his own right. Davis is a better pass receiver. But Jackson punts, runs, passes and he's only a freshman."

In his report, Jacunski said he was impressed with the whole Yale team, but Jackson was the one man to watch all the time he was in the game. (43)

Former Pitt and N. Y. U. track star, John Woodruff, is now training for one more try at indoor track records. Woodruff who is now 31 years old is holders of the 800 meter and 880 yard dash world record. During his 2½ years of service with the 369th Coast Artillery he did very little running. While in service he held the rating of Captain and just recently he has been appointed a social investigator with the welfare department. Woodruff is trying to whip himself in shape for the Millrose game and the rest of the indoor meets of the season. After this he plans to quit for good.

Once again Mr. Buddy Young sparked the Illionis team and become a thorn in the side of the Northwestern as Illinois defeated the Wild cats 20—0 to just about cinch the Rose Bowl trip.

Jimmy Freeman turned in an excellent referee assignment in his initial "big time" debut. He officiated the Cox & Evans fight. Freeman, a handsome looking brown skinned youth, disported himself like an Arthur Donovan. The crowd must have thought him good also because when the fight ended he received most of the cheering.
