Patterson Appointed To Red Cross Committee

Art Work On Lincoln U Prof. Accepted for Art Show Exhibit In Omaha

Jefferson City, Mo.— (ANP)— Among the works of seven Missouri artists that have been selected by a jury of art critics to represent the state in the annual Six State Regional Art show in Omaha is a lithograph done by James D. Parks, assistant professor of art at Lincoln university, it was announced here last week.

The art show, to be held this month at the Joslyn Memorial Art museum in Omaha, is sponsored by the Society of Liberal arts. States represented are Colorado, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Parks' lithograph Portrays Joe Louis's dramatic knockout of John Henry Lewis. Copies of this print, entitled "The Knockout", have previously been purchased for the permanent art collections of Atlanta university and Springfield, Mo., Art museum.

Bill to Outlaw "Racketeering In Hatred" Proposed In Indiana

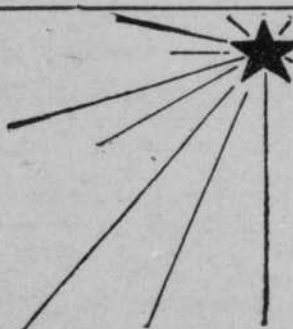

INDIANAPOLIS—(ANP)—The Republican legislative policy committee "adopted in principle" here last week a proposed bill for the January session of the legislature which would make "racketeering in hatred" a new crime in Indiana. The measure was proposed by James A. Emmert, attorney general for the state, and was directed at the Ku Klux Klan and similar organizations. Republicans will have decisive majorities in both house of the legislature and should be able to put through the bill without difficulty.

The bill, which carries stiff penalties for violation, would make it unlawful for "any person or persons to agree, combine, unite, confederate, conspire, organize, associate or assemble with any other person or persons for the purpose of creating, advocating, spreading or disseminating hatred by reason of race, color or religion not prohibited by law, for or against any person not an alien enemy of the United States."

WASHINGTON—(ANP)— Dr. F. D. Patterson, president of Tuskegee institute, was named Wednesday to the central committee of the American Red Cross by Chairman Basil O'Connor. The Central committee, a small group of 18 members, is the supreme governing body of Red Cross, the President of the United States appointing five members and the organization itself selecting the remainder.

Simultaneously with the appointment of President Patterson, who for several years has served as a member of the board of incorporators, President Truman announced his appointees to the central committee. They included Maj. Gen. J. H. Hildring, assistant Secretary of State; Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the army; Atty. Gen. Tom C. Clark; Rear Adm. Clifford A. Swanson, surgeon general of the navy; and Joseph J. O'Connell, general counsel of the U. S. treasury. Dr. Patterson was also named as a member of the executive committee of the Central committee. Other members of the Central committee named were Edward Dana, Boston and Mrs. Floyd W. McRae, Boston.

The appointments were announced at a luncheon given for chapter delegates and the board of incorporators at the Statler hotel. W. Averell Harriman, new secretary of commerce, was the principal speaker. He urged that the international work of Red Cross be continued on a widening scale. Chairman O'Connor, who was reappointed by President Truman Tuesday, presided.
