Men study and strive and many devote their lives to the conquering of disease. Other men contribute hospitals and sanatoriums for the curing of man's physical and mental ills. Yet disease and ill health are still so common that everyone is familiar with this misfortune. Men fight both for and against the development of a program of socialized medicine designed to prevent ill health and to arrest disease in its early stages. Man has not learned the way to good health.

Men have developed great religions purporting to explain God's plan for His creatures, the mystery of life and death, the hope of eternal life, and a moral code designed to enable men to live in a commendable, constructive, cooperative manner. Houses of worship, great cathedrals and little shrines, and church of all descriptions are the meeting places for millions of people, gathered to worship their God as they see the way. The Hub of Harmony, a group of young men from Union College and the University of Nebraska will present a concert at the Urban League Sunday, February 9, at 8:00. The boys are presenting this program for a scholarship fund, a worthy objective. We as a race and as a community should be proud of these young men and give them our whole-hearted support. Good luck and success boys!

Thomas E. Molden, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Molden is another one of Nebraska's favorite sons, having come from Weeping Water, Nebraska. In high school Tom was active in several sports of which his favorite was football. He also gained some of his musical knowledge as soloist there. After graduation in 1940 Tom worked for a while in the Hybrid Seed Company and later in the Kansas City Bridge Construction Company.

In September of 1942 he left to serve in the United States Army. After two years and eight months most of which were spent in the South Pacific, he was discharged in January 3, 1946. Tom acknowledged that he was glad that he had had the experience of being in the army and felt that the "social enlightenment" was beneficial to his future happiness.

Mr. Molden matriculated in N. U. the second semester term in 1946. He is majoring in pre-law.
