Sunday School Lesson

By Rev. R. E. Handy

Subject—Jesus Washes the Disciple's Feet.

Scripture Text—John 13

Memory Verse—"A new commandment I give unto you: That ye love one another." John 13: 34.

— The Lesson Down to Date —

This is a lesson in humility.

In the days of Jesus' earthly ministry people wore sandals so naturally their feet were dusty upon entering houses. To make guests comfortable their feet were washed, usually by a slave. In this lesson we find Jesus girding himself with a towel and kneeling down to wash each of His disciple's feet.

These disciples had earlier been quarreling among themselves as to who should be the greatest in Christ's Kingdom.

Examples often bring home the truth more forceful than words.

Here the Saviour of all mankind, the greatest, the King of the Kingdom, takes the office of a servant and washes the feet of men.

In Christ's Kingdom rank, pride money have no place.

The Way to greatness is thru service. You will only be placed over all, by coming under all. In other words thru humility. All are equal in the sight of God, and all our righteousness as but filthy rags.

RADIO AUDIENCE TOLD OF PRESS IMPORTANCE

Negro newspapers are essentially honest, faithful, and biased to the Negro's cause and are a faithful reflection of the Negro mass mind, said Charles Washington, University of Nebraska journalism student, in a special National Negro Newspaper week broadcast Tuesday evening sponsored by the VOICE over KFAB.

"The importance of the Negro press to its community lies in the fact that it is an instrument of public education," explained Washington. He further stated that Negro newspapers keep the Negro public well informed of day-to-day happenings of particular concern to the race; that it discusses the implications and meanings of events in terms of their effect upon the Negro community; and that it serves as a coordinator of any mass action the race might take.

The Negro press has become a necessary agency in every progressive community, he stated, because they are the vehicle by which the mass of the Negro population is reached and bound together. "They are the molders of Negro public opinion," he concluded, and an effective outlet for the publicizing of happenings in the life of the Negro, be it social, civic, or spiritual.

Music for the broadcast was furnished by the Hub of Harmony, local Negro male chorus. They are directed by Frank Hale, university student, and are heard every Sunday morning at 8 o'clock over KFOR.

The chorus sang "Hard Trials and Great Tribulations," "Lord I Cried and I Cried", and "Lift Every Voice and Sing".

TRAFFIC SAFETY

Railroad Crossing! To "miss the train" is a lucky break, when we drive our cars on the track, but why tempt luck. All railroads own their Row, let them have right-of-way.
