NEW CENTRE FOR STUDY AND PLAY IS OPENED
Built and donated by a British firm, a new community centre has been opened at Asamankese, Gold Coast, British west Africa. Run by a local committee under the guidance of a welfare officer, it has already 340 members. Activities include educational classes, lectures, sports and entertainment. For women and girls there are classes in childcare, domestic training and dress-making. The men's favorite pastime is boxing, which attracts the largest audience. The centre has a well-equipped cafeteria, library, and reading room. Dances are held every Saturday. Members are also taking an active part in social work, raising money for local hospitals, homes for destitutes and for a Leper colony, and paying personal visits to the sick.
