'Opportunity' Anniversary Features Editors

New York, N. Y.—Twenty-five years of publishing OPPORTUNITY, official organ of the National Urban League, 1133 Broadway will be marked with a special commemorative issue to appear on newsstands throughout the country on September 29.

Leading features in the Twenty-fifth Anniversary Issue of the Magazine include current editorials by Charles S. Johnson and Elmer A. Carter, first and second Editors, respectively, of the Journal of interracial opinion.

Dr. Johnston, who held his position with the Magazine from 1923 to 1928, is now President of Fisk University, Nashville, Tenn. Mr. Carter served as Editor of OPPORTUNITY from 1928 to 1942. He is a member of the New York State Commission Against Discrimination.

With attractive page designs throughout, OPPORTUNITY presents a brief history of its own birth under the title "How It Began." Not only does this historical feature include fragments from the first editorials written by Dr. Johnson and Eugene Kinckle Jones, General Secretary of the National Urban League, but the cover of Volume I, Number I, is reproduced. A "then and now," human interest description of the children pictured on the cover adds warmth and appeal to the Magazine's start toward its present national and international prestige.

STORY OF THE WEEK

One day, many years ago, a young woman in Lincoln, Nebraska, raced down the street violently waving an umbrella, and fell panting and gasping upon the rear platform of a streetcar.

"Well," she remarked, when finally she regained her breath, "here's one member of our family who can get what she runs for."

At this sally most of the passengers laughed uproariously, for they recognized the speaker as Ruth Bryan, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, who thrice had run unsuccessfully for the presidency of the United States.

Every year of my life I grow more convinced that it is wisest and best to fix our attention on the beautiful and good, and dwell as little as possible on the evil and the false. —Cecil.
