Oklahoma Chorus Refuses To Sing in Freedom Train Because of Jim Crow

OKLAHOMA CITY. (ANP). Charging the Municipal auditorium with "jim crow" practices, a Negro chorus of 100 refused to sing in a program celebrating the arrival of the "Freedom Train" last week.

Segregation of Negroes caused her to withdraw the chorus from the pageant, Mrs. Darlene Perry McLearn, the director, said.

"They wanted us to sing," she said, "but wouldn't let Negroes in the 'melting pot' scene or in the statues of freedom scene. When they decided our people would have to sit by themselves in the balcony, that was the last straw."

A committeewoman who helped in the planning of the affair cried "Communist inspired" in reference to the singers actions.

He was following the "policy of the land" when he segregated the races, Jimmy Burge, auditorium manager, said.

Meditations of a Minister

Rev. William O. Rogers
CLEAN HOUSE IN YOUR LIFE
We have passed the shortest day in the year. The sun has started on his journey northward. We are beginning to look forward to spring—the season of planting, hatching and house-cleaning.

Some of us have begun already to drag out and throw away the junk which we have been saving because some day we might need it. Old newspapers with articles we intended to clip; old magazines we hoped to read sometime; the dress pattern which somehow has become too small; out of date books which we never read, but kept on the shelf because they had belonged to the late Uncle Nehemiah.

Common sense and will power can change a basement from a junk pile, which you can scarcely climb over, into an orderly, clean room, a satisfaction instead of an eye-sore.

Herein lies a parable of our lives. How often we allow our days to become cluttered with unnecessary entanglements until some of the important things are crowded out.

Ellis Parker Butler once sat down and wrote resignations from more than a dozen organizations which he had joined, all of them good, but taking time and strength from the vital affairs of life.

Check up on what you give your time and energy to, then list them in the order of importance. First comes your home, your family. Nothing must interfere with your best efforts in this vital, God-ordained responsibility and privilege. Next should be your church. Some people begin uncluttering their lives by dropping their church obligations. This is like saving money by having no heat or light in your house. The church is the influence which brings warmth and light in all of life. When everything looks discouraging and life drags wearily, an hour spent in praising God in His sanctuary can clear away the clouds and uplift your soul with a breath of fresh, invigorating air.

Next should come whatever you can do for your public school and community neighborliness; then whatever will help you and your family work with more skill and enthusiasm. If there is time and strength left over for social relaxation, well and good. It is needed. But watch that your life does not become a junk pile.

"The good may be the enemy of the best."

Letters to The Voice

... I am sending $2.00 to renew my subscription to "The Voice."

The Voice is like a letter from loved ones and I read every word in it. I like every department. The Sunday School lesson by Rev. Handy, Dark Merit by Mrs. Favors, Mrs. Davis' department concerning children are especially interesting... The Voice is something Lincoln has long needed and every Lincoln Negro should support it and make it a great paper. I think you and Reverend and other co-workers are doing a great work.

God bless you and prosper you in your work,

Mrs. Mary E. Stith,
5704 Missouri,
Detroit 8, Mich.

Just a few lines to let you know we do enjoy the "Voice" very much. You have our best wishes for continued success and a happy and prosperous New Year... Don't know when subscription was due as the paper was sent to us by Mrs. Crews last year.

Yours in Christ
Josephine Gaines,

The Abraham Lincoln Friendship Train will steam out of Lincoln February 12 with dozens of cars of foodstuffs contributed by generous Nebraskans for overseas relief, reports reaching the Lincoln office of the Train indicated today.

Adding impetus to the drive was the announcement by Drew Pearson, Washington columnist and sponsor of the first Friendship Train, that he would contribute $5,000 left over from that Train to the Lincoln project.

Meanwhile, reports of contributions continued to flow in from all over the state.

Tom Anderson, Auburn, said the Nemaha county committee for the Train had raised $1,000, one-fourth of the county's goal. The Women's Society of Christian Service of St Paul's church in Lincoln contributed $100. All money received will be used to buy food for the Train.

The Mary Bethune Literary and Art Club made a contribution at their regular meeting Thursday.

Other clubs, churches and organizations are urged to make a contribution and share in this worthy cause. The above coupon is for your benefit.

4th Anniversary Observed

The Fourth Anniversary of Christ Temple, Church of Christ (Holiness) Sunday, February 1, with the Rev. T. O. McWilliams jr., as pastor, was one of the most successful events among the churches. It was interesting to note that the church was formerly the Third Christian Church founded by the present pastor's grandfather and grandmother, Rev. and Mrs. Sarah McWilliams, in the early 90's.
