'Echoes From Christ Temple'

By Richard McWilliams.

Sunday was a high day at Christ Temple. Elder and Mrs. Charles E. Caldwell, pastor of the Christ Temple Church at Denver, Colorado were visitors at Christ Temple. Rev. Caldwell brought the morning message which was soul-stirring and subject, "Not by Power Nor by Might, But by My Spirit Saith the Lord God of Hosts." Rev. Caldwell is a great gospel preacher.

Sunday night Rev. O. J. Burckhardt of Omaha was with us. The pastor spoke from "Have Ye Received the Holy Ghost Since You Believed?" Our pastor, as usual, brought a re-dedicating message that stirred the hearts of the congregation, to do a greater work for the Lord.

Rev. and Mrs. Caldwell, and Rev. Burckhardt left Lincoln Monday morning enroute to Omaha, where they will leave Tuesday for the National Convention of the Church of Christ (Holiness) at Washington, D. C. August 15-22nd, Bishop Wm. A. Washington, presiding bishop of the Western Diocese and president of the National convention will deliver the opening sermon Sunday, August 15th at 3:00 P. m.

Sunday School Lesson

By Rev. R. E. Handy.

Subject: "Dorcas, A woman of Good Works."

Lesson Text: Acts 9:36-42; Math. 25:31-48.

Golden Text: "In as much as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me." Math. 25:40.

The Lesson.

The book of Acts gives the history of the establishment of the church of the New Testament. We find the Apostle Peter not confining himself to a church in any one city or town, but moving about from place to place, where his help might be needed most. In these journeys he visited a town named Lydda, and another close by named Joppa. In each of these villages there had been established a little church.

Peter's coming to these places, brought about a great revival, and the Holy Spirit working through Peter, preformed two great miracles. The first of which, a man, bedfast eight years with palsy was commanded to arise and take up his bed, in the name of Jesus Christ, and walk. He did so and was healed.

The second miracle was much more remarkable.

Dorcas was a good woman and a member of the church. It seems that she was a woman of some means as she did not have to work for a living, but she went about in her community, nursing the sick, feeding the hungry, and clothing the naked. These things mean more than money, for "The gift without the giver is bare." Dorcas was not noted as a speaker but as a doer of good deeds. (How the church needs Dorcas's today. Women who are not afraid to go to places where their services will really count.)

But at the time of Peter's visit, Dorcas sickened and died. The death of such an outstanding character naturally caused much mourning in the city. Peter hearing the cries of those who loved her, inquired as to the cause. They brought him into the upper room where she was prepared for burial. Peter put them all out and "Kneeling down and prayed" and the turning to the corpse said "Tabitha, Arise." She opened her eyes and sat up, and many more useful years were added to this good woman for work for Jesus.

Surely every believer should have something to do for God and others, that is entirely unselfish.

By Kathrynne Favors.

Some of us are so very filled with race hatred that we cannot see the good points in others of another race. We are so very apt to blame one's actions on one's race. There are many, many, people of the Caucasian race who did everything in their power to help free the slave. Wendell Phillips was a great fighter for the cause of freedom who could not respect a church which compromised on slavery. "He gave up the practice of law because he could not swear to support a constitution legalizing slavery; and he refrained from voting because he could not participate in a pro-slavery government." He would have become a very famous, nationally renowned orator had he been interested in another subject than the Negro. Prudence Crandall, another fighter for the cause, was imprisoned because she allowed Negro girls to attend her academy. Abby Kelly Foster, the Joan of Arc of the anti-slavery movement, drew such lifelike pictures of the black woman in chains that one could not hear her without shedding tears. Stephen S. Foster, her husband, worked untiringly with her to promote the cause of freedom. "Susan B. Anthony, later known to greater fame as an advocate of woman suffrage, stood out as an eloquent abolition speaker with few equals. Andrew T. Foss left his pulpit to devote all of his time to abolition. Sallie Hollie put so much Scripture and prayer into her appeals that few refused her a hearing. Abolition was put on its feet in Pennsylvania, however, by Lucretia Mott." She discouraged the use of clothing and foods produced in the South by enslaved men and would not use anything made by the slaves.
