

Letters to the Editors.

The views expressed in these columns are those of the writer and not necessarily a reflection of the policy of The Voice.—Pub.

Dear Sir:
Enclosed please find my check to cover the cost of my subscription to your very good newspaper. I want you to know that I enjoy reading The Voice and that I feel it is filling a real need in Nebraska.

Very truly yours,
Arthur B. McCraw,
Omaha.

Dear Editors:

In the September 23rd issue of The VOICE, my good friend, Charles Goolsby, in his article on Terry Carpenter expressed wonder that the Democratic state committee endorsed Carpenter in the pre-primary convention.

Anybody who has followed the machinations of the two old parties during the years will realize that such action is nothing at all to be wondered at. The great wonder is that people continue to vote with the old parties despite numerous betrayals.

Mr. Goolsby's censure of Carpenter (and therefore tacit approval of Wherry) is based on Carpenter's undemocratic attitude on Civil Rights. Actually, Wherry's correct attitude on Civil Rights is the only area in which he is no worse than Carpenter, who has the saving grace of being for price controls.

But it is not a question of having to choose between two such obvious evils where there can be no such thing as a lesser one. Wherry is the product of a party dedicated to the preservation of the ranks of the privileged while Carpenter, with all of the rotten things he stands for, is the choice of a party which professes but does not carry out principles. The obvious thing to do is to write in someone (Albin T. Anderson is my choice) and later help to build up the socialist party which has consistently implemented policy, not only in civil rights but in other areas, with action.

Very truly yours,
Joseph Ishikawa,
Lincoln.

Dear Editor:

It gives me great pleasure to say a few words through your wonderful paper about the political contest now in progress. The campaigns have been set up by some of our best men and politicians who are fighting hard to reach the highest executive positions that can be given them by these great United States of America. We are passing through the most crucial period of our lives, hunting for someone to lead us.

There are four men, who are the leaders of the four main political parties, whose applications are before us for consideration. Which one of them is most capable to lead us seems to be the most difficult problem that has ever put before us. We must be very careful in making this selection for he will be the one upon whom we must depend for help to solve the problems which are most important, and of greatest benefit to all the people regardless of race, color or previous condition, without prejudice or discrimination. It might be that some of the voters will think it is a matter of impossibility to select the best-fitted man for the presidency. I will advise them to vote for the one which has made the best record in the past. One of our greatest philosophers has said that there is no better way to judge the future than by the past. I cannot forget what the late Booker T. Washington said in one of his speeches—"You can take the man out of the country, but you cannot take the country out of the man."

Now, as the time is drawing near when we must decide who will be our leader for the next four years, I say we should go to the polls and cast our votes for the man whom we feel has made the best record, the man who has enforced laws, one whom we can trust to introduce the best laws to the state legislatures and U. S. congress and will urge their enforcement, because good laws alone will not secure good administration.

It takes the best citizenship for the welfare of the nation. I really think no matter which one of these men is elected, next year there may be a turn, I hope for the better. But I am afraid that there is war, and if everyone after two wars is as sick and tired of war as I am, you know how most of the country thinks. It is so hard for them to know how they can stand another bigger war.

NIMROD ROSS,
Lincoln.

Congratulations and thanks to "The Voice" for their two years of service to our community. It has served us by promoting better understanding of our social, economic and educational problems. It has been helpful in advocating higher standards of citizenship and social relations. It
