Christ Redeems His True Followers to the Life Eternal.

The resurrection of Jesus is, however, something more than a fact in history. It is a revelation of the life that God gives to men as no mere episode in time, but as bearing with it the seeds of eternal beauty. If Adam is the representative of man as sinful and dying, Christ is the representative of man as he can be when he opens his heart of the Spirit of God and in the fellowship of the Son of God is redeemed to the life eternal. In Christ is the revelation of the eternal purpose of God by which Paradise shall be truly regained and God shall reign in all the fullness of His glory in a world no longer stained by evil or overshadowed by death.

In the volume of this epistle in the Expositor's Bible, Marcus Dods says in commenting on this passage: "As a man of genius and wisdom will by his occupation of a throne enlarge men's ideas of what a king is, and bring many blessings to his subjects, so Christ by living a human life enlarged it to its utmost dimensions, compelling it to express his ideas of life, and winning for those who follow him entrance into a larger and higher condition. Resurrection is here represented, not as an experience opened to men by God's sovereign good will, but as an experience in some way brought by Christ within human reach . . . all who by spiritual affinity are in Christ, enjoy the new life which triumphs over death, and which he won."

If a Man Die, Shall He Live Again? What we call death here is no more death than is the birth of a child death. The child is a greater being than he was in the months before his birth. And the soul, developed here, is the instrument, the real self which becomes all in all in the life of Paradise. Now we exist—there we shall live. Life is a marvelous adventure here in which everything developed and cherished here that is unseen—love and beauty, faith and goodness,

We Saw You There

If you who are described in the following paragraphs and can successfully identify yourself to the editors of The Voice, you will be awarded a coupon redeemable at some well-known place of business.

You are a young lady about 5 feet 4 inches, fair complexion, blonde hair and blue-gray eyes. You were recently seen in public wearing an old-fashioned night gown and using a cane. (You were not in the company of your usual escort when seen.)

You have been quite active in your church and in helping to promote better inter-racial understanding and goodwill. Your name is Well, you tell us and win a coupon for use at The Photo Nook, 1443 O street.

If someone else calls in before you, the award will be divided between you and the first caller. Phone 5-6491 or 5-7508.

Last week Mrs. Eva Smith was identified by Mrs. Virgil Botts and each received a subscription to "THE VOICE."

Here's how you can celebrate Easter

What does Easter mean to you? Sunrise Services . . . new spring clothes, baskets of gaily colored eggs for the children?

It means that Easter Seal time is here again, too. It means that through these seals you'll be helping crippled children in your own community to a better chance in life.

The money you contribute by buying Easter Seals is used for this one important purpose . . . to provide handicapped children with adequate medical care . . . with wheel chairs and braces and a lot of other things they need.

It's used to give them specialized vocational training . . . healthful recreation . . . a chance to go to camp in the summer . . . to swim and romp and play games like other kids.

So why not celebrate this Easter by buying more Easter Seals. Remember,

Every Easter Seal you buy helps a Crippled Child
