Sunday School Lesson

SUNDAY, MAY 29, 1949

Theme: Watching and praying in Gethsemane. Mark 14:32-52; Luke 22:39-54.

Prayer Would Have Made the Disciples Conquerors. I see that Jesus conquered his temptation in the garden by meeting it with prayer. The disciples succumbed to their temptation because they met it without prayer. In a temptation to rebellion against the Father's will, the Lord's resource was prayer. In a temptation to cowardice, that resource ought to have been theirs. Prayer would have made them conquerors, as it made him; and therefore when temptation of any kind, from any quarter, at any time, comes to me, I will listen to my Master's voice, "Why sleepest thou? Rise and pray." No temptation to any Christ-honoring act would ever overpower me if it did not find me powerless through sleep of soul. If my conscience is asleep, if my love is asleep, if my godly fear is asleep, I fall an easy prey. —George H. Knight.

"Couldst Thou Not Watch One Hour?" The three disciples who failed Jesus in the garden were the three who had been more privileged than the rest in being with Him on great occasions. One of them was the disciple who had been loudest in professing willingness to die with him, and one is called in the gospel of John "the disciple whom Jesus loved."

What was it that Jesus wanted of them? "Abide ye here, and watch," he said to them. He wanted to know that faithful friends were near him in his great agony, that they were on the watch for intruders—the sudden arrival of Judas to betray him—but they proved unworthy of his great trust. They went to sleep. Then, too, Jesus needed the help of their company in that dark hour. As Henry Van Dyke well has said, "That is a chilly and frost-bound disposition which prefers to enjoy its happiness or bear its grief alone. The presence of a friend who can feel with us, even though imperfectly, the mere silent presence of a friend, is something which mitigates sorrow in every true and noble heart."

Jesus needed the help of knowing that those who loved him were near and praying for him and for themselves, but instead of praying they fell asleep. They were good men who loved Jesus, and they knew their Master was in great trouble, but they fell asleep.

When the need for their help was over, when the torches of his enemies were gleaming through

Jesse Owens Has Position As Sales Exec. In Chicago

CHICAGO. (ANP). Jesse Owens, one of the all-time great names in the sporting world, may have broken another record when he took over a top executive position here recently with a leading State street clothing company in the heart of the city's loop.

The famed Olympic star is now executive director of sports and sales of the Leo Rose company, a post which carries earnings in the five-figure class, plus special arrangement for bonuses.

In announcing the hiring of the athlete who incurred Hitler's wrath during the 1936 Olympics in Berlin, Leo Rose, president of the company declared.

Jesse drew his greatest international focus, when during the 1936 Olympic games, he took the 100-meter, and 200-meter dashes and the broad jump and ran on the winning 400-meter relay team—all in one day.

The 36-year-old executive is married, and resides in Chicago with his wife, Ruth, and three daughters, Gloria, 10, Marlene, 12, and Beverly, 16.

Mrs. Bethune Announces Retirement as Head of Women's Council NCNW

WASHINGTON. (ANP) — Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, 74, founder of Bethune-Cookman college and the National Council of Negro Women, announced last week that she would retire in November as president of the organization, which she has headed for 14 years.

Mrs. Bethune made her announcement at the third annual Archive day luncheon of the Long Island branch of the council, held in the McGinnis restaurant in Jamaica, Queens. She was the guest of honor at the luncheon.

Declaring this was "the harvest time in the life of Mary McLeod Bethune," the outstanding leader explained that failing health necessitated her retirement from active participation in the many enterprises she has lead for many years. She related she was "now reaping the results of my dreaming and pioneering and 44 years of suffering."

Mrs. Bethune was presented an original autographed copy of a poem extolling her accomplishments, written by Mrs. Susie Price Mason, an 84 year old invalid.

the trees, Jesus calmly said to them, "Sleep on now." It no longer mattered. The need and the opportunity were gone.

"How do the Joneses seem to like their little two-room kitchenette apartment?"

"Oh, they have no room for complaint!"

Mission Society To Make Fund Appeal At Rally May 29

The Malone memorial missionary society at Quinn Chapel church is sponsoring a pew rally on the afternoon of May 29th, according to Rev. J. B. Brooks, pastor. Proceeds will be shared between foreign and conference mission funds, he said. Because of increased costs at Nebraska mission churches as well as those in the Caribbean and South Africa, the society is trying to exceed its quota for previous years.

Rev. W. I. Monroe, pastor of Mount Zion Baptist church will deliver the address and the Mount Zion choir will sing on the occasion.

May 29 and 30 will mark the third quarterly conference at Quinn chapel. Hon. John Adams, presiding elder, will deliver the sermon at the regular morning service and preside at the business meeting Monday night at 8 o'clock.

"Miss Peach Blossom" In keeping with tradition the students of the Fort Valley (Ga.) State college choose each year a "Miss Peach Blossom." This year the honor went to Miss Estella Lucas, a freshman from Macon. Miss Lucas is very popular with her schoolmates. (ANP)
