Alliance News

By Theresa Motley

Mr. Bert Harris, jr., has returned to Tacoma, Wash., after a three day visit with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Snoddy of Sioux Falls, S. D. Bert Harris, jr., made the complete tour by car. Mrs. Grace Harris entertained the members of St. James A. M. E. missionary Society at her home Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Verdy Murphy, president, presiding.

The St. James A. M. E. church sponsored an entertainment for the purpose of raising funds to buy chorus books for the Sunday school chorus.

The Rev. C. Coleman of Scottsbluff, Neb., was the Sunday Methodist preacher for the St. James A. M. E. church. Rev. Mr. Coleman is to continue preaching every other Sunday until lodging arrangements can be made.

Visiting at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Jackson Sunday afternoon were Mrs. Dorothy McGettan and daughter Marie of Scottsbluff, Neb., Mrs. F. Fisher, a soloist, of Council Bluffs, Ia., and the Rev. and Mrs. L. Lee of Des Moines, Ia.

Robert Fulton and Samuel F. B. Morse, two American inventors born within 10 years of 1800, helped finance themselves as young men through successful portrait painting.

Sunday School Lesson

ENEMY OF THE BEST.

The commonplace expression, "The good is the enemy of the best," is a challenging, thought-provoking statement, which is made all the more effective by its terse directness. It evidently means that in the reaching of a certain degree of excellence or accomplishment there is the temptation to "rest on the oars," to take things more easily instead of using present attainments as steppingstones to higher and better stages of progress.

Thus, a certain amount of education may give satisfaction with what has been acquired to the neglect of further efforts to increase its scope, resulting in a limited capacity for progress and efficiency in one's field of action. Or, the accumulation of a certain amount of "this world's goods" may lead to selfishness or to miserliness rather than to the desire to use them for the betterment of others and the fuller experiences which generous, unselfish impulses and motives always bring, as exemplified by Jesus' challenging and compelling statement, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

In the realm of the ethical and spiritual there is the danger of becoming self-satisfied with moral attainment—a "holier than thou" attitude—instead of seeking to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ" to the end that life may be enriched thereby and that the testimony of such life may be used by Him to incite others to long for and seek after those higher and more effective attainments which will be honoring to God and to His Kingdom, as well as a blessing to others.

In Paul's letter to the Philippians, he presents the thought of "being at one's best" in these words: "Not as though I had already attained . . . but forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus." A most worthy ambition to be no more children but to "grow up unto Him in all things, which is the head, even Christ."

Thus, having a continuing and growing desire to make life count for the most, we will continually strive to "make our good better and our better best."

—Fred Scott Shepard.

St. Louis Police Promises Action In Race Relations

ST. LOUIS. (ANP). More action to improve race relations in St. Louis was promised last week by the St. Louis Board of Police Commissioners in reply to a report by George Schermer for the St. Louis Council on Human Relations in connection with the recent trouble at the Fairgrounds park swimming pool July 21.

In this report the police department was accused of being caught "off guard" in the attack by whites upon a group of Negroes who went swimming in the Fairgrounds park pool. The police department's answer reads:

"The Board of Police Commissioners will give careful study and review to the entire report in detail of the St. Louis Council of Human Relations. As soon as the members of the board and the chief of police, have had an opportunity to study them, constructive action will be taken on the recommendations of the report."

Another outgrowth of the Fairgrounds came to light last week when the Board of Education announced that Dr. T. Thomas Fortune Fletcher, head of the L'Ecole Madhane-Alem in Ethiopia, had refused a job paying $4,200 a year to become an assistant professor at Stowe Teachers college because of the flare-up.

Dr. Fletcher commented in his letter of rejection: "I should certainly hate to exchange the complete freedom and high honors I enjoy here in a monarchy for the second class citizenship of democratic (?) St. Louis."
