

It's New At N.U.

By Charlene J. Colbert

The students are all very interested in the latest sociological film out. The name of it is "Pinky." It is now playing at one of the theaters downtown. Several of the students have seen the picture, and the general consensus is an appreciation of the deep sociological factors that are presented in such a dramatic fashion. Anyone who is interested in the conditions which prevail in certain situations regarding the Negro in the South is advised to see the movie.

Everybody is anticipating the social season activities. Coming to the campus soon to open the formal season of the year will be Tony Pastor and his troupe of artists.

The dollar shortage is a problem which affects most individuals concerned with campus life, as well as any other walks of life. The members and guests of the Cosmopolitan club on last Wednesday heard Dr. Maurice C. Latta of the Business Administration College, who lectured on the dollar shortage and devaluation of the pound in Britain.

The Alpha Kappa Alpha sorority held a meeting Sunday at the Student Union. Several of the Omaha members were present.

The student body is very optimistic about the outcome of the game next Saturday which will be played in Lincoln against the Colorado team. Last week the Huskers went in as underdogs, and were victors in a 7-0 upset. The spirit of the students has been excellent, and undoubtedly has played a big part in sending our team to victory.
