USING THE BIBLE
Scripture—Psalm 19:7-11; Acts 8:26-39; 11 Timothy 3:14-17.

PRESENT DAY APPLICATION
By Frederick D. Jordan
Los Angeles, Calif.

It is often a real problem for the sincere Christian to know what is the course of Christian conduct in specific detail in a given situation. We may see the goal clearly as in the matter of World Peace, but now in a specific way can we take another step in that direction, is frequently not easy to determine. The primary source for basic material to help the growing Christian understand the will of God is the Bible. Time and again it has furnished the dynamic for both personal and social reconstruction. Daniel Webster, when asked to name the greatest legal digest, named the Bible, saying, "The Bible is a book of faith, a book of doctrine and a book of religion, of special revelation from God; but it is also a book which teaches man his individual responsibility, his own dignity, and his equality with his fellow man."

The most rewarding or valuable use of the Bible will follow serious organized study of it. Mere intuitive emotional interpretation of it is often misleading and does real injury to the growing Christian life.

Sports Tales

By Tom Carodine

Well Fans, this has been a wonderful week end for all of us who follow the Nebraska University football team. There should be lots of glory for those men playing under that fine coach, Bill Glassford.

The boys from Nebraska played a game of football which none of us can forget. The last time Nebraska University football team defeated a Minnesota team was in 1939 which was 11 years ago. Nebraska is shooting for a top position in the Big Seven Conference and in the Nation. The final score was 32 to 26.

Notre Dame was set back by a powerful Purdue team. This was one of the major upsets of the week end.

Northeast Jolt Links 25 to 0

Well I guess lots of our questions has been answered after our two home town teams went to work on each other Friday. Lincoln Northeast exploded last Friday night to crush Lincoln High. The defeat shattered whatever hopes the Links may have held of winning the State title. The decisive victory boomed Rocket stock in the prep race. The Rockets ran and passed the Links dizzy when the chips was down.

In Omaha South High and Tech High battled to a 7 to 2 decision with the South High Packers coming out on top.

Omaha Benson defeated Abraham Lincoln of Council Bluffs, Iowa 19 to 13.

Omaha Central was defeated by Sioux City Central 32 to 13.

In boxing world champion Sugar Ray Robinson has been promised the next shot at the middleweight Champ Jake LaMotta.

On the weekend I took a trip to Omaha to see the boy I wrote about who received a fractured neck in the Boys Town-Scottsbluff football game. As I walked into the room the outside was all bright. I was greeted with a smile a mile long. James Ray is doing beautifully at the present and hopes to be out in a little while.

This weekend I want to try something for my own experience and maybe one of you will gain also, let's hope so. I am going to have an interview with one or two of our own High school boys who is now doing a fine job of playing football. I would like to get his ideas on High school sports here in Lincoln and then relate them to you. The main question I want to know is, why is this boy playing sports? Can you answer this question. Well I hope to have an answer for you next week.

Close Separate Brooklyn YWCA

BROOKLYN, (ANP). The full integration of the races in the Brooklyn YWCA program became a reality when the Ashland Place residence, which has housed 32 girls since 1942 was sold.

Henceforth, dwellers in this Negro dormitory and all others will be housed in the three downtown YW residences indiscriminately.

Mrs. Francis T. Christy, president of the Brooklyn YW, stated "The sale of the Ashland Place residence enables the YWCA to integrate its program still further. It is our policy to open our buildings to girls of all races and religious faiths."

She pointed to the fact that all members have been participating in the full program in the modern, 11-story, central branch.
