Sport Tales

THE CORNHUSKER CORNER
By Howard Lauener

Sports fans in the Midwest have reason to be proud of the achievements of the teams and individual athletes in the Big Seven.

The conference provided the nation with the top football team in Oklahoma and the second best basketball team in Kansas State.

Bill Glassford took the wraps off of some real power runners in the Cornhuskers' first football scrimmage. Don Vogt of Watertown, S. D., and Ray Novak, Omaha, were driving through the line low and hard.

Tom Carodine, former Boys Town ace, showed lots of speed in sweeping the ends.

The quarterbacking of John Bordogna, Turtle Creek, Pa., was encouraging. On one occasion Bordogna heaved a long accurate pass while on the dead run. And he can run, too.

Of course, Bill Glassford hit the nail on the head when he said there will be a lot of sophomores filling many vital spots next fall. And sophomores make a lot of mistakes.

With Vogt and Bill Wingender of Omaha at halfback, Bordogna at quarter and Novak at full, Glassford could turn out a backfield averaging almost 200 pounds. Such a group offers quite a contrast to the scabback that have been a dominant feature of Husker backfields the last few seasons.

With two baseball games already cancelled and no break so far in the weather, Coach Tony Sharpe has picked a few grey hairs in the last two weeks.

As in the case of the football team, there are many sophomores manning vital spots on the baseball squad. For that reason, then, Sharpe would like to get in as many games as possible before the Huskers start their tough Big Seven schedule.

convention in St. Louis recently.

Those named were Dr. A. B. Henderson of Detroit; Dr. W. A. Younge and Dr. H. J. Erwin, both of St. Louis; Dr. Gerald Spencer of New York City; and Dr. John B. Johnson, professor of medicine, Howard university, Washington, D. C.

Banana Nut Cookies

- 2 1/4 cups cake flour.
- 2 teaspoons baking powder.
- 1/2 teaspoon salt.
- 1/2 cup shortening.
- 1 cup sugar.
- 2 eggs, beaten.
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.
- 1/2 teaspoon lemon extract.
- 1 cup mashed bananas.
- 1/2 cup chopped nut meats.

Sift together dry ingredients. Cream shortening and sugar thoroughly, add eggs, flavorings and beat well. Add banana alternately with dry ingredients. Stir in chopped nutmeats. Drop by teaspoons onto greased cookie sheet and bake at 350 degrees, 15 minutes. Makes about 48 cookies.

Salmon in Rice Nests

Cook rice in boiling, salted water until tender and drain. Beat egg yolk slightly; add white sauce slowly. Add lemon juice, pepper, salmon, and mushrooms. Heat thoroughly.

Shape rice into mounds on plates; make depression in center of each to form nests. Fill with salmon mixture. Garnish with egg slices. Serves 8.

Bowl covers. With aluminum foil you can make air-sealed covers for large or small dishes and odd-shaped containers. Simply press it down snug over the sides — rubber bands are not needed. Each piece may be smoothed out and used over and over.

- 1 cup rice.
- 1 egg yolk.
- 2 cups medium white sauce.
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice.
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper.
- 1 one-pound can salmon, flaked.
- 1/2 cup sauteed mushrooms.
- 2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced.

"Hints"

Cut onions. If you're the onion seasoner that I am, you'll be delighted to know that you can wrap a cut onion in aluminum foil and store it in the refrigerator. The onion will stay fresh and its odor won't get out to flavor everything else in the box. Keep lemon halves and other cut fruits and vegetables from drying out by wrapping in foil.

Cheese and butter stay fresh and sweet longer in an airtight foil wrapping.
