Trenton Case

missability of the confessions and evidence. Only Wilson had refused to sign a confession. The others claimed that police forced them to sign.

Judge Smalley ruled to admit three of the confessions out as evidence on the grounds that the state did not prove it had acquired them legally.

Miss McGuire identified English, Wilson and Forrest as being in the store when Horner was killed. She said one of them beat her. She added that she could not identify the men when she first saw them at the police station because her eyesight had been harmed by the beating.

All six defendants testified that they were nowhere near the scene of the crime at the time of the murder.
