JOSEPH'S PART IN GOD'S PLAN.

Scripture—Genesis 37; 39; 41-47; 50.

Memory Selection—We know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his promise. Romans 8:28.

PRESENT DAY APPLICATION BY FREDERICK D. JORDAN LOS ANGELES, CALIF.

God's purposes for his people are always achieved, however many, or lengthy may be the interruptions. Someone said, "The mills of the gods grind slowly." If we trust in God and obey His commands, good will come for us out of evil. If good were not destined to conquer evil, then would our hope be in vain. The history of the life of Joseph gives ample evidence of this truth. In it evil stands out in all its intensity, but from it comes forth the salvation of a nation. We must endeavor as Christians to draw good out of evil—whether caused by the afflictions of life, the animosity of men, or from ourselves, through our faults. If we trust Him, God can make of the difficult experiences of our lives a means of blessing. You can be a blessing to others if you will yield your life to His service, regardless to the obstacles which may present themselves.

Mexico

The following is a series on Mexico written by Joseph Alexis, Lincoln, Nebraska.

BY JOSEPH ALEXIS
The immensity of the Republic of Mexico is felt when you travel from Nogales on the Arizona border southeast to Mazatlan, over the mountains to Guadala jara and Mexico City, and then continue southeast on the Pan-American Highway to Pueblo, Oavaca, and the border of Guatemala, a distance of some two thousand miles, always following a southeasterly direction.

Concerning the City of Mexico much need not be said, since that is the Mecca of many American tourists, and reports are frequently made concerning this booming metropolis, the population of which is rapidly approaching the three million mark.

Puebla, on the other hand, which lies beyond the capital, is forgotten by many, though it is a charming and colorful city, reflecting the architecture and color contrasts of the Colonial Period. The capital in its haste to put up tall, modern buildings is sacrificing much of the blending color scheme so noticeable in Puebla. While this city, like the others, is expanding, and it does this in the shape of the letter C around a lofty hill, Puebla is endeavoring to retain the attractive touches of former years. Near it lies Cholula, known for its 365 churches.

The writer left Puebla at 6 o'clock in the morning, when the sun began to shed its light on the volcano Popocatepetl and its neighbor Iztaccihuatl. The peaks were covered with snow and began to gleam brilliantly in the increasing sunlight. Popocatepetl

To Omit Color On N.J. Licenses

TRENTON, N. J. — (ANP) — New Jersey continues to set the pace in the nation to eradicate discrimination in all its vicious forms. The distinction as to Negro or white on the licenses of motorists in New Jersey may be abolished come 1953. The state's anti-discrimination law is pressing down on such practice.

The endorsement of the proposal to abolish racial classifications on licenses, according to Martin J. Ferber, state director of Motor Vehicles is a possibility.

reminds one of Mount Olympus, which rises gracefully in northern Greece and has a similarly even slope. The sister mountain, Iztaccihuatl, has the more common irregular rise, characteristic of mountains.

There is already a great amount of traffic on the Pan-American Highway, which crosses one mountain after another, but the curves are not too sharp, nor is the incline too steep.

Now that we have paved highways in many parts of the world, we sometimes forget the conditions existing only a few years ago. How isolated, for instance, many towns and villages of Mexico were before the highways were built! Thousands of busses made in U.S.A. are now connecting the cities and towns, often by hourly service.

Where the highway is as yet unfinished, you soon note how people remain unfamiliar with the territory to the south of them. This means that few know much about Guatemala, a country still awaiting the conclusion of the missing links in the highway.

The ambassador of Ecuador to Mexico spoke at a meeting in Mexico City, honoring the countries whose national holiday comes in July and lauded the U.S.A. for not trying to control sister republics in spite of being the mightiest country on earth. The writer talked on the need of still greater co-operation between the nations in furthering peace.

The people of Oaxaca way down here in the south are greatly interested in our country, and one reason is that the railway and highway systems point northward. Both of these means of communication should be encouraged in the Americas, for we shall never have too much association with others or an excess of world understanding.

To Be Represented
