THE HEBREWS IN SLAVERY

Scripture—Exodus 1:7-14; 2:23-25
Memory Selection — Be strong, fear not; behold your God will come . . . and save you. Isaiah 35:4.

PRESENT DAY APPLICATION
BY FREDERICK D. JORDAN
Los Angeles, California

When life gets hard we are brought face to face with our need of God. The slavery of the Hebrews tested their faith and endurance. Always the difficult situation gets attention. We give thanks to God when we are miraculously delivered from some adverse circumstance. The man, whose car was demolished in an accident, but escaped unhurt; the fireman who escaped from a burning building just before the walls collapsed, is altogether willing to praise God for his deliverance and to resolve to live a better life to show his gratitude. But this acceptance of discipline because of difficulty, this thanksgiving because of deliverance is not what God loves most. He wants his love to constrain us to do our best at all times. He wants our praise for the "dangers seen and unseen" from which he delivers us each day. The test of our discipleship is not shown in how we act in difficult situations, but in its enduring quality under all circumstances.

Carver-Wash. Half Dollar

BOOKER WASHINGTON BIRTHPLACE MEMORIAL . . .
The Booker T. Washington Memorial half dollars, soon to be replaced by the combination Carver-Washington commemorative halves, have been used extensively by leading firms for promoting good-will with customers, it was announced today by S. J. Phillips, President, Booker T. Washington Birthplace Memorial.

So attractive has been the coin in developing favorable customer reaction, the authoritative PROMOTION EXCHANGE, monthly bulletin of the National Retail Dry Goods Association, devoted considerable space to the coin and its promotional possibilities. As a result, department stores from Maine to Florida, have used the name and fame of one of America's leading educators whose likeness adorns the obverse side of the coin, with excellent results.

One of the most unusual tie-ups came when the American Oil Company, through its Lord Baltimore Filling Stations in the Baltimore and Washington markets, used the coins in change. The company dispensed them in specially printed envelopes bearing the familiar AMOCO trade mark with a note of friendly appreciation. Mr. G. M. Glazier, General Manager, Lord Baltimore Filling Stations, was not only pleased with the identifiable results, but expressed his conviction that "the company made many new friends." Reports from several managers indicated that original purchasers of gas and oil were quick to tell their friends.

The new Carver-Washington

coins will not be available until Birthplace, Virginia, and mid-December, Phillips announced, but orders are now being accepted at Booker Washington Foundation, Diamond, Missouri.
