Dist. Court He' To Prever

KANSAS CITY—(AN) U. S. District court last held the right of Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the Negroes seeking use of a municipal swimming pool here.

Judge Albert A. Ridge denied a motion made by David M. Proctor, city counselor, to bar Marshall because he, was at one time a member of the National Lawyers Guild.

At a hearing in his chambers, Judge Ridge pointed out that Marshall was a member of the bar of the Supreme Court of the U.S.A., and one of the bar of several United States Circuit Courts of Appeals.

Arthur E. Spingarn, president of the NAACP, branded the motion by the city counselor as preposterous and dangerous. He said: "The motion by the attorney for the city of Kansas City, Mo., was a preposterous, but dangerous move. Fortunately Judge Albert A. Ridge promptly denied it."

"The National Lawyers Guild is not on the list of subversive organizations compiled by the attorney general of the United States. The papers which were filed attempted to brand Marshall as a Communist, as one who actually believes in the overthrow of the government of the United States by force and violence."

Marshall at the moment is the foremost civil rights lawyer in the country. He won notable cases before the United States Supreme Court, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, and lesser courts throughout the land . . .

DETROIT. (ANP). A Silver Star for heroic action has been awarded to a Detroit soldier in Korea. He is Sgt. Johathan Wiltingham of 8796 Gardoni, who after running out of ammunition and being wounded in a battle near Unmak last June 26, continued fighting using his rifle butt to kill several Reds.

Campanella Voted Valuable Player Of Nat'l League

NEW YORK (ANP)—Catcher Roy Campanella of the Brooklyn Dodgers was voted the Most Valuable Player of the National League during the 1951 season, last week, in a poll by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

On a point basis, Campanella polled 243 votes to win over Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals who garnered 191 points. Campanella snatched 11 first place tallies from among 23 men voting.

Monte Irvin, the New York Giants world series hero, ranked third in the balloting with 166 points. He polled five first place votes, second to Campanella in this respect.

Jackie Robinson, the man who kept the Brooklyn Dodgers in the pennant race on the last day of the season with a dramatic game-winning home run, was sixth with 92 points. He gained one first place vote.

Pitcher Don Newcombe of the Dodgers rated 22nd with 3 points.

On being notified of his new achievement, Campanella said:

"I had forgotten all about that award. After we were beaten in the play off by the New York Giants, I just didn't think about it any more. Surely am happy about it now. I gave my best and I am grateful to the Baseball Writers association for voting me in."

He spoke from Houston, Tex. where his all-stars featuring Irvin, walloped a team of Negro American league stars, 11 to 1.

What can Negro women do to better implement a true democracy in this country, and by what means can they correctly interpret real democracy to peoples of foreign lands? Such questions apparently stimulated the trend of thought which ran through the entire four-day program of the NCNW meeting here last week.

At the close of the 16th annual convention, the 225 delegates representing every section of the country, went on record as condemning segregation in public carriers and in places of public accommodation. It urged all of its members to work unceasingly until such practices are brought to an end in their various places of abode.

It further called upon every branch of the government, national, state and local, to afford to all the citizens of the United States guarantees of equal protection under the law.

The council urged the president of the U. S. to issue an executive order to eliminate every vestige of segregation and discrimination, based upon race, from all institutions, agencies, or administrations in the District of Columbia which are wholly or partially supported by public funds.

The NCNW was high in its commendation of those states which have already enacted fair employment practice legislation with implementation, but reasserted its conviction that the passage of federal FEPC legislation is a matter of utmost urgency.

It further called upon the President, as Commander-in-Chief of the Army to immediately order the abolition of all segregated military units occupying foreign countries.

The women urged the continuance of efforts toward having more Negro students admitted in white colleges and universities until there has been developed throughout the United States a non-segregated system of education.

They called upon the federal government to prohibit immediately racial segregation in any housing developments owned by it, and to assure that there will be no such segregation in any housing provided by federal funds in the defense programs.

Segregation End Causes No Stir

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.—Four University of North Carolina Negro students attracted little attention Saturday as they sat in the student cheering section at the Tennessee-North Carolina football game.

The university's five Negro law students were issued passbooks entitling them to seats in the student section several weeks ago, but at the time the university administration urged them to abide by the state's segregation practices.

Issuance of the student passbooks to the Negro students came after many white student organizations criticized an earlier action of the administration in issuing the Negro students tickets entitling them to seats in a reserved-for-Negroes section of Kenan stadium. The five returned these tickets and asked that they be given regular student passbooks.
