In the last game of the season the Links beat Grand Island 65-13 Lincoln High wrapped up their first unbeaten season since 1941. In beating the Islanders, the Links blasted wide open a jinx which twice in recent years had kept them from being and undefeate year. Paced by speedster Ted King the Links pounded out a total of 510 net yards.

Ted, a junior, is planning to try out for the basketball team this season.

When asked what football game he thought was most interesting he said it was hard to tell but he would say the Northeast game.

Ted plans to enter the University of Nebraska upon graduation in 1953.

Dr. C. H. Wesley Heads Historians

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.—(ANP)—Dr. Charles H. Wesley, president of Central State college, Wilberforce, O., was elected president of the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History at its annual session here at Florida A. and M. College Oct. 26-28. He succeeds Dr. Mary McLeod Bethune, who resigned.

The noted scholars, historians and visitors who attended the three day session were welcomed to the campus by Dr. George W. Gore Jr., host president, who presided at the opening session.

Other Association officers elected were Dr. H. Council Trenholm, president, Alabama State Teachers college, Montgomery, first vice president; F. D. Moon, principal, Douglas High school, Oklahoma City, Okla., second vice president and Louis R. Mehlinger, Washington, D. C., secretary-treasurer.

W. H. Cates, mayor of Tallahassee, delivered the official city welcome to the visitors. Other prominent leaders delivered brief welcome addresses. The response was made by Mehlinger.

A special feature of the gathering was a luncheon program in honor of Mehlinger for his years of service as secretary-treasurer of the Association. He was during the career of the late Dr. Carter G. Woodson, founder of the Association, one of his closest and

Dental Society Votes to Admit Negro Dentists

ST. LOUIS—(ANP)—The St. Louis Dental Society voted last week to admit professionally and ethically qualified Negro dentists as members of the organization.

The 231 members who voted in a closed meeting at the Hotel Statler decided 151 to 80 to invite colored dentists to become fully accredited members of the organization.

Dr. Max Kornfeld, president of the society, supported the measure, but as presiding officer was not allowed to take part in the debate which lasted for two hours.

Dr. J. Floyd Alcorn introduced the formal motion, and it was seconded by Dr. Benno E. Lischer, dean emeritus of Washington university School of Dentistry.

Nine other speakers strongly endorsed the proposal. They included Dr. Otto W. Brandhorst, dean of Washington University School of Dentistry and president-elect of the American Dental Association; Dr. Lee Roy Main, dean of St. Louis University School of Dentistry, and Dr. Edgar H. Keys.

Dr. Kornfeld, who previously had appealed to members of the society to admit Negro dentists, described the action as a clarification of the members' wishes rather than the establishment of a new principle, since the present constitution has no provision to bar Negroes.

most constant supporters.

Dr. Rayford W. Logan, director of the Association and editor, sent greetings to the meeting. He was unable to attend because of his current research work in Paris, France into the Franch colonial system.

Seeks Unknown For Treatment

Nebraska citizens were reminded Thursday by the Nebraska State Medical Association to get a simple diabetes test from their family physicians before the third annual diabetes detection week ends this Saturday.

The detection program is being sponsored by the state medical association through its Diabetes Committee, headed by Dr. Morris Margolin, Omaha. Purpose of the special week is to find many of Nebraska's unknown, untreated diabetic patients. The Nebraska campaign is part of a nation-wide fight being carried on against diabetes during national Diabetes Week, November 11-17.

Dr. Margolin stated that the program is being conducted with the support of Nebraska doctors and with excellent cooperation from druggists throughout the state.

"With the end of national Diabetes Week approaching," the committee chairman added, "we want to recommend to all citizens of Nebraska that they get a diabetes check at once if they have not already done so. This is most important if the unknown diabetics are to be given immediate help."

To help in the recognition of diabetes, the following symptoms were pointed out:

- Itching
- Increase in thirst
- Frequent urination
- Changing vision
- Loss of weight in spite of good appetite
- Pains in the arms and legs

Dr. Margolin said that some types of persons are more apt to have diabetes than others. They are:

- Relatives of diabetics
- Fleshy persons
- Those over 40
- Persons feeling "below par"
- Patients recovering from acute illness

In spite of these recognition points, he warned, a person may have diabetes without showing any of the above symptoms. "Diabetes does not respect race, age or sex. It is apt to strike any family."

Sorority in Annual Meet

TUSKEGEE INSTITUTE, Ala.—(ANP)—More than 125 delegates from five of the six states in which chapters are located gathered at historic Tuskegee institute recently for the Sixth Annual Boule of the national sorority of Chi Eta Phi.

This sorority composed of registered nurses was organized several years ago to bring together the members of the nursing profession in a program of "Service for Humanity and the Health of the Nation."

Epsilon Chapter at Tuskegee, Ala., under the leadership of Basilius Norine L. Moore, served as hostess chapter. The supreme basileus of the sorority, Mrs. Anita K. Bass, a nursing supervisor at the Veterans hospital, is a member of the Tuskegee chapter.

The public meeting, held in the auditorium of Trade A. building, featured "Nursing Aspects of Atomic Warfare," held in cooperation with the civil defense department of the state of Alabama. Col. J. M. Garrett, Jr., state director of civil defense, and Dr. Eric Rodgers, professor of physics, University of Alabama, appeared on the program.

New Party Head Courts Dixiecrats

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Frank E. McKinney, newly installed chairman of the Democratic National Committee, last Thursday held out an olive branch to southern Democrats who are badly split from the northern and western wing of the Democratic party over the renomination of President Truman in 1952.

At a press conference the new Democratic chairman said he would get in touch with southern as well as northern Democrats in Congress to strengthen party liaison.

Asked whether that included Senators Harry F. Byrd of Virginia and James O. Eastland of Mississippi bitter critics of the administration, McKinney replied that "They are Democrats in my book."

"I'm chairman of the Democratic party," said McKinney. "Mr. Byrnes is a Democrat. I'm going to do everything in my power to coordinate the party as a whole."

McKinney said he would spend the next two months studying "hot" issues as well as reorganizing the committee staff to "disseminate information—tell our story to the country." He said he did not yet know whether the South was a "hot issue."

A reporter asked if he accepted "the full Fair Deal program, including civil rights."

"I'm for whatever the party says, yes" replied McKinney. "I'm going to support party politics and the platform of the Democratic party. If I didn't believe that, I wouldn't be here."

The nurses were welcomed to the campus of Tuskegee Institute by Dr. L. A. Derbigny, vice-president of Tuskegee.

The nurses voted to continue their two-point program of (1) a National Scholarship Fund to aid nurses to obtain a degree in Nursing Education, and (2) cooperation with the Association of Future Nurses of America in recruiting young women for nurse training. The program was expanded to include support of health education in Africa and a fund to aid victims of rheumatic fever.

The 1952 meeting will be held in Philadelphia, Pa., in October.

CHMPCAIN, ILL.—(ANP)—A slim, attractive, 20 year old Negro coed, Miss Clarice Davis, reigned as "Homecoming Queen" here Saturday as the University of Illinois played the University of Iowa in a "Big Nine" football game.

The election of Miss Davis of Chicago as "Queen" of homecoming festivities marked the first time in history that a colored girl has held this coveted honor in any Western Conference school.

Miss Davis was elected by popular vote of the students over eight other coeds. More than 5,000 students and faculty members casting votes gave her a substantial margin over other finalists. She was nominated by her sorority, Alpha Kappa Alpha.

"It was something I had dreamed about, but never thought would come true," she said. She added that her father and mother were as thrilled as she was over her election.

A senior in the School of Liberal Arts and Science, Miss Davis has been a soprano in university choice during her first two years of university work, and she also took part in theatrical productions.

"But I prefer to make a career of social studies rather than the theater," she said. "I think I can do something for young people in social work."

She will be graduated this semester with a B-minus average for her university courses. She was graduated from Corpus Christi Parochial school in Chicago, and Immaculate Conception college, Dubuque, Ia.

Miss Davis is the only child of Clarence Davis, a Chicago Transit Authority conductor, and Mrs. Clotilde Davis, a dress shop manager.

Samuel K. Rogers Listed in Who's Who in Colleges

Samuel K. Rogers, son of Mrs. C. D. Rogers of Tampa, Fla., was one of nine Wesleyan Seniors that will be listed in the 1952 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges," Chancellor Carl C. Bracey has announced.
