Race Relations Meet Held At Lincoln Urban League

C. Rowan Earns Hillman Award

NEW YORK—(ANP)—Carl T. Rowan, reporter for the Minneapolis Tribune, a daily newspaper, earned $500 from the Sidney Hillman Foundation for a series of newspaper articles dealing with race relations in the South.

Rowan toured the South for his newspaper and wrote a series of articles entitled "How Far From Slavery?" dealing with southern race relations. He revisited his native southland, to report on Negro life and the changes which have taken place since his boyhood.

Although first appearing in the Minneapolis Tribune, the articles were later elaborated and made into a full-length book which now is on the book stands. Its title is "South of Freedom."

The Sidney Hillman Foundation was created in 1947 in order to keep alive the late labor leader's ideas of enlightened labor-management relations, race relations, world peace and related interests.

Other awards were made last week in recognition of outstanding magazine reporting and for the outstanding work of non-fiction of 1951. Presentation ceremonies were made in the Music Room of the Biltmore hotel here.

Judges who made the awards were:

Lewis Bennett, book editor, New York Herald Tribune, William L. Shirer, novelist and former foreign correspondent and radio commentator, and Bruce Bliven, chairman of the editorial board, The New Republic.

Rowan has been a member of the Minneapolis Tribune news staff since November, 1948. He is a general assignment reporter. A graduate of Oberlin college, Oberline, Ohio, Rowan received a master of arts degree in journalism at the University of Minnesota in 1948. Before joining the Tribune staff, Rowan was a reporter for the Minneapolis Spokesman, the St. Paul Recorder and the Baltimore, Md., Afro-American.

A veteran of World War II, he served as communications officer on two ships with the Atlantic fleet and now is a lieutenant (jg) in the naval reserve.

NCC Graduates Receive Honors

DURHAM, N.C. (ANP) — Two graduates of North Carolina college, the Misses Borlio Ray and Carolyn Smith, both natives of New Bern, N.C., recently received academic honors.

Miss Ray, a 1952 graduate of NCC and a dramatics major, has received a fellowship in the department of drama at Western Reserve university, Cleveland, Ohio. She will concentrate her work at the university's famed Karamu House which specializes in music, drama, art, and the dance.

At NCC, Miss Ray was an outstanding player with the Thespians, NCC dramatic group. An honor graduate, she is a member of Alpha Kappa Mu, dramatics honorary, and Delta Sigma Theta sorority.

Miss Smith received her master's degree from Boston university on last Aug. 16 having maintained a straight "A" average during her matriculation. In addition, she worked as a graduate assistant and was initiated into Pi Lambda Theta, national honorary society. She was graduated from NCC in June, 1951. She is the granddaughter of the late Dr. James S. Shepard, founder and first president of NCC.

Wilberforce U. Alumni Plan to Donate $6,000 In Books to Library

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (ANP)—The alumni of Wilberforce have on foot a plan to contribute $6,000 worth of books to the library of the university, it was announced last week by John F. Morning, president of the National Alumni Association.

Wilberforce is one of the oldest Negro institutions of higher learning in the United States. To give the university greater support, the Alumni Association was recently reorganized and geared to a more extensive program.

Dr. Charles L. Hill, president of Wilberforce University, said last week the gift would be of great help to the university in furnish-

Nelson C. Jackson of New York, director of community services for National Urban League, arrived in Lincoln Monday for conferences on race relationships, including plans for housing of minority groups in connection with reactivation of Lincoln's Air Base.

W. H. Burton of Lincoln, chairman of the Lincoln Urban League's Housing Committee, joined Jackson during an interview with Max Kier, chairman of the City Council's Air Base Coordinating committee. Jack Weeks, another committee member, and Mrs. Sarah Walker, executive secretary of the Urban League, were present.

The meeting with Kier, Urban League representatives emphasized, is to be but one that will be held early next week with groups in Lincoln to acquaint Jackson with the matters of race relations in Lincoln.

Jackson, a former professor at the University of Atlanta, was quoted in comment that "Omaha has moved much faster than many other communities in the matter of race relations."

Following a meeting of his Urban League Housing Committee Friday, Burton issued a statement terming the situation "tragic, because of the disregard on the part of the City Council and mayor, because of their attitude on housing, and because of the influx, shortly, of hundreds of Negroes who will be coming into the city, which will increase the problem greatly."

"Something must be done soon," Burton told the press in reporting his committee's meeting, "or it will be hard to handle the influx. It is hard to predict what the results will be."

Mrs. Walker said she called the committee together because she was unable to find homes for two Negro families who are among 32 families who will have to move from Huskerville because of Air Base reactivation.

Soloist Returns

TULSA, Okla. (ANP) — Mrs. Cleo Ross Meeker, dramatic soprano returned last week from New York City where she attended Columbia University Summer session.

Mrs. Meeker was selected to sing in the 150 voiced choir at the famed Riverside Church in Rockefeller Center.

The choir was interracial and inter-denominational. Many of the choir members were vocal students and artists attending school in the New York City area.

Mrs. Meeker, a teacher at Dunbar Elementary school is soloist of the Tulsa Civic Male chorus and director of the senior choir at Vernon AME church.

Last spring she appeared on the local television station, KOTU.

A GREAT AFRICAN SEAPORT—A city that has earned the title "Most Ancient and Loyal" is that of Freetown, Sierra Leone in Africa. The top picture displays the port facilities of this metropolis. The port, itself, is not deep enough to take the largest ocean liners, but a deep water quay now is being built.

The bottom picture illustrates Freetown's ancient architecture which makes it one of Africa's most picturesque areas. Universal tin roofs protect the homes from the heavy deluges in the rainy season. Tile roofs just do not stay dry.

These roofs usually do not have a dingy appearance because the sun flakes the paints off the roofs. Freetown has its slums, too, but generally it is considered a highly cultured center which is beginning to influence and bring progress to the interior of Sierra Leone.—(ANP)
