Notes-of-Interest

The Mary Bethune Literary and Art club met Sunday afternoon, October 26th, at the home of Mrs. Bessie Ambers. Plans for the annual tea were completed and club activities in the near future were discussed. The club was closed and the entire membership attended the La Foll'ets Tea, which was held at Carver Home. After touring the home each member schools are concentrated in the Richmond area.

The Richmond Professional Institute here, a division of the College of William and Mary, has seven Negro college graduates enrolled in its School of Social Work this year, the third year that such students have been accepted, according to Dr. Harry H. Hibbs, dean of the school. In addition, Dr. Hibbs added, there are about 35 adult colored students enrolled in specialized night courses, offered at the institute which would not otherwise be available to colored people.
